Ten dollars down and ten cents a day are the terms on which University Park lots are sold. University Park lots are selling right along while others stand still, because University Park has the largest payroll on the peninsula, because it has Bull Run water, a university which brings a cultured class, a liquor restriction which excludes saloons, Portland public schools, and first and foremost it believes that a steady growth and good morals pay best in the long run. Francis I. McKenna is the selling agent for University Park lots.

Everybody is unanimous on the proposition of providing another school house for St. Johns. The only comment we have heard is that roomy play grounds should be provided. It is argued that now is the time to secure the desired amount while it can be obtained for a reasonable price. This matter, no doubt will be carefully considered by the board and ample provision made for the juveniles.

A woman who is married and familiar with man in all his variable phases, gives this advice to the hesitating: "Get married, young man, and be quick about it. Don't wait for the millennium to produce an angel for you. You'd look well beside an angel, wouldn't you, you brute!"

"Dad" Lashbaugh: "Say, do you know what Ogden's dog 'Bill' puts me in mind of? Of course you don't. Well, I'll tell you. He puts me in mind of a redheaded girl I knowed in Arkansas. She paced a little, always went barefoot and could lick anything in the hull country!"

Helix Herald: "The man who can keep his religion to himself hasn't any to keep," says a pulpiteer. And we are pleased to add that the man who is everlastingly forcing his religious views on some one else is a blooming nuisance and should be kept in close confinement until Gabriel gets busy with that trumpet.

The Aurora Borealis predicts the following dire calamity: "If cold weather doesn't come pretty soon we don't know where a certain Aurora girl will stop. She began shortening her sleeves last February, and they have crept up until now they reach her arm pits. There is some alarm that, having no sleeves left to shorten, she may begin to shorten her skirts, and if we have a late fall heaven knows what the result will be."

The passengers on the front end of the car that left St. Johns about 8 o'clock Saturday night had an experience that they will not soon forget. As the car reached the center of the steel bridge flames several feet in length accompanied by a suffocating gas shot out of the controller. The vestibule and motor-man's platform were crowded to the limit and the exodus that followed the sudden burst of flame amounted to a panic. The coolness of the motorman prevented any casualties. Owing to the crowded condition of the car only the passengers on the front end were aware of the accident.

The Johns Grocery Co. under the efficient management of H. E. Wagner, has been adding line after line to their stock of goods until today it is a full fledged department store. The room six months ago seemed ample, but it was soon discovered that more space was a necessity. The basement was then put in shape and a balcony erected above the store proper. Now these additions have been found to be inadequate and in order to relieve the congestion the adjoining basement under Ward & McClave's meat market has been secured. Almost anything to be found in a first class department store can be found here, such as groceries, dry goods, furniture, stoves, school books and graniteware. As to prices, Mr. Wagner agrees to meet honest competition more than half way.
