Ten dollars down and ten cents a day are the terms on which University Park lots are sold. University Park lots are selling right along while others stand still, because University Park has the largest payroll on the peninsula, because it has Bull Run water, a university which brings a cultured class, a liquor restriction which excludes saloons, Portland public schools, and first and foremost it believes that a steady growth and good morals pay best in the long run. Francis I. McKenna is the selling agent for University Park lots.

Every citizen of a town who erects a building, paints a house, builds or repairs a sidewalk, cleans up and removes or burns trash or filth from the streets or alleys, removes obnoxious weeds, or in any way does something to beautify or benefit, no matter if he does it from selfish motives, is a benefactor to his town.

The local base ball club journeyed to Montavilla Sunday and was defeated by the nine of that place by a score of 14 to 8. The locals ascribe their defeat to the thick clouds of smoke that hung over the ball grounds during the game. They claim it was absolutely impossible to see the ball when it was knocked over 20 feet in the air, and it was necessary in several instances to use a long pole to dig a hole in the smoke in order to release the ball. The Montavilla lads knew just where to dig when the sphere was lost, and therefore won the game.

There is a good prospect of a knitting mill being located in St. Johns provided the proper encouragement is given. A party is here ready to invest his money in the business. The steamer Geo. W. Elder will probably leave the dry dock next Tuesday. That is the intention of the Steel Ship Building Co. of St. Johns, who have charge of the repairs. It was the aim of those interested to have the steamer in readiness to leave the dock next Sunday, in order that all might see her floated, but this was found to be impossible. The repairs made by the local firm leave the boat in the best condition she has been for years.

O. M. Stimson, chief engineer for Swift & Co., recently arrived in Portland, and has taken personal charge of the work of that firm on the peninsula. During the past week 2,335,000 yards of excavating has been let at prices varying from seven to eleven cents per yard. ## A FINE HOME.

Thos. Cochran and Family Move Into Their New House.

"When I was going to build a friend of mine told me Fred J. Koerner would build me a home that would be first class in every way, and he has certainly done so. Just moved into it," said Thos. Cochran last Monday.
The house in question is at 516 Hayes street, and is one of the handsomest and most substantially built in St. Johns. From the concrete floor of a full basement to the attic everything is finished in a manner that would delight the eye of a skilled mechanic. The convenient arrangement of the first floor and the natural finishings are something out of the ordinary. The reception hall, parlor, sitting and dining rooms are spacious and profusely lighted, while the hardwood floors give them a finish that is a source of delight to its occupants. The furnishings on the second floor are in keeping with those of the first. Hot and cold water are within convenient reach on any floor. Electric lights and call bells and furnace heat are in every room. The basement is finished in concrete, and a commodious laundry with stationary tubs supplied with hot and cold water adds to the conveniences. A porch all around the house flanked by concrete walks give Mr. and Mrs. Cochran one of the most attractive homes in St. Johns.

Newspaper Advertising.

Newspaper advertising has a two-fold benefit. It helps the man who thus gives publicity to the advantages he offers the buyers, and it creates a favorable impression of a city by showing to all readers of paper the live, wideawake character of its business men. Benjamin Hampton, a very observing New York business man, has the following interesting observations about newspapers and the practical effects they produce in a community:
"Can you imagine for a minute what life would be without the newspaper? It goes into the home, the office, the factory, the shop, the cars, on trains—wherever you find human beings, there you will find newspapers.
"More than that, you will find the newspaper is read carefully, not only for the news of people and events that it gives, but for the interesting news of stores.
"I have made many interesting experiments to satisfy myself as to just how a newspaper is read. I know that other people have done this and I am pretty sure that the experience of every man who makes any investigations along this line will prove that the first thing that is read in a paper published in a small city is the news of a personal and purely local character. I am speaking now of the women readers. They are the ones who buy the goods and they are the ones who we are particularly interested in.
"After the personal information and local news is read, a woman may glance through to see what the big news events are about—that is just about as far as her interest goes. Then she reads the ads—if, indeed, she hasn't read them before. The ads are to her just as interesting as any other part of the newspaper, and I suspect many times they are more interesting than most of the columns of the average daily newspaper.
"The store news as given in the advertising columns is not only of interest to the thrifty, intelligent housewife, but it is also an important part of her daily business. She wants to keep posted on the newest things; also, she must keep informed as to the best places to buy the articles of merchandise that she needs in conducting her household. All this information she gets from the advertising columns of the newspaper.
"No one need ever question the ability of the advertisement to get itself read. That's the easiest thing in the world. Every advertisement of fair size is sure to attract some attention.
"I find a weekly newspaper is the best medium for the money invested for the reason that it goes into many homes where a daily can not be afforded, and a weekly as a rule contains the little goossips and happenings that are dear to the heart of the average woman.
"Therefore, if you intend going into business, be sure and place an ad in the home paper. Keep your name and business before the public. Never for a minute allow the community to forget you are in business and want their trade."
Laurelwood Lodge of Rebekahs entertained an appreciative audience at Old Fellow's hall last evening. The program as published in last week's Review was rendered and was favorably received.

Miss Lillian Cochran of Superior, Wis., Miss Eva Nutting of Duluth, Minn., and Miss Nellie Cochran of Ashland, Wis., were the guests of Major Nutting at the New St. Johns Hotel at a dinner party last Sunday.
There will be a meeting of the G. A. R. and all loyal ladies who have subscribed to the Woman's Relief Corps at I. O. O. F. hall Wednesday, Sept. 5, at 2:30 p. m., for the purpose of arranging a date for the election of officers for the W. R. C. Refreshments will be served free.
