THE LIGHT THAT'S BRIGHT

ELECTRIC LIGHT is pre-eminently the light of happy content. It dispels gloom, dinginess and discouragement. Light homes make light hearts.

ELECTRIC LIGHT is practical light—a light that is at once clean, convenient and economical. At the prevailing rates for current on meter basis, it is well within the means of all, and when used sensibly—economically—electric light is as cheap as it is good.

Heath & Milligan Railway White Lead will cover more surface, wear longer, always look better, and is cheaper to use, than some so-called White Leads that may be bought for less money per pound. Let us give you the chemical analysis of Railway White Lead, and you will understand the force of the above statement. Potter & Gould.

A number have expressed themselves that St. Johns should organize and support a base ball club. A quiet canvass is being made and something tangible may develop. Pascal Hill has offered to donate the use of his fine grounds. Besides he has offered to fence the lot and provide an amphitheater. A well organized club would prove a good advertisement for the city and be the means of attracting large crowds to this place.

Here is a puzzle that puzzles everybody: Take the number of your living brothers, double the amount, add to it three, multiply by five, add to it the number of your living sisters, multiply the result by ten, add the number of deaths of brothers, and subtract 150 from the result. The right figure will be the number of deaths, the middle will be the number of living sisters, and the left will show the number of living brothers. Try it and see.

Very few who hear the hum of the saws and see the clouds of smoke issuing from half a dozen stacks at the St. Johns Lumber mill have an idea how much it costs to operate the mill every day. One who is looked upon as a pretty good saw mill man says between $1,500 and $2,000 are required each day to make the wheels go 'round. Pretty fair for a youngster barely six months old. When all the machinery is in place and a full force is employed the company's mill will be one of the most up-to-date on the coast.

Lavina, the bright five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Simmons, died at her home at Cedar Park Monday morning at 1 o'clock. The little one had been a sufferer with that blighting disease spinal meningitis for about three weeks, when death came to her relief and ended her sufferings. Rev. F. L. Young preached the funeral sermon and interment was made in the Columbia cemetery. The Yeomen and M. W. A. orders sent beautiful wreaths for the casket and many fragrant flowers were presented by friends of the little one. Six young girls acted as pall bearers. The funeral took place Wednesday.

A street car employe is authority for the statement that the wages of all motormen on the Portland electric line will be raised to $3 per day March 1. It is to be hoped that something will be done to secure reliable and competent men that the schedule may be maintained throughout the day and evening. There are times when a stage line could successfully compete with the St. Johns electric line.

One of the linemen engaged in repairing the telephone wires informed The Review man last Monday that over 7000 telephones were out of commission on the east side, and that it would be a month or more before the telephones in St. Johns would be in use. Linemen from Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane are assisting the local force in making the repairs. So much for the silver thaw.

In the report of the sums donated by the various individuals and societies to the Reading Room Association, published in The Review last week, the donations made by the Yeomen and Redmen were omitted for the reason that we were not aware these societies had contributed. The blame lies with The Review, and no reflection on these lodges was intended. The Yeomen gave $25 and the Redmen $60 to the fund.

As the postoffice doors are locked promptly each evening at six o'clock many who have lock boxes complain that they are unable to secure their mail without considerable inconvenience. Especially is this true of the mechanics who work during the day. It has been suggested that the outside doors be left open each evening until nine o'clock, when they could be locked by the night police. It would be a good plan. The Review prints the suggestion at the request of several subscribers.

On several buildings in the city the get-something-for-nothing people have daubed numerous hideous looking signs for a Portland needle and elephant house. A man who allows a foreign concern to use his property as an advertisement to draw trade does himself and St. Johns an injustice. The business houses of St. Johns are here to supply the needs of the city, and they can do so if given the opportunity at lower prices than the outsiders can. Order these obnoxious signs removed. Get in line, gentlemen, and help The Review boost for St. Johns and St. Johns business men. You will never be sorry for it.

Notwithstanding the fact that summer is a few weeks away open cars are run daily on the St. Johns line. In the good old summer time when the peck-a-boo waisters are comfortable the air-tight box cars will be provided. But right now when wraps are worn, closed cars with several windows broken out and open cars are placed on the run. Riding ten long miles in one of these cars shivered up in an overcoat with an icicle, or what looks like an icicle, hanging on to the end of one's nose is not pleasant. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals should take a hand in the game. If this cannot be done let the hat be passed and new panes of glass be provided to replace the broken ones in the closed cars.

TUNNEL

Will be Run Through the Peninsula by the O. & W.

By the purchase of 110 acres near University Park the Harriman lines secured the ground for their tunnel for their Oregon & Washington extension to Puget Sound. The purchase includes 725 lots and 50 acres of land between Newark, Adriatic and Washington streets and Columbia avenue. The average price paid was $1000 an acre.

The tunnel will be driven through the high bluff at University Park station, entering at Dana and Newark streets, and will emerge south of Columbia University on Mock's bottom. It will be 3,400 feet in length and wide enough for a double track.

From the eastern end of the tunnel a double track will be laid to the steel bridge, where the terminal yards on the west side can be reached. To complete the deal $250,000 were paid.
