W. C. Adams, the contractor and builder, has leased the Woodhouse property on Burlington Place, adjoining the Cochran block, and will at once begin the erection of several stores. Lumber and brick are now being delivered. The location is one of the most central in the city.

The necessity of establishing a regrade of Burlington street over the hill to the river is apparent to all who have traveled over the road since the heavy rains. In its present condition it is neither safe for a loaded team to attempt to climb or descend the hill.

Gold and copper are reported to have been discovered in the region of Trout Lake, twenty miles north of White Salmon, Wash. Many specimens of ore have been brought in by prospectors which is said to assay $300 to the ton. A large number of gold seekers are on the ground and many others are on their way thither.

Last Sunday morning's papers had Drayman Billy Stevens laid up in a Portland hospital with a fractured skull on account of a fall from an ingoing car Saturday night. The rugged drayman was thrown to the ground by the violent lurching of the car while turning a curve en route to Portland Saturday night.

Outside of disfiguring the real estate along the right of way no material damage was done.

Ten dollars down and ten cents a day are the terms on which University Park lots are sold. University Park lots are selling right along while others stand still, because University Park has the largest payroll on the peninsula, because it has Bull Run water, a university which brings a cultured class, a liquor restriction which excludes saloons, Portland public schools, and first and foremost it believes that a steady growth and good morals pay best in the long run. Francis I. McKenna is the selling agent for University Park lots.

Hon. A. King Wilson of Portland will deliver an address at the rally day services in the Methodist church next Sunday evening. Clayton Wentz, also of Portland, will sing at these services.

A squall of wind, rain and hail shortly after dinner yesterday gave some of our residents a scare. It was only a half hour after the mix up until the sun was shining as bright as on a June day.

Ground was broken for the new city hall last Saturday. Cochran & Co. have the contract for the excavating. The site is at the rear end of the lot selected by the city for the purpose. The delivery of brick and lumber has been in progress during the week.

The work of revising the charter is progressing favorably. It is taken by sections and thoroughly discussed. It is the purpose of the commission to eliminate all contradicting sections and make the whole as plain as it is possible to do so before turning it over to the council for approval.

Sunday next will be rally day at the M. E. church under the auspices of the Sunday school. A special program has been prepared for the event which takes place at 10 o'clock a. m. In the evening the Epworth League will have charge of the services. A prominent Portland divine will talk to the young people. Special music has been prepared. All are invited.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Eugene Phillips on Mohawk street, St. Johns, last Monday at 5:30 p. m., when William H. R. Phillips of Greenville, Ore., and Miss Catherine V. Reed were united in marriage. Rev. E. E. McVicker performed the ceremony and only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. The young couple will take up their residence in Greenville.

There are others doing business with the P. S. Telephone Co. judging by the following testimonial from the Santiam News, published at Seio: The installation of the Home Telephone system in Albany has shown to the people just what an inferior and imperfect telephone service the Pacific States company has been giving. Now if the P. S. company saves its business it will have to place its antiquated out-of-date system with something more modern. It is almost impossible to talk understandingly with a party in Albany over the P. S. wires, while the Seio Mutual lines seem always to be in order.

If it was not for the fact that Geo. Hall was in good company last Monday night we would be tempted to publish a story that he had gone wrong. The truth is he with other members of the local lodge of Odd Fellows were paying a fraternal visit to a Portland lodge. It was an awfully wet night, and on reaching home Mr. H. found his patent leathers thoroughly soaked. On getting up Tuesday morning George noticed the waterlogged condition of his $6 foot gear, and concluded to dry them out. So he put them in the oven of the range for a little warming. In firing up to make the coffee the shoes were forgotten. All at once the junior Hall asked "Pa, don't you think your shoes are about done?" With a jump that nearly upset the table the man of the house flew to the oven and extracted his footwear that were smoking hot and doused them into a pail of water.

The St. Johns Grocery Co. has several ads in this issue that are sure to interest the careful housewife. Look them over.

The best place in the city to get a good meal is at the grill room of the New St. Johns Hotel. Sunday family dinners a special feature. Everything first class.

G. W. Cochran of West Superior, Wis., who has been the guest of his brothers, Sam and Thos. Cochran, left for his home Tuesday last. His family will remain for an extended visit.

A petition has been circulated and numerous signed asking for the removal of the postoffice to the McClesney block. The increased business of the postoffice makes it imperative that a new location be secured at once.

The advance in the price of fuel in Portland and vicinity may make it profitable enough for the ranchers to begin hauling their surplus stock of cordwood to market. There is all kinds of cordwood cut up for market on the hills on the opposite side of the river.

Mrs. F. W. Valentine is starting the ball rolling among the women of St. Johns to raise money for a public fountain on Burlington street. A series of entertainments, socials, festivals, etc., is being arranged to secure the amount necessary for its installation. The ladies seem enthusiastic over the project, and will no doubt push the good work along in a vigorous manner.

In about three weeks, to be exact, on the eleventh day of November The Review will be two years old. On that date the annual subscription will become due. While a majority of our subscribers have paid in advance, there are a number who have failed to pay for their paper, although they have received it regularly for nearly two years. The Review will gladly receive this money that is due. Those knowing themselves to be in arrears are cordially invited to make us a business call. We can use the money.

In a crowd that got together the other night some one asked "How many lawyers are there in St. Johns?" The first to answer said there were two, another said three. The guessing went on until it was eight disciples of Blackstone in the city. The news was a revelation to The Review. Under the head of "Business Directory" only a single card of an attorney appears. Now, if any of our legal lights are so awfully hard up that they cannot afford the price The Review will pose as a philanthropist and help them hew their fortune from a mighty ashlar of a growing state.

Rev. F. J. Warren's lecture on Ben Hur last Friday evening at Odd Fellows' hall was well attended by an appreciative audience, and was a financial success.

In some way and by the order of somebody a fence has been erected across Columbia Boulevard at a point near the city limits. Inquiry failed to ascertain the cause of the obstruction.

Binghamton, N. Y., Republican of Oct. 8: Mr. and Mrs. Merritt L. Holbrook of Portland, Ore., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Holbrook's aunt, Mrs. E. B. Stephens, No. 19 Arthur street.

Building operations along the electric line between this city and Portland continues unabated. Elegant and commodious homes are going up at all points along the entire line. In a very few years the route will be the most attractive out of the city.

A pair of rubbers turned bottom side up on Jersey street where the cars stop caused a little excitement on Monday. A boy said a man was under them. After a mud scow was procured and pushed to the spot it was found to be a mistake.

The Americans defeated the Nationals in the series of games to decide the championship of the world in a base ball way at Chicago, winning four out of six. The games were hotly contested and great enthusiasm was manifested throughout. The winning team received $24,000 as their share of the gate receipts. The attendance totaled over 105,000.

The ordinance in regard to depositing and allowing freight to lie on Jersey street does not mean that the P. & S. Exp. Co. cannot deliver freight along the route of the car line. According to one of the city councilmen the intention of the ordinance is to prevent the dumping and leaving of heavy freight that would obstruct travel or cause injury in case of a collision. Business men and others may have small packages delivered as heretofore. The express company, no doubt, is willing to continue to deliver small freight for the convenience of all.
