CRITICISED HIS COOK.

Then the Queen of the Kitchen Had Her Innings.

A citizen of Kiev, Russia, found fault with the dinner prepared by his new cook and rashly embodied his criticism in cutting sarcasms.

"Oh, we read, my father and I," she said. "And what do you read?" asked the little man.

"Algy, here's a good story," said Percy. "A man named Swords has been arrested for assault with a deadly weapon, and his case was on trial."

"Mr. Swords," asked the judge, "how will you be tried?" "And Mr. Swords said he wanted to be tried by a jury of his peers."

"I heard a good story this morning," he said. "A man named Swords had been arrested for assault with a deadly weapon, and his case was on trial."

"Please, mother says she ain't got no time to come round here to strike matches on your trousers!" he says.—London Graphic.

STORIES OF DR. HOLMES.

A Young Woman Who Didn't Like His Literary Taste.

The story is recalled of a young Virginia country girl dining in Boston some years ago, in the days when Dr. Holmes went to dinners.

"Oh, we read, my father and I," she answered. "Well, the 'Autocrat of the Breakfast Table' for one thing," she answered.

"My father and I may not be judges of literature," said Miss Virginia airily and with a faint accent of scorn, "but when we get to the end of the 'Autocrat' we generally turn back to the beginning and read it over again."

The little old man smiled at this and was disposed to be friendly, but Miss Virginia was so displeased with his tone concerning the "Autocrat" that she met him with chilly indifference.

As soon as the guests went into the drawing room her hostess whispered reproachfully to her: "You didn't seem to find Dr. Holmes as interesting as I hoped."

"Another story of Holmes' wit is told. One day old Dr. Peabody was to meet him at a certain place. The venerable professor rode in a carriage. When he got there he was met by Holmes, who had walked. Near by was a statue of Eurycle. And Holmes said: "Ah, you ride, I see!"

"Capital, capital!" cried Peabody. That night he went back home and said to his wife: "Holmes got off a good joke today."

His wife asked him what it was. "Why, I was to meet him down at the statue of Eurycle, and when I arrived he said quite happily, 'Oh, you came in a carriage!'"

Themistocles. Themistocles, the hero of Salamis, was sent into banishment by the practice of ostracism. This was a purely Athenian device to prevent any citizen becoming too great.

Michael Angelo was equally great as painter, sculptor and architect. In order to paint figures properly he devoted twelve years to the study of anatomy alone.

Communication.

St. Johns, Oregon, March 2, 1907.—To the Editor:—In your issue of yesterday I notice that you stated "that the mayor cut short the remarks of Attorney Perkins."

The wording you gave to the article would lead one to infer that I was averse to having any facts pertaining to the new charter made public—or else that my actions were unfair to Mr. Perkins.

There was no desire upon my part to cut Mr. Perkins short for the purpose of suppressing any genuine information, but I believed it best to wait for the correct bill as it became a law and thus prevent all bother.
