Dirt is flying in good shape on the trolley line across the creek.

The dust on the streets is about four inches deep and still rising. It would be a good idea to oligate a f.w.

Miss Beatrice Bach, of Salida, Col. is visiting at the home of her sister Mrs. J. C. Alken, of this city. Miss Bach thinks St. Johns is just the ticket.

Mrs. Stephenson and daughter of Cullin, Wash. are guests at the residence of E. S. Wright on South Hayes. They will remain here for an indefinite period.

Lawrence Thorndyke, the irrepressible one from Astoria, was in this city Wednesday greeting old friends and incidentally renewing acquaintanceship with his beloved.

Mr. Geo. F. Stivers of Walnut Park was in the city Wednesday looking into St. Johns property with a view to investing. He gained a very favorable impression from his visit.

Miss Stella Bennett, sister of Chas. Bennett the butcher, died in St. Vincent hospital Monday and was buried in Lane Fir cemetery yesterday afternoon. She was 15 years of age.

Deputy Assessor North called on our new typesetter last week and made the statement that there would not likely be any change in the valuations of St. Johns property this year.

Contractor Jackson is finishing the work on Philadelphia street between Ivanhoe and Hayes. The ground is very dry and hard, plowing up in big chunks, and would have worked much easier a few days ago.

Miss Maud Tyner won the first prize at the Grocers' picnic at Bonnyville this week in the girls race for lassies under 15. They say Maud ran like a scared rabbit. The prize was a case of canned pine apples.

Mrs. Wright, mother of Mrs. Judge Greene, who has been visiting her daughter during the past few days returned to their ranch home on the Cowlitz near Castle Rock, the first of the week. Miss Jennie Greene accompanied her.

Mr. E. Angel and son, Ernest, of Ukiah, Mich., arrived in St. Johns Wednesday. Ernest was here last fall and now brings his father with him and we hope they will be so charmed with our little city that they will secure permanent homes here.

C. R. Thompson, who has been Mr. Jackson's right hand man in the St. Johns pharmacy has recently acquired an interest in the same. Mr. Thompson is a pleasant gentleman, a good companion, and has made a wide circle of friends since coming to St. Johns.

The St. Johns Clothing House has gone into oblivion. The attempt to make a success of the clothing business in St. Johns with a small stock is a doubtful proposition. It takes a large assortment to keep the people from going to Portland to buy their clothing.

F. M. Phillips has resigned his position as clerk at Bonham & Currier's grocery store. He is a No. 1 man and his smiling countenance will be greatly missed by the many patrons of that popular store. W. Scott Kellogg will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Phillips.

Robert Fields, an old neighbor of I. H. Weimer, of Douglas, Kansas, arrived in St. Johns Sunday morning and has been taking in the city and country since Mr. Weimer has had opportunity to show him. He is very much pleased with the country and will most likely make his home here and grow up with the country. We will certainly be glad to welcome him from the land of blizzards and cyclones.

Miss Anna Geraldine Regester came to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Regester, of University Park. Although she did not bring her clothes with her, we understand the young lady has come to stay. We wish the young lady might be induced to come to St. Johns to make her home. Oh, by the way, we failed to mention that she came via the stork route, Thursday. May her shadow never grow less.

Mrs. Byerlee has gone and left us, and we are a poor, lone, straw-widow for the time being. We have this consolation, that what is our gain is someone else's loss, and we will endeavor to bear the affliction with calm fortitude when she returns. We trust our friends in St. Johns will remember the widow and the orphan (Lavin is the orphan) in their adversity. Mrs. Byerlee will visit in Corvallis and vicinity for a few days and then bring our black-eyed daughter home with her when she returns.

New Idea Woman's Magazine can be had at the St. Johns Pharmacy.

If you want a refrigerator now is the time to buy it. See Calef's new ad and you will know why.

Chas. Metzler, of Clearfield Penn., came to St. Johns last week and will locate here permanently.

Even the North End in Portland is tired of their dives and are making strenuous efforts to get rid of them.

Read Bonham & Currier's new ad in this issue. It contains some food for thought on the wet and dry question.

After a vacation of a few days, Arnold Unger has resumed business at his old cigar stand on Jersey street.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rossman returned Wednesday from a visit of two weeks with their daughter, Mrs. L. H. Nutting of Columbia City, Ore.

Mr. Salamond and wife of Sock Centre, Minn., arrived in St. Johns last evening and will make an extended visit with the former's brother, Gus Salamond on South Ivanhoe.

Charles and Roy Garlick left this week for the harvest fields of Sherman county, where Hatfield has been grafting the farmers. They will be gone during the remainder of the summer.

We are glad to call attention to the record of building permits issued by the recorder as shown elsewhere in this issue of the Review. It is not a bad showing for the dullist month in the year.

After corraling all the nickles possible, the merry-go-round has silently folded their tent and departed for pastures more verdant. The ice cream and confectionery people will now do an increased business.

C. J. (drydock) Johnson went to Carsons hot springs yesterday evening to soak for a few days. He has kcedbailed so many old barnacle covered boats lately that he thinks it time to go on the dock himself.

The saloon men of Portland are digging their graves wide and deep in defeating the exclusion ordinance for if they will not exclude the women from the saloons, the people will exclude the saloons from the city.

A warning against wearing abnormally large neck ties in the navy is the death of Joseph J. Henry. His tie caught in the training gear of his gun and he was drawn into the machinery and his neck was broken.

The carmen's day at the Oaks was all that the most exacting could ask. The weather was fine, and the attendance was something enormous. We are glad the boys were so successful. They are a hard working lot and deserve a good time once in a while.

Owing to the poor attendance at the Salem ball grounds, the game scheduled to take place there Sunday between the St. Johns and the Salem teams has been called off. It was forced by the Salem management that not enough money would be taken in to pay the expenses of the visiting club.

The young people of the Baptist Sunday school invite all young people not interested in any other class to meet with them next Sunday at 10 o'clock, as they have something new and interesting to propose to them.

John Keeler, teacher, Eva Clark, secretary.

It will be remembered that we made mention some time ago of the shooting of J. S. Wright, chief of police of Colville, Wash., by a man he was about to arrest. Mr. Wright died Wednesday July 22. He was a brother-in-law of Rev. F. L. Young, if we remember aright, and leaves several little children.

Those who have been attending the meetings of the city council will understand that they appreciate the importance of getting prompt action on the dock proposition. It will not be long now until those bonds will be drawing their six per cent, and every day after that until there is a revenue coming in it will be a losing proposition. Some of our people think the council is slow. If they were placed in the same position as the council, they might not be so swift themselves.

It is with sincere regret that we note the departure of C. T. Prall for the Fort Belknap Indian agency where he has secured employment in the government service as engineer in charge. Mr. Prall is a most genial, quiet, pleasant gentleman and has made a host of friends in the city who will sincerely regret his leaving St. Johns, and will wish him all the good that can come to a man who spends his time with the swashes. Mr. Prall deserves something better than to have to bury himself with the greasy redskins of the reservation.

Dr. L. S. Keller of Skagway, Alaska called at the Review office today and made the acquaintance of our new typesetter, and he is so pleased with the old girl that he will get one for his newspaper, the Daily Alaskan.

The bridge builders constructing the bridge across the Willamette cut the big traveller loose and let it fall into the river. This is their way of taking down the big fisework used in the construction of the bridge. This woodenwork was as high as the iron work and made great splash when it struck the water, throwing the spray as high as the top of the bridge. The bridge will be redy for use in a day or two, when it is said the work of widening the cut will be taken up again.

The Smith Premier Typewriter has widened its market until it includes the whole civilized world; has become the typewriter of over 300,000 operators and has, during 1906, broken every previous record of sales, because it has from the beginning best met every typewriter need.

THE tri-color feature of the Smith Premier Typewriter is recognized as the greatest improvement in modern typewriter construction—yet in providing it, none of the strong fundamental features, for which the Smith Premier has always been noted, have been sacrificed. Complete literature on request.

THE SMITH PREMIER TYPEWRITER COMPANY SYRACUSE, N. Y.

INTERESTING COMPARISONS

We are frequently asked how our present business compares with the same period of last year when the saloons were open.

For nineteen business days compared with the same period of last July our sales have increased $195.00. The collections have exceeded those of last year by $295. But our outstanding accounts on July 1st exceeded those of last year on July 1st, so that the collections have at this time fallen off three per cent.

If interest continues to be manifested enough to justify us in paying for this space for the purpose we shall continue to publish comparisons from time to time. And in the meantime we are selling all the seasonable things in our grocery store, such as the delicious Sinclair hams and bacon, Dodson-Braun pickles, Tillamook cheese, Rocky Ford cantaloupes, water melons, lemons, oranges, peaches and berries; and in our Shoe and Dry Goods store we have canvas shoes, khaki clothes, straw hats and negligee shirts, and all our prices are right.

BONHAM & CURRIER

Keep Bright and You WILL KEEP BUSY

Electric Light is the magnet that draws trade. The bright store is the "hypnotic eye" of business. People can no more resist the attraction of a brilliant, Electrically lighted store than they can resist the clarion call of a brass band.

Is your competitor with the Electrically illuminated show windows, bright interior and sparkling Electric Sign getting an advantage over you? The moth never flutters around the unlighted candle! Up-to-date stores nowadays consider shop-window lighting a necessity, whether they remain open after dark or not. Competition forces modern methods.

A show window brilliantly illuminated with Electric light will make many a sale "the night before." Electric light compels attention, makes easy the examination of your display, shows goods in detail and fabrics in their true colors.

And don't neglect the Electric Sign. It is soliciting "tomorrow's" business every moment it is lighted—burning your name in the public mind. It is a solicitor that never becomes weary—never stops work—costs little.
