HELD LONG MEETING.

City Council Keeps Up Interest Till A Very Late Hour And Makes It Business Meeting.

Mayor King presided at the adjourned meeting of the council Tuesday evening—while Councilman Thompson was absent the entire evening—and Councilman Shields came in very late.

Bids were received from Bechel Brothers and from I. N. Tomlinson for the improvement of Crawford, Salem and Pittsburg streets. The bids of the latter were not totalized, so that hours would be required before one could tell how the bids stood. The bids of Bechel Brothers were estimated: Crawford—$565.30; Salem—$791.90; Pittsburg—$552.15. The documents were referred to the committee, who will report next Monday evening at the regular meeting.

But one bid was received for the construction of the Philadelphia street sewer. It was received from Bechel Brothers, and the estimated amount was given as $4275.11. The bid was turned over to the proper committee for further consideration. The proper certified checks accompanied all the bids.

Ordinance changing the name of the Monteth street which lies in the subdivision of St. Johns Heights to Jersey street, passed first, second and third readings, and was placed upon its final passage.

An ordinance prohibiting minors frequenting billiard halls and bowling alleys passed its first, second and third readings, and was put upon its final passage. There was some discussion over this ordinance—Mr. Peterson believed that it would harm the business of the present alley to considerable extent, because a restaurant was run in the same room as the tables and alleys; and he voted against the measure as it was presented.

A resolution to improve, grade and sidewalk that street formerly Monteth (now Jersey street) was adopted—as property owners are anxious to have the work completed at an early date.

A. R. Richardson was again before the council in the matter of a gas franchise. He pledged himself to commence work on the plant within ninety days from the passage of the franchise, to furnish gas at a price not to exceed $1.25 per 1000 feet, and to turn over to the city two per cent of the gross income of the plant. There was no time agreed upon when the plant should be in running order, although Mr. Richardson promised to use all due haste in completing the same. The entire matter was turned over to the light and water committee—Lindquist, Shields and Peterson—for investigation.

A resolution was enthusiastically passed advocating an upper deck on the proposed bridge over the Willamette. The council declared that such a passageway was an actual necessity—and believed that the Commissioners of the Port of Portland should demand it.

Upon motion the engineer's new estimates on Thompson, Lively and Cathin were adopted, and the clerk ordered to re-advertise for bids for the same.

A petition signed by a large number of citizens asked for an arched light at the intersection of Polk and South Jersey street. It was referred to the water and light committee.

Several communications from Engineer W. W. Goodrich were read and considered.

N. H. Suttler appeared before the council as a committee from the fire department. There were several subjects discussed; the inadequate amount of water at the disposal of the firemen during a fire, a lack of pressure, danger from electric wires, the locking of the hose and fire house, and the need for an alarm system of some sort.

K. C. Couch had been appointed a committee by the city to investigate the cost of a fire bell. It was believed that one might as well be procured at the present time as to run risks of serious fires by postponing the purchase till the new city hall is completed.

Mr. Suttler's remarks drew forth others from Manager Edickson of the water company. He explained that even with the new tanks there would never be a heavy pressure on the hill—nor did he see any way except to procure a fire engine. He stated that with the tanks full and the two pumps running the water supply would handle any fire in the city. The new towers would be 85 feet high, and would give a ninety-pound pressure under the hill—but the pressure would be far less in the business part of the city.

A committee was appointed to procure a fire alarm bell of suitable sort to awaken and alarm everyone. One can be purchased for about $400, and when the new city hall is finished it will be placed in the tower of that building.

With the money already raised there will be bought coats, hats, and many necessary articles needed by the firemen. It was decided that the firm that supplied the present fire apparatus should be called upon to make good the broken ladder which caused injury Sunday night—as the same was very defective.

Adjourned to Monday evening, March 19.
