

RINK PEOPLE GENEROUS.

The people of the skating rink have been very generous in their treatment of the people of the Christian church and it is very highly appreciated by these people.

THE POULTRY YARD.

The shiftless poultryman will be caught napping. Peter Tumbledown thinks winter is a long way off yet, and no use bothering.

REMEMBER THIS.

You will spoil your nice china washing it in water that is too hot. Have the water fairly warm. Use a bit of soap and you are all right.

We wish to secure one or more canvassers in St. Johns, one in Linton, one or more in University Park to work for the Review.

The punk hard times do not materialize to a very alarming extent in Oregon as is evidenced by the standing of the banks at the close of business, September 23 issued in response to a call on the Portland bank:

SOCIALIST COLUMNS

These two columns have been leased by the Socialists of St. Johns. They will furnish and edit their own matter, and the editor of the Review will in no wise be responsible for anything that may appear each week under this heading.

This week we give the readers of the Review the basis of the socialist philosophy, the materialistic conception of history, in the words of Frederick Engels, who was for 49 years a co-worker of Karl Marx, the author of 'Capital'.

The materialist conception of history starts from the proposition that the production of the means to support human life, and next to production, the exchange of things produced is the basis of all social structure; that in every society that has appeared in history, the manner in which wealth is distributed and society divided into classes or orders, is dependent upon what is produced, how it is produced, and how the products are exchanged.

In the medieval stage of evolution of the production of commodities the question as to the owner of the product could not arise, the individual producer, as a rule, had from raw material belonging to himself and generally of his own handwork, produced it with his own tools, by the labor of his own hands or of his family.

Then came the concentration of the means of production of producers in large workshops and manufactories, this transformation into actual socialized means of production and socialized producers, but the socialized producers and means of production and the products were still treated after this change, just as they had been before, that is, as the means of production and the products of individuals, hitherto, the owner of the instruments of labor had himself appropriated the product, because, as a rule, it was his own product and the assistance of others was the exception.

On the one hand, perfecting of machinery made by competition compulsory for each individual manufacturer and complemented by a constantly growing displacement of laborers—in industrial reserve army—on the other hand unlimited extension of production also compulsory under competition for every manufacturer—on both sides, unheard of development of productive forces, excess of supply over production, glutting of the markets, crises every ten years, the vicious circle excess here, of means of production and products excess there, of laborers without employment, and without means of existence; but these two levers of production and of social well being are unable to work together, because the capitalist form of production prevents the productive forces from working and the products from circulating, unless they are first turned into capital—which they very superabundantly prevent.

The contradiction has grown into an absurdity. The mode of production rises in rebellion against the form of exchange. The bourgeoisie are convicted of incapacity further to manage their own social productive forces.

Solution of the contradictions. The proletariat seizes the public power, and by means of this transforms the socialized means of production into public property by this act, the proletariat frees the means of production from the character of capital they have thus far borne and gives them to work itself out. Socialized production upon a predetermined plan becomes henceforth possible. The development of production makes the existence of different classes of society therefore an anachronism in production, as anarchy in social production vanishes the political authority of the state dies out. Man at last master of his own form of social organization, becomes at the same time the lord over nature, his own master—free. To accomplish this act of universal emancipation is the historical mission of the modern proletariat, to thoroughly comprehend the historical conditions and thus the very nature of this act, to impart to the now oppressed proletarian class a full knowledge of the conditions and of the meaning of the momentous act it is called upon to accomplish, this is the task of the theoretical expression of the proletarian movement, scientific socialism.

PORTLAND BACKING.

The following from the Portland Daily Abstract, will give a little idea of what kind of backing Portland has in the matter of exports and of commerce in general. It also shows our people, the great mass of exports of which a large slice rightfully belongs to St. Johns and could be secured by a little systematic effort on the part of our people if headed by a live organization of our business men.

September proved a record breaker with a vengeance. There was exported from Portland double the quantity of wheat than has ever before been shipped in September in the entire history of the Pacific coast exports.

There is no reason we should not have a heavy shipment over our new dock immediately it is completed, but we will not get it we sit still with our thumbs in our mouths and do nothing after it. There is a rumor and pretty well founded, too that there will be no depot built in St. Johns. This is a matter that our business men should look into. It is absolutely necessary that our business men get together and present this matter to the railroads in a forcible manner if we expect to receive any concessions from them.

Pointers for our Patrons.

Old papers for sale at this office. Our rule is the best stock and best work for our patrons. We do not allow any printer to put out nicer work than we do and we put the best stock into our jobs.

The difference between poor stock and first class stock on a job is a small item when you consider the value of the job. It is the price of a satisfied customer. It is better to make 50 cents less on a job and have a customer who will come back, than to use the flimsy stock, make the extra 50 cents and lose your customer. That is the way we figure it.
