We have just passed Tipton, 6997 feet above sea-level-but we have been hiking down grade all the afternoon. Before that down hill start the train was running so slowly that we would frequently get off the rear coach, run along beside the track to get warm, then jump on the smoker and walk back to our car. It was very beneficial to the blood-but tough on the shoes.

Will Take Up Its Home on the Lower Beninsula.

It is now stated on absolutely re liable authority that Swift & Co., one of the "big four" of the manimous vote the following Chicago meat packing industry, are to build extensive abattoirs on the lower peninsula, with a frontage on the Columbia river. This firm has now some Soo acres of land, which Force and Henry Smith farms were turned over to them a few weeks ago. The O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific roads both pass through the site of the proposed stock yard's. This will give both rail and water transportation to the plant. It is said the company hold options on several farms adjoining their tract, and will purchase more ground. When built the stock yards and packing house will be the largest on the Pacific coast, as the firm intends to supply not only the trade of the northwest, but that of the Orient supplies.

Nothing has been learned as to the date when the company intends beginning preliminary work.

The fire fighting apparatus on hand consists of two hose carts, 2500 feet of hose and one hook and ladder truck, with a complete equipment of ladders, axes, pails, etc. The apparatus is all new and in first class order.

It is proposed to form companies and keep the carts and hose in readiness for emergency in case of fire. Everybody is interested, and there will undoubtily be a large attendance. Besides perfecting the organization other matters in regard to fire protection will be discussed. At present there is no organization
