FRIDAY, JUNE 7, 1907.

Several new members of the Rod and Gun club have become so enthusiastic over their shooting that they now go around with one eye shut in order to keep in practice.

The tourist rates, at a little more than one fare for the round trip and good for Oregon from all parts of the United States went on sale Saturday in all ticket offices throughout the country.

The seaside resorts are beginning to show signs of activity, and soon will be crowded with people who have gone thither for their health—and who have lost their health trying to save enough money to go.

By an ordinance passed last week by council sold machines and dice boxes are to make their speedy disappearance, and no more will our sports have the opportunity of blowing in a dollar to get a nickel cigar.

The street car line has been doing a rushing business the past two Sundays. The only regrettable feature about the street car service is the number of our people who catch cold riding in a winter car in the summer time.

Since Harry Lane has been re-elected mayor of Portland on his past record, it is expected that he will continue to sit on the lid of the cauldron of iniquity of our neighboring suburb with all his weight and not let his feet hang over.

The Peoples Press edited by Dana Skeeth, formerly St. Johns reporter for the Telegram, certainly digs into things and people in great shape. The paper is a fearless one and does not mince matters when it gets after the subject in hand.

The pesky fly is already beginning to cause the busy housewife to scold her children in order to give vent to the silent profanity caused when the little varminis dip their feet in the butter and molasses and then plaster it over the wall.

The Portland Rose show and Fiesta, June 20 and 21, is to be a great attraction and it will certainly be of much benefit to visitors from all parts of the state of Oregon, as any movement that brings us nearer to nature's beautiful things does us good.

Between the Haywood trial in Idaho and the grafters headed by Abe Ruef and Mayor Schmitz at San Francisco the readers of the daily papers will have enough to hold them for awhile, and will likely grow cross-eyed in determining which to read first.

Another indication that St. Johns is moving right along is the fact that because of the increased postal receipts Postmaster Valentine has had his salary raised from $1,000 to $1,500 per year. And there is every indication that it will be still further increased a year hence.

When you see a man laboriously spading in an agonizing way in his back yard, and slowly lifting each spadeful as if it weighed fifty pounds he is making a flower bed for his wife. If he is digging like a fiend, and tossing the dirt around like it was a pile of feathers he is digging worms to go fishing.

The eastern states are still suffering from the effects of winter, and seems unable to shake the cold thing off. The only feasible plan would be for easterners to all emigrate to Oregon, where winter lets up when we have gotten enough snow fall in New York state Sunday, and a report from Pennsylvania states that the trees are still leafless. It is hard to realize how well off we really are in Oregon.

The granting of a franchise to the Home Telephone Co. was a commendable act on the part of the council last week. The Home people have acted in a gentlemanly business-like manner, and were quite generous in their proposition to repay the city for the use of the streets. A good telephone system here has been a long felt want in St. Johns. The admirable service that has been dished out to us for the past year will cause all to have a sigh of relief over the prospect of good service at last. The Home comes well equipped to supply the wants of all the inhabitants, and no doubt will meet with great success when they commence to solicit patronage.

Oregon City might as well do away with the marriage law, for the people there no sooner get married than they want a divorce, and generally get it; then it would be cheaper.

A young man in St. Johns has just received from Binger Hermans a copy of the year book for 1903, and he is wondering why Binger didn't burn this volume with the rest of his old papers.

San Francisco was visited with another earthquake Tuesday, but it did not jar Mayor Schmitz nearly so badly as the quake Henry will make when he gets down to business. Abe's rief will also likely be blown off.

That pin worm of American politics, W. S. U'Ren of Oregon City, should read the brief of Hon. Tillman Ford of Salem on behalf of the petition for the referendum against the University tax bill, and then crawl into a hole and cork up the entrance.

The bill poster ordinance still reposes peacefully on the shelf in the council chamber. In the meantime the eye is afflicted with numerous signs, posters and circulars anywhere and everywhere. If the city was deriving a revenue therefrom they would not look nearly so bad.

Sprinkling the lawns and gardens is now a steady occupation mornings and evenings for many of our citizens. The absence of rain for several weeks has made it necessary to spend five dollars for water to raise thirty-five cents worth of garden "sass." But then the fun of farming and ruining a suit or two of clothes handling the hose is worth something.

The Oregon girls who went to Jamestown seem to be disappointed with the Exposition, with the city and with New York and Chicago. The buildings in New York were so low and squat, while in Chicago they were in long, low, black rows. In fact the girls found nothing in the eastern cities that could quite compare with the "Land where flows the Oregon."

Every Man His Own Doctor. The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon treatment, which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowels complaints. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, lacerations, sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, biliousness and stomach troubles. Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin. One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by St. Johns Drug Store.

Violin Lessons. Louis A. Creitz is forming a class of violin pupils in St. Johns. Mr. Creitz received his musical education in Leipzig, Germany, where he spent several years. Anyone wishing information regarding lessons address care this office or Telephone Pacific 189.

For Sale. A fine driving mare, and almost new buggy. This is a stylish driver and only 4 years old. Will sell or will trade for lot in St. Johns. J. S. McKinney, 203, East Polk street, St. Johns.

Wanted. Hand ironers at the West Coast Laundry. Apply at once.

St. Johns Market. FULL LINE OF BEEF, PORK, MUTTON and VEAL, HAMS, BACON, HOME MADE LARD and SAUSAGES. Also all kinds of Pickled Meats, Poultry Dressed to Order. We make Family Trade a specialty. Orders solicited and delivered to any part of the city. Call on us and you will be convinced that our prices are right. Phone Scott 4062.

HE TURNED THE LAUGH.

A Quick Witted Orator Who Was Equal to the Occasion.

An orator who was equal to an emergency was the late George A. Sheridan, who was a noted "spell-binder" often engaged by the Republican national committee. At a big meeting he was addressing in a town near New York he was introduced by a Mr. O'Brien, the chairman, in most flattering terms. In order to reciprocate Mr. Sheridan paid a glowing tribute to the sterling qualities of the chairman and wound up the eulogy by asserting that no man could say Mr. O'Brien owed him a cent.

"He owes me $3!" came a keen Celtic voice from the rear of the audience.

It was almost a solar plexus blow for the orator, and the audience started to laugh and jeer. Raising the speaker said: "Don't be alarmed, good friends. I will answer that man presently." This assertion was to gain time and if possible have the audience forget the incident. But again that penetrating voice cried out:

"He owes me $3 cold cash!"

Advancing to the edge of the platform, General Sheridan in a confidential tone said: "Yes. I know all about the $3, for my friend, Mr. O'Brien, has given me the inside facts. Ladies and gentlemen, the truth is simply this, and it reveals a peculiar character: This man who has interrupted me met Mr. O'Brien recently and asked him for the loan of $10. 'I haven't got ten,' said generous Mr. O'Brien, 'but here are $7,' handing the money to him. Now this man is going around saying my friend, the honorable chairman, owes him $3 because he could lend him only $7 when ten were requested." A roar of laughter filled the hall, and the indignant man tried to answer the orator. He was howled down. The chairman whispered in General Sheridan's ear: "You have saved me. You are a genius."—Leslie's Weekly.

The Reformed Gambler. A reformed gambler from Ohio went to Washington when Hoke Smith was secretary of the interior and, saying that he had forsaken games of chance, sought employment. A friend introduced him to Hoke Smith, stating his case. Mr. Smith listened attentively and then said:

"I will do what I can. I will look into the vacancies and see if I can place him. I would like to give him a chance very much."

All this time the reformed gambler had been standing quietly, eyeing the secretary. After Smith had finished he stepped forward and said:

"Now, see here, Hoke, old boy. Tell me if this is right. If you kin give me a job lemme know, but if you can't lemme know, too, for I can't afford no time to be stayin' here in this sort of way dubbin' around on a dead card."

Oak and Mistletoe. A reviewer in the Outlook rebukes an American writer for wondering whether there is any "natural connection" between the oak and the mistletoe, seeing how constantly they are associated. "In Great Britain," says the reviewer, "the oak is one of the trees on which the mistletoe notoriously does not grow." And it is true that the English child learns in an early lesson of the honor in which the Druids held a mistletoe that by rare chance did grow on an oak. But the reviewer, being American, is amply justified. The hills that surround the Lick observatory in California and that bear its domes are covered with oaks, and it is not too much to say that every oak carries a bunch or bunches of mistletoe.—London Chronicle.

She Knew About Peter. A visiting pastor was examining the Sunday school of a Germantown church a few Sundays ago and had asked the class just in front of him if any member of it could tell anything about the Apostle Peter. A little girl with a precocious face raised her hand. "Come up here, my little lady," said the minister. "I am much gratified to see that you have remembered your lesson. Now tell the school what you know about Peter." The little tot was quite willing to show off her knowledge and commenced, "Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater, had a wife and couldn't keep her; put her in a"—The school never heard where he put her on account of the general uproar.—Philadelphia Record.

Pelted With Flowers. "Was your wife angry when you got home so late last night?" "Angry! Why, my boy, the dear woman pelted me with flowers!" "But how did you get that black eye?" "Well, you see, she neglected to take the flowers out of the pots before she threw them."—London Telegraph.

Ancient Rome is now merely a memory of the past. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the family liniment of the twentieth century. A positive cure for Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Sprains, Neuralgia, etc. Mr. C. H. Runyon, Stanberry, Mo., writes: "I have used Snow Liniment for Rheumatism and all pain. I can't say enough in its praise." Sold by St. Johns Drug Store.

RIGHTS UNDER A PATENT.

Each of the Three Constitutes a Separate Monopoly.

To make, to use and to sell are the only ways in which an invention is capable of commercial enjoyment. The patentee can, if he wishes, sit down and not only not use the invention himself, but prevent others from making or using or selling the patented thing. If any one else makes, uses or sells the subject of the patent the courts will grant the patentee an injunction against further infringement and a recovery of the profits made.

Each of these three rights—to make, to use and to sell—is a separate monopoly and may, by proper instruments, be granted or sold separately. For instance, a patentee of a machine could grant to a manufacturer the exclusive right to make the machines for him (of course under proper restrictions as to price, etc.), and the manufacturer would be an infringer if he used the machines or sold them to others. The patentee could then grant to a jobber the exclusive right to sell the machines (reserving proper compensation to himself, such as a percentage of the profits), and the jobber would be an infringer if he either made or used the machine. The exclusive right to use the machines could then be granted to a given consumer, who in turn would have no right to make or sell the machines.

The exclusive right to use an invention for each of several given purposes can be separately sold. For instance, a patentee of a process for making watch dials not only sold the exclusive right to make watch dials by that process, but he also sold to a separate company the exclusive right to use the process in making enameled signs under the same patent. The watch manufacturer would have been an infringer if he had made signs and, vice versa, the sign manufacturer would have been restrained from making watch dials.

A process of drying gunpowder was found to be applicable to drying breakfast foods, and the owner, after getting all they had ever looked for from the patent from the gunpowder rights, reaped a second and unexpected harvest from the sale of the rights for breakfast foods. The rights under a patent for a machine can be divided in the same way.—Edwin J. Prindle in Engineering Magazine.

The Last Bulletin. The editor of a newspaper in a small eastern town had occasion to visit Washington a day or two after President McKinley was shot and was greatly impressed by the bulletin boards containing the hourly condition of the president. Immediately after his return he had a bulletin board made and placed in front of his office. For awhile he had no use for the board, but the opportunity came when Deacon Jones, one of the leading men of the town, became ill. The following is the way the board appeared:

Monday, 10 a. m.—Deacon Jones quite sick.

Monday, 1 p. m.—Deacon Jones has slight rally.

Monday, 5 p. m.—Deacon Jones worse.

Tuesday, 9 a. m.—Deacon Jones very much worse—family has been summoned.

Tuesday, 11 a. m.—Deacon Jones has died and gone to heaven. Funeral at 3.

When the mourners returned from the funeral they were startled by another notice made by a wag-gish traveling man:

Tuesday, 5 p. m.—Great excitement in heaven. Deacon Jones not yet arrived.

An Ill-Timed Lecture. "There was once a minister in Hartford," said Mark Twain, "who had a lot of boys in his Sunday school who were in the habit of staying away on the Sunday when the big steamer City of Hartford docked in the morning. One Sunday the minister came down to Sunday school and found all the boys there. He was profoundly affected. 'Boys,' he said, 'you cannot imagine how much this exhibition of loyalty on your part to the Sunday school affects me. When I came by the dock this morning and saw the City of Hartford there—'

"Gee whizz!" shouted the boys in chorus. "Is she in?" And they left in a body."

A Thoughtful Officer. Apropos of extravagant education there is no more utter waste, whether in board schools or those of higher class, than essay writing by children. A poultry paper quotes a little boy's effort on that subject. "Geece is a nasty animal, for they will jump up your back and beat you with their feathers," writes this budding literary genius, and "the turkese is a large kind of hen." This may be an extreme instance, but it furnishes the text for an essay on "geece" of quite another kind.—London Sketch.

A GLIMPSE OF SPAIN.

The Manner of a Wedding Dance in the Provinces.

The wedding dance was being held in a long, narrow building near a fountain, and we entered on a smooth earth floor. Seats were arranged about the sides of the whitewashed room, and the low rafters were draped and festooned with fancy wall paper with gold scrolls in it. The music was furnished by a piano organ at one end of the long room, turned in rotation by a number of small boys in their clean blue blouses and brown corduroy breeches, who felt their importance, and at the other end of the room a table was spread with cakes and bread and a wine concoction very sweet and pleasant, but seductive. The women, some bringing their babies, were a pleasant set, but not beautiful, although a few, with their large dark eyes, came very near to it. They did not wear the gay costumes of my imagination, but their dresses showed great care and conscientious patching. A gay handkerchief was often folded around the neck and across the breast, and large earrings and big brooches were the vogue even among the young women. The men wore broad brimmed black felt hats and clean blue blouses, corduroy trousers, either light tan or brown, and the long red or black sash belt called a "feja" wound many times about the waist, the folds serving as pockets for cigarettes, tobacco pouch and the villainous knife that every one carries.

The dances were "round," interspersed with a square dance, where four people comprised a set—a sort of fandango, with lots of stamping and attempts at lithe, serpentine motions, with the hands raised above the head. There was a very old man who danced with great gusto and amused the crowd of young people, who encouraged him with clapping of hands.—Edward Penfield in Scribner's.

Stones in Queer Places. A round stone is found in the joints of certain kinds of bamboo. This is called "tabasheer" and is supposed to be deposited from the siliceous juices of the cane. Another curiosity of this sort is the "coconut stone," found in the endosperm of the coconut in Java and other East Indian islands. It is a pure carbonate of lime, and the form of the stone is sometimes round, sometimes pear shaped, while the appearance is that of a white pearl without much luster. Some of these stones are as large as cherries and as hard as feldspar or opal. They are very rarely found and are regarded as precious stones by the orientals and as charms against disease or evil spirits by the natives. Stones of this kind are also found in the pomegranate and in other East Indian fruits. Apatite has also been discovered in teak wood.

Insects and Odors. The ordinary perfumes of everyday life have a distinct use in the destruction of microbes, and this is especially the case with some of the essential oils which are used in cooking and in medicine. Cinnamon, which is so universally used for flavoring, will kill some microbes within a quarter of an hour, and it has long been reputed as a valuable in the destruction of the bacillus of typhoid while still out of the body, perhaps a very different thing from the bacillus when it is inside our anatomy. Cloves, too, can destroy some specimens of bacteria in rather more than half an hour, and the common wild verbena has a similar action in about three-quarters of an hour, while geranium flowers have a similar action, though it takes rather longer to develop it.

The Lobster an Idiot. The best naturalists remain timorous enough and hesitate to dogmatize. Take the case of the lobster. Poke him here, he does this; poke him there, he does that; poke a thousand of him in the same way, and they do the same things. Shall we therefore conclude that the lobster lacks mentality, that he's a mere machine and that he doesn't even know he's a lobster? By no means. All we can affirm with scientific justice is that apparently—and only apparently—he's an idiot. The way to know for sure—is to be a lobster!—Boston Transcript.

ORDINANCE NO. 144

An Ordinance Granting to the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company of Portland, Oregon, its Successors and Assigns, the Right to Lay and Maintain Underground Conduits and Wires and to Construct Necessary Manholes, Make House Connections and to Erect Poles and Thereon to Fasten Wires on the Streets and Alleys, and to Operate a Telephone and Telegraph System in the City of St. Johns, State of Oregon.

The City of St. Johns does ordain as follows:

Section 1. That the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company of Portland, Oregon, its successors and assigns, is hereby granted for a period of twenty-five (25) years from the date of the passage and approval of this ordinance the right, privilege and franchise to erect poles with the necessary supports, cross arms and fixtures, and to string wires and cables thereon, and to construct underground conduits, together with the necessary manholes and other appliances, and to lay, place and stretch wires and cables therein and along, over, upon, under and across the streets, alleys, avenues and public places of the City of St. Johns, State of Oregon, for the transmission of sound, signals, conversation and intelligence, through and over said wires and cables by means of electricity, and to construct, establish, equip, install, maintain and operate a telephone system, and to conduct a general telephone and telegraph business at said City of St. Johns.

Section 2. That all conduits shall be constructed in conformity with such reasonable regulations as the City Council may by ordinance prescribe for conduits of similar character and all excavations for constructing, repairing and changing such conduits shall be done in compliance with the ordinance of said City which may be in force at the time of the performance of the work, and in such manner as not to unnecessarily interfere with the free use of the streets and alleys by the public, save and except such temporary interference as may be necessary incident to the prosecution of the work.

Section 3. That the said Council or other properly constituted authority thereof shall have the power and authority to supervise, direct and inspect the manner of erecting and maintaining said conduits, and of placing said wires and carrying out the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 4. Said grantee hereby agrees and covenants to indemnify and save harmless the City of St. Johns against all damages, costs and expenses whatsoever to which the city may be subjected in consequence of the acts or neglects of said grantee, its agents or servants, in any manner arising from the rights and privileges granted herein.

Section 5. The said grantee, in consideration of the franchise, rights and privileges granted by this ordinance, and as compensation therefor, shall, within thirty (30) days from the commencement of the operation of said telephone exchange, furnish to the City of St. Johns five (5) main line telephones and connect the same with the system of said grantee, and thereafter maintain and keep the same in good repair and working order during the term of said franchise, with out expense or charge to the City of St. Johns, and shall allow the City of St. Johns the free and exclusive use of the two pins of the top cross arm of each of the poles erected or maintained under this franchise for police and fire alarm purposes and said City of St. Johns shall have full and complete control of the same for the purpose of said franchise, which privilege shall extend during the term of this franchise, and as further compensation, said grantee shall pay to the City of St. Johns the sum of Five Thousand ($5000) dollars as follows:

Two hundred ($200) dollars on the first day of January, 1908, and Two Hundred ($200) dollars on the first day of January of each and every year thereafter during the life of this franchise except last payment, which shall be Four Hundred ($400) dollars, and said franchise may be forfeited by failure to make the payments as herein provided for.

Section 6. The work of constructing said telephone plant, system and exchange shall be commenced in good faith in not more than six months from the date of acceptance of said franchise and shall be continuously prosecuted thereunder to good faith and shall be completed within not more than eighteen (18) months thereafter.

Section 7. Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed in any way to prevent the proper authorities of St. Johns from severing, grading, planing, repairing or altering any of the streets thereof as may be determined from time to time by the properly constituted officers of said City.

Section 8. Nothing in this ordinance shall prevent the City of St. Johns from granting to other persons or corporation like privileges as herein set forth.

Section 9. The said grantee shall restore all streets and public highways in said city which shall be disturbed in the installation of said telephone system in said city, as soon as practicable and without unnecessary delay.

Section 10. That nothing in this ordinance shall be construed as prohibiting the City of St. Johns or the Council thereof from at any time hereafter exercising its police power to require the main line wires of the grantee to be placed in conduits in the business portion of said City, provided, that such police power shall not be exercised except by ordinance, applicable alike to all telephone and telegraph wires and poles, and provided further, that in the residence portion of said City of St. Johns, all poles shall be, as far as practicable, set in alleys, where such alleys exist.

Section 11. Whenever it shall be necessary in grading any street or alley in said city or in building any sidewalk or in making any other improvements thereon, to remove any pole or poles belonging to said grantee, or any line or lines, wire or wires belonging to said grantee shall be stretched or fastened, the said grantee shall, upon receipt of twenty-four (24) hours' notice from the Board of Public Works or such other board or official as the Council or law may designate, remove such pole or poles and if said grantee, upon notice, shall neglect or refuse to remove such pole or poles, then such pole or poles shall be removed by the Board of Public Works or such other board or official as the Council or law may designate, at the expense of said grantee.

Section 12. Said grantee, its successors and assigns, shall equip and thereafter maintain a central station in the said City of St. Johns. All poles erected shall be, so far as practicable, of the same size and height, shall be painted and the same shall be erected and maintained at the edge of the side walls unless otherwise directed by the City Engineer or such other officer as the Council or law may direct or designate.

Section 13. Whenever any person or company shall have obtained permission of the properly constituted authorities of the City of St. Johns to remove any building through any streets or avenues, the grantee, if it has a line on said streets, on due notice from such person or company, shall raise, remove or adjust the lines so as to allow an unobstructed passage of such building; and if said grantee shall, after such notice, neglect so to do, the properly constituted authorities of the City of St. Johns shall, at the expense of said grantee, remove said lines from the street, under an obstruction to the passage of said building.

Section 14. For the purpose of effectually securing efficient service and continued maintenance of the property, plant, system and exchange constructed and operated under this ordinance, the grantee shall keep and maintain its poles, conduits, plant, system and exchange in good order and repair, and shall render efficient service throughout the entire term of this grant. If the grantee, or its successors or assigns, shall fail to keep in good repair its poles, conduits, plant, system and exchange as aforesaid, or shall, during the period of this franchise, fail to render efficient telephone service to all houses and such other places as may be designated by ordinance, the City may by ordinance declare this grant and all the rights and privileges herein conferred forfeited, but no such forfeiture hereof shall be made if, within a reasonable time after written notice from the Council of the City, the said grantee shall place said plant, system, exchange and property in good order and repair and shall render efficient service thereby and thereafter.

Section 15. The said grantee shall, within thirty (30) days after this ordinance shall be in force, and such acceptance by grantee shall be unqualified and shall be an acceptance of all the terms, conditions and restrictions contained in this ordinance. And said grantee within thirty (30) days after this ordinance shall be in force, shall file with the Recorder of the said City of St. Johns a good and sufficient bond in the sum of Two Thousand ($2000) dollars, to be approved by the Mayor and conditioned that each and every street, alley, highway or any portion thereof, that may be disturbed or torn up by said grantee under the provisions of this ordinance, shall be replaced and put in as good order and condition as the same was before it was disturbed, and there after maintained for a period of one year, and further conditioned that said grantee, its successors and assigns, shall faithfully keep and perform each and every condition imposed upon it by this ordinance.

Section 16. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage and approval according to law.

Passed the Council May 28, 1907. Approved May 28, 1907.
