Mrs. Marcellus, one of our good old Hood River friends moved from Portland out on Monteith street and become a citizen of St. Johns. We are very glad to have these old friends move into Johns. It makes it more and more like home. Mrs. Marcellus is boarding with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Bolden.

Mrs. Teresa Becker of Muskegon, Mich., and Mrs. M. E. Carl of Washougal, Wash., spent the past week with their sister, Mrs. G. Ward. While Mrs. Carl was here visiting Mrs. Ward her daughters, Mrs. Maggie Pierce and Mrs. Ella Holton of Seattle arrived at Washougal to see their mother and followed her to St. Johns and are now the guests of Mrs. Ward also.

Tom Wickens, J. L. Taylor and Ira Alcorn old Hood Riverites were in the city Wednesday and touched hands with the printers. The latter is working in Dresser's market in Portland. Mr. Wickens has spent the winter on the Sound, where his sister died about the first of the year. Mr. Taylor is down for a short visit with his relatives, D. R. Norton and family. We are glad to see these old time friends.

The sweetest thing came to G. L. Epps, the first of the week, he has received in many a day. His uncle, Wm. Patrick, of Zanesville, Ohio, remembering what a tooth for maple syrup and sugar George always carried with him during the days of his callow youth, shipped him two gallons of the finest syrup and about 15 pounds of the best sugar from his camp. Mr. Epps remembered that the printers were boys once and have not gotten entirely over it yet, and dropped in with a sample of the sugar, which is the best we have seen since we left the old home of our father. If some way could be invented to make such sugar from the sap of the pine and fir trees in this country it would be a richer strike than any in the Klondyke.

A millionaire once said that he never got any happiness out of his money. Wealth does not bring happiness as is evidenced by the Vanderbilts, Goulds, Thaws, steel magnates and others. But happiness consists rather in a contented mind with an abundance of good things to eat. Now if you will go to Lash, 207 South Jersey street and buy your household necessities you will certainly be happy for he has some of the good things to eat.

The St. Johns tile and brick company have machines for making both clay and cement bricks and are turning out a fine product. There will be a great demand for their product this summer in St. Johns. The building which is even now quite active has hardly begun and there will be things doing within the next month.

L. H. Huggins, one of Hood River's prosperous merchants was in the city Tuesday and gladdened the Review man's heart by a visit. Mr. Huggins also operates a lumber yard at The Dalles and buys much of his lumber of the St. Johns Lumber company. St. Johns will be selling more than lumber to the inland towns in the not distant future and we are happy to extend the glad hand to Mr. Huggins.

J. B. Sennett an old friend of J. F. Hendricks was in the office Tuesday for a short visit. Mr. Sennett recently traded a farm in Eastern Oregon for St. Johns property near Cedar Park and is now improving the same. He is a graduate from a college of optometry and has a diploma as Doctor of Optics. He is considering taking room with Mr. Butterworth where he will be able to serve our people with as much skill as can be obtained of the specialists in Portland. We hope this arrangement can be made as it will be most convenient for our people, who like the writer, may be obliged to wear a plate glass front.

Business Facts and Figures

It is generally conceded that a plain statement of facts is the strongest argument. Business houses do not often divulge the amount of their sales, but for the purpose of convincing you that Bonham & Currier are doing business along right lines, we are going to break the rule. Our year begins Sept. 1.

Our Shoe sales from

Sept. 1, 1905, to March 1, 1906, were $871.27
Sept. 1, 1906, to Mar. 1, 1907, were $1,766.86
Sept. 1, 1907, to Mar. 1, 1908, were $2,541.64

This is not a great volume of business, but the increase in Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishings and our Grocery Department has been almost equally as great.

We think no further argument is necessary to let you know we are handling the right sort of Shoes and the right sort of Furnishings, Dry Goods and Groceries, and we are treating our trade right.
