A Chance For Good Investment

Lying seventeen miles north of Cape Horn, in Skamania county, Washington, are to be found several groups of mining properties which are bound in the near future to be most valuable. There has been a great deal of work done on many of these prospects, and the ore so far taken out is of good values and runs well on assays.

Probably the best group of properties to be found there is that of The Larch Mountain Mining Company, a company incorporated with a capital of $1,500,000—and a company that has done a deal of work on its claims; a combination that owns fourteen claims in the immediate vicinity.

One of the principal owners of this property is M. F. Loy, a resident of St. Johns, and that he feels extremely confident of the ultimate success of these properties is proven by the amount of money he has already invested. And there is no doubt that everything now points to the high worth of the claims owned by The Larch Mountain Mining Company—for the assays as made by the Tacoma Smelting Company return over $43 in gold, silver, lead and copper—from samples that were not picked.

There have been run already on these properties four tunnels—one of them 157 feet in length—and there are now samples at the office of THE REVIEW taken from this longest tunnel. These are not what might be termed "picked samples" but were taken from the tunnel by those who were not adepts at ore-sorting. These samples will bear the closest investigation—and all should call and see them. They are from a six-foot vein which has already been traced through a half-dozen claims, and which increases in grade as the tunnel is extended. There is a well-founded belief that the ore will soon reach the $75 mark; but even if it does not there is big money in the present grade as soon as a smelter shall be erected within a reasonable distance of the mines.

Ore can be mined and delivered at a smelter in St. Johns at a cost not to exceed $7.50 per ton, and with any reasonable smelting charge it is seen that $43 ore will pay a handsome dividend on all stock. At present there is no convenient smelter, and the ore is being stacked for future handling. The ore is of the sort that will easily flux—as there is a good percentage of lead; and the probability of the erection of a smelter nearby is very good at this time.

Just at present the company is handicapped by lack of funds, and a small amount of development stock is on the market. The money received for this stock will be used wholly for this work—and but a few dollars' worth will be placed. This home institution should be endorsed by our people; not wholly because it is a home institution but because it will without question prove a money-maker for those who get in on the ground floor. It is not a wild speculation—because the ore is there to be seen by any who choose to visit the mine. It is not far away; two miles from the Washougal river, on Silver Creek, north of Cape Horn. Mr. Loy will be pleased to have all prospective investors visit the place and see what they are buying; because he feels positive that there is a bonanza there.

THE REVIEW takes pleasure in giving its endorsement to the ad which may be found elsewhere in this issue; for it fully believes the outlook is of a high grade, and that there is really no chance to lose out on what may be invested. Consult the ad in this issue, and then talk with Mr. Loy about what he has in store for the person who will invest a few dollars.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

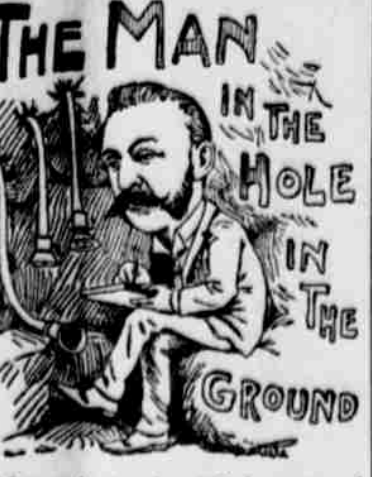

In another column may be found the photo of Fred W. Mulkey, who is candidate for the short term in the United States senate, and who stands at this time an excellent man for the position. Especial attention is called to the announcement, as therein may be found some pertinent facts regarding his candidacy.

Potter & Gould

AT THE SHIPYARDS

The Dalles City has been raised from near Vancouver, after ten days at the bottom of the river, and is now at the yard of the local ship-building company. The boat was badly sprung.

A FEW THORNS

"I was just going to" is a second cousin to "I forgot it!"

I wonder which one of Hoch's wives will affiliate with him in heaven?

To "prevent hair falling by handfulls" I would advise securing a divorce.

If an Oregon indian should name his daughter "Ella" wouldn't it be all right to call her "Umbrella"?

"A Merchant of Venice" was in Albany last week. I'll bet six bits that the people there tried to sell him something.

Pat Crowe did not, after all, kidnap Ed Cadaly. The jury said so—hence it must be true. And now Crowe is Crowing.

When a man tells me that "money talks" I distinctly remember that all mine ever said to me was "You'll never see me again!"

The reason that the rain in this portion of the state is so wet is said to be that the country lies so near the ocean that the dampness seeps through.

A Woodburn man says that if a man doesn't support Walter Toosez he is a cabbage head. I plead guilty. Who is Toosez? And what is he running for?

Rev. J. R. Savage says "I would enter hell to find my friend." And here I have been laboring under the delusion that Savage had located all his friends in the other place!

In Kentucky two men last week quarrelled over a load of corn—and one killed the other. No, it wasn't corn whiskey—just the corn before it was liquified. No moral to this.

At Pendleton a doctor wants to be a "joint" senator and is asking votes. He may be all right on joints at Pendleton—but the Lord pity him if he gets after the joints at Salem!

I don't wish to be personal in this matter—but I'd advise the weather man to keep closely hidden about this time of year. The fool-killer might happen across him if he were muchly out-of-doors.

St. Johns doesn't seem to be in it. Down in Tennessee where they also have surprise parties and candy pulls three were killed and two fatally injured Saturday night. That's the way to do business!

Rev. Martin, of Portland, says getting into a church is like learning to ride a bicycle. Yes, and there's many a puncture received on the trial—while the bills for repairs come to something awful!

I wonder if those two religious men of Portland, Wilson and True, when they hired a minor to enter places of ill-repute to obtain "evidence" thought of that ancient prayer—"Lead us not into temptation?"

She was a dear young thing writing to her sweetheart and when she turned the gas down declared she was writing a secret. Some relation, possibly, of the man who wrote a large hand because his wife was deaf!

Mrs. C. T. Verkes seems to have fine luck in disposing of her husbands. It costs her only $20,000 to rid herself of Mizner—and she feels that the money was not wasted. She is now open to other proposals—always on the installment plan, of course.

The "dear women" who wrote the governor of Washington to let "Kid" White, the murderer, off easily, received a nice note admitting the receipt of their letters—but the pardon didn't follow as was expected. Probably they desired him pardoned because he was a young murderer, and hadn't gotten used to the business.

AN ODD THING

J. A. Renshaw lives in St. Johns—or rather, in Northern Hill. J. A. Renshaw also lives in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. The latter is uncle of the former. This by way of prelude.

The other day the St. Johns Renshaw received word from a company in New York city, and the letter enclosed a bill of lading, stating that a box of goods had been shipped to him. No box came, however, and the bill of lading when closely examined showed that the goods were shipped to Pittsburg.

The address of the affair is that the letter should have been missent here, and that it was received by a J. A. Renshaw, who was nephew of the real buyer. Such a thing could not happen again in a century—and come out the same way.

AFFLICTED WITH RHEUMATISM

"I was and am yet afflicted with rheumatism," says J. C. Bayne, editor of the Herald, Addington, Indian Territory, "but thanks to Chamberlain's Pain Balm an able one more to attend to business. It is the best of liniments." If troubled with rheumatism give Pain Balm a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. One application relieves the pain. For sale by Jackson's Pharmacy.

ONE OPINION

The St. Johns city council said they would; then they said they wouldn't; then when they found they had fixed themselves up in an elegant damage suit, they did issue a saloon license to the St. Johns Hotel Company. It would seem that they hardly know what they do want in that little burg below Portland.—Adams Advance.

A FAVORITE REMEDY FOR BABIES

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It very quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures cough but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by Jackson's Pharmacy.

SCHOOL CENSUS

J. E. Tanch has been taking a school census. In the district north of the railroad, the most sparsely settled, he found an increase of children of school age of nearly fifty. It is figured that all of the four divisions will show about the same increase.
