Talking to a Hoosier friend during the fair he asked if we ever kept apples fresh, ready for pies and sauce all winter? We replied that we did not need to as we always had good fresh apples the year around and did not need to.—Hood River News Letter.

The St. Johns Lumber Co. continues to expand. The work of building the immense dock is well along. When completed two large vessels will be able to load at this dock at the same time. As soon as the necessary arrangements can be made the mill will begin working a night shift.

While driving by a gang of graders on Dawson street last Monday evening C. H. Derric was struck by a rock that cut his chin and lips and knocked out one of his teeth. He is unable to ascertain where the missile came from, but does not think it was thrown with the intention to do him bodily harm.

Youngferdorf & Son have the contract for the McDonald block on Jersey street, and are now busy on the foundations. It is to be 30x70 feet and two stories high. The first floor will have two stores and the second floor fitted up for office purposes. A deep basement extends the entire length of the building.

Few people know of the existence of a well on the present city hall lot. There is an abandoned well there that will have to be filled up before the grounds are put in shape for grading. This well is 120 feet deep, and once furnished the residents of the town with their supply of water. At present it is half filled with debris.

Work on the new railroad bridge across the Willamette near the St. Johns dry dock is progressing rapidly. At present about 175 men are employed. On the west side of the river one pier is down over 30 feet and work on the second pier has begun. On the east side a pile driver began driving piles the first of the week and preparations are being made for sinking a pier at this end of the bridge. Rumor has it that the force of workmen on the bridge is to be increased as soon as the work on the east end can be got under way.

Ten dollars down and ten cents a day are the terms on which University Park lots are sold. University Park lots are selling right along while others stand still, because University Park has the largest payroll on the peninsula, because it has Bull Run water, a university which brings a cultured class, a liquor restriction which excludes saloons, Portland public schools, and first and foremost it believes that a steady growth and good morals pay best in the long run. Francis I. McKenna is the selling agent for University Park lots.

The St. Johns Meat Market, operated for the past two years by J. F. Donnelly, changed hands last Monday. Bennet Bros. are the new proprietors. They are experts in the business and promise to maintain the high standard established by Mr. Donnelly.

The contractors are rushing work on the new city hall under the supervision of the architect. The basement walls are of cement and are half finished. There is an abundance of cement, sand, gravel, brick and other material on the ground, and excellent progress should be made providing the elements do not interfere.

A. Harding, formerly employed by Swift and Armour, is now proprietor of the Star Market. He will run a delicatessen counter in connection with the Market, and will handle home cured hams and sausages. In an ad elsewhere he asks for a share of the public patronage, assuring them courteous treatment and satisfaction as to the quality and prices of his meats.

This is the season of the year when the man about the house is putting in his time during the long evenings picking splinters out of his fingers. It seems that a fellow is sure to get from six to a dozen of nasty little pieces in his hands every time he brings in the kindling. At the prices charged for wood they are too valuable to be lost.

Sam Cochran has on exhibition two cases of Oregon birds mounted in imposing attitudes. A brace of Denny pheasants are the central figures in each case. The work of the taxidermist is in the highest style of the art. The collection is particularly valuable as all the birds were secured by reason of Sam's accurate aim on his numerous hunting trips.

A reception was tendered Rev. E. A. Leonard and wife at the Baptist Church on Friday evening. The Church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. A handsome piece of silver was presented them. A short program was given, and a part of the Y. M. C. A. Orchestra was present from Portland and rendered some delightful music. A dainty lunch was also served during the evening.

Capt. Spire of the Port of Portland was in St. Johns last Monday looking over the situation with a view of clearing away the obstructions and improving the city dock so that vessels can land with absolute safety. After the approach to the dock is cleared from the sunken and projecting piles and the dock pronounced safe, the river boats will be compelled to stop at St. Johns for passengers and freight.

The election last Monday for the purpose of voting $20,000 bonds to build an additional school house in the city was a quiet one. Everybody conceded the necessity of an additional school building and that the proposition would carry was a foregone conclusion. There were 69 votes cast and every one of them were in favor of issuing the bonds. School house will be located in the northern part of the city. The exact location has not been selected. It is the intention of the school board to have the new building ready for occupancy at the beginning of the next fall term.

Insure against fire before you have one—with D. C. Rogers, agent for the "old reliable" Phoenix of London.

Simmons & Co. finished the grading of Charleston street the first of the week. It is a very creditable piece of work.

A successful reception to Rev. E. A. Leonard and wife was given at the Baptist church on Friday evening. The autumn leaf decoration was grand.

The best place in the city to get a good meal is at the grill room of the New St. Johns Hotel. Sunday family dinners a special feature. Everything first class.

Chas. Platt forfeited $10 bail in the municipal court last Monday because of his nonappearance to answer the charge of assault and battery on the person of Mike King.

The owner needing more money will sell one of three fine business lots; two are centrally situated on Jersey street; one third cash, balance on two or three years' time. Inquire at 240 Fifth street, Portland, Oregon.

J. B. Nye, formerly of the New St. Johns Hotel, is now the manager of the New Commercial Co., 100 First street, Portland. The resort is one of the finest in the city, and the popular manager will be pleased to meet his numerous St. Johns friends at all times.

The deer hunting season closes on Nov. 1, instead of Dec. 1, as was published in The Review several weeks ago. Hunters will make a note of this and avoid trouble that otherwise would follow. The trout fishing season also closes on Nov. 1st. The grouse, pheasant and quail season continues open until Dec. 1. It is unlawful to kill more than 10 birds in one day, or to sell any game.

Harvest time will soon be over and ranchers can now be seen doing their fall sowing and preparing their fields for the coming year. As soon as his crop of grain for the past year is hauled to the market and the general routine of fall work on the farm is over the rancher falls heir to a much needed rest.—EX.

A St. Johns man who has been in every state in the union and has also visited five foreign countries, says of the climate of this vicinity: "All the year round it exceeds any thing I have ever seen. If we had a few rains during the summer from June to September it would be perfection. All the year through our climate would do for the Garden of the Gods."

J. E. Brink and a party of hunters spent last Sunday on his shooting preserve on the lower Columbia. The grounds are supplied with a liberal amount of feed, and as a consequence the birds were plentiful and all secured the limit. The party left here Saturday night, returning after the flight was over Sunday evening. The preserve consists of 800 acres and is about two hours ride down the river. It has China pheasant as well as duck grounds. All who desire a day's hunt can be accommodated by making application to Mr. Brink or at the ferry office. Two trips a week will be made, the boat leaving here Tuesday and Saturday nights.

Star Market

A. Harding, formerly in the employ of Armour and Swift, and celebrated for his cured meats and sausages, is now proprietor. All patrons will receive courteous treatment.

A delicatessen counter will be run in connection. Lewis Boyd has been installed as assistant meat cutter.
