A party who claims to understand the lumber situation says: 'I look for lower lumber prices in the near future. If this move to secure S. P. railroad lands at $2.50 per acre sticks, look out for a drop. In order to make the small holders let go of their lands logs will be forced down to a low figure, probably $5 per thousand. As a consequence lumber will sell for half what it does now.'

Charles Bentley, a resident of St. Johns, employed in remodeling the building of the Willamette Iron Works at Third and Glisan streets, fell from the scaffold Saturday afternoon and was seriously injured. J. W. Bickner, who left here a year ago to engage in mining in Southern Oregon, writes that the group of mines in which he is interested has more than a promising future. The company has been incorporated for $500,000, with officers as follows: J. W. Bickner, president; J. A. Kane, vice president and general manager; R. D. Watkins, secretary and treasurer. For development the company has placed a limited number of shares on sale at 10 cents each. Three ore veins are exposed. The main vein is 30 feet wide and the others three and six in width. The ore in the shaft assays from $40 to $60 per ton, and on one of the veins $12 gold and 3 and 4 per cent copper is found. 'Joe' is confident he has something that is going to be a bonanza, and advises his friends to get in on the property. About 50 tons of the ore will be shipped to the smelter at once.

ANNUAL ELECTION

Three Directors for the School Board Elected.

The annual meeting of the school board was held at the central school building last Monday evening. About fifty persons were present, half a dozen of whom were ladies. J. E. Williams, chairman of the school board, presided.

J. E. Tanch, clerk of the board, read his annual report, a lengthy document, dealing with the condition of the finances and affairs of the board.

The clerk's report showed that 19 teachers were employed in the city schools at a salary of $10,400 a year. The children of school age in the city number 1004. From all sources the district has received $53,000 during the year. Of this amount $33,000 has been paid out. At the beginning of the school year there was a balance on hand of $2,789.29. At present there is $19,825.86 on hand. The heating of the various school rooms cost the district $462.

The financial report was referred to a committee consisting of R. W. McKeon, A. M. Esson and S. L. Doble for verification.

The announcement of the election of three directors brought forth numerous nominations. The result of the first ballot elected C. W. Potter, W. B. Weeks and T. M. Phillips. Their terms of office will be decided at the next meeting of the board by drawing lots to see who will serve three, four and five years.

SUNDAY CLOSING

Three Deputy Sheriffs Screw Down the Lid.

For half a day St. Johns was as dry as a bone last Sunday. This particular half day refers to the afternoon. During the morning hours a thousand parched throats were saved from cracking by reason of The Louvre keeping open.

When it became known that the juice of the grape and the brew of the hop was on sale a regiment or so of men developed an almost unquenchable thirst. The Louvre was charged by platoons and battalions, and the cash register played the tune of 'You'll Never Miss the Lager 'Till the Keg Runs Dry.'

Heavily loaded cars at Alder street in Portland, filled with thirsty men, attracted the attention of the sheriff's office, and three deputies set sail for St. Johns. Before the arrival of Sheriff Stevens' men Louis Richard, proprietor of The Louvre, surrendered to Constable Lou Wagner, and accompanied by his bartender went to Portland with the constable.

Outside of the above incident there was nothing doing in the city. The other five saloons were closed as tight as a drum. Only two persons were seen on the streets under the influence of liquor, and part of their jag was left over from the previous night.

As far as St. Johns and her people were concerned the order closing the saloons made little difference. There is an idea that the closing movement is only temporary, and as the effect of the grand-standing wears off the saloons will be open on Sunday as well as every other day.

To Make Money

from real estate investments care should be exercised in buying. The man who makes the most money out of real estate is he who invests in property that will increase in value rapidly.
