What do you know about that fall of snow?

The National Tea store announces a closing out sale.

Fred Fane, formerly of Greenpoint, paid our city a visit Monday.

Miss Amy Sevens of this city spent several days very pleasantly at Cascade Locks last week.

C. Coshaw, recently a business man in Hood River, was among the throng of visitors in St. Johns last Saturday.

J. T. Kinser was called to his farm or home at Silverton last week on account of the serious illness of his brother.

A good way to start the new year right is to subscribe for the Review. It would be a dollar invested to good advantage.

W. L. Markie has returned to his ranch at White Salmon after a several weeks' sojourn with his brother in this city.

Mrs. M. H. Osgood has re-opened the Home Bakery on Philadelphia street, and is now prepared to handle the trade in this line.

Dr. Holland, formerly located in St. Johns, is now in a Portland hospital, where he is undergoing treatment for appendicitis.

Marvin Johns, who has been employed in a tinsorial shop at Ranier, has resigned his position there and returned to St. Johns.

Thomas Cochran, who had the misfortune to break his collar bone several weeks ago, is once more able to get his arm out of the sling.

John McNeil and Carl Schurtz have been spending several days in Yamhill county in the pursuit of some attractive farming property.

Miss Sarah McKinley, who holds a clerical position in the city recorder's office, is able to be around again after a severe siege of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Wright and family returned Sunday evening from a visit of a week or ten days with Mrs. Wright's relatives at Catlin, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cambell entertained a party of their Portland friends on New Year's day. The affair was a pleasing one for all concerned.

The days are beginning to visibly lengthen, and it will not be long until one can eat his dinner (or supper as an Easterner would call it) by daylight.

The Electric Theatre has had some changes and improvements made to the exterior of their amusement hall. This resort is getting to be quite a popular one with our people.

About one thousand Red Cross stamps were disposed of in this city during the holidays. Credit for this satisfactory showing is due Mrs. F. W. Valentine for her zeal in disposing of them.

J. F. Lawrence of Livingstone, Mont., is visiting at the home of his nephew, E. C. Hurlbert, in this city. Mr. Lawrence, like all strangers who visit here, is very favorably impressed with St. Johns.

W. B. Rust of Arbor Lodge was in our city Saturday looking for a suitable investment. He already owns some fine real estate here, and is anxious to add to his holdings. He claims that there is no better place on the coast for an investment than in St. Johns.

Alderman Windle had a corps of workmen at work on Burlington street Saturday diverting the water that drained off Hayes street and flowed down Burlington. It now follows Hayes street to the north end thus saving much damage to lower Burlington street.

Tom Glover has moved his furniture and fixtures into the room on the corner of Philadelphia and Ivanhoe streets. The location formerly occupied by Knight & Glover was too large to conveniently observe the regulations and restrictions imposed by the council.

Department Commander S. F. Blythe of Hood River, in company with C. A. Williams, Assistant Adjutant General, of Portland, were in our city last Saturday installing G. A. R. officers. Commander Blythe is one of Oregon's grand old men, and is a general favorite wherever he goes.

Mrs. R. R. Crabb, of Parkville, Mo., is a guest at the home of her brother J. S. Downey, on North Hayes street. It has been eighteen years since Mr. Downey has seen his sister, and the meeting was a very pleasant one for both. Mrs. Crabb is highly pleased with St. Johns and hopes to make this her future home. Her husband expects to join her here Saturday.

Harry York is reported on the sick list.

Mrs. C. H. Thayer is reported to be quite ill with peritonitis.

M. S. Cobb made a business trip to Pendleton the first of the week.

R. E. Esson, of Hood River, made a pleasant visit with his brother, Recorder Esson, this week.

A. D. McDonald, the sash and door merchant, has resumed work on his new structure on Jersey street.

Roy Ingledue, formerly with the West Coast laundry has accepted a position in Bonham & Currier's grocery, vice W. Scott Kellogg resigned.

W. A. Hufschmidt, who had been conducting a bakery at Linton for some time past, has purchased the St. Johns restaurant on Jersey street and assumed charge of same.

W. P. Adams is erecting a handsome residence near the brick yard. His lease has run out on the Gatten farm at the north end, and he intends conducting a dairy business for himself in the near future.

William Wooten of Pleasant Hill spent the holidays with his daughter, Mrs. Crane, and family in this city. It was a complete but very agreeable surprise to Mrs. Crane, as she had no expected the visit at that time.

The new German Baptist church is rapidly nearing completion at the corner of Ivanhoe street and St. Johns avenue. The new edifice will be a neat and substantial one and a great convenience for the many German Baptists who reside here.

The rumor is current on the streets that Uncle Daniel Calkins has passed over the Great Divide. Up to the time of going to press the report could not be verified, but it is the earnest hope of his host of friends here that he is still in the land of the living.

The Journal's New Year number was a thing of beauty and joy forever. It was a stroke of enterprise that will redound to the benefit of Portland and the Peninsula, and was greatly appreciated by that paper's readers. Many sent copies of the edition to friends in the East.

Harvey Smith, who is associated with his brother in the barber business at Ranier, spent Sunday with his family in St. Johns. Rumor has it that Smith Bros. will open up a shop in this city in the near future. Harvey is a first class workman and is popular with the St. Johns people.

D. L. Page made a business trip to Seattle this week in the interest of the Oregon Fluke Food Co. While there he purchased for the company a nut food factory which had been in operation there for some time. This gives the Fluke Food Co. a clean sweep of the entire Northwest, and they made their first shipment of goods to Seattle Wednesday.

Work on the concrete sidewalks which were proposed to be laid on Richmond street has been postponed until the ground settles. This street is destined to be one of the most important in the city, and the citizens owning property along it are wise in deciding to have concrete walks laid instead of wooden ones. Good streets and sidewalks are great advertisements for a city.

H. E. Knight surprised many of his friends by taking unto himself a wife during the holidays. The bride was Miss Ada Looney an estimable young lady who has many friends in St. Johns. The happy young couple have gone to house keeping at 316 Gresham street. A large circle of friends join in wishing them a long, prosperous and happy journey over life's stormy sea.

If you have a chance of winning the five simoleons when the big clock stops at Bonham & Currier's you should not fail to be on hand promptly at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, because if you are not there you are not in it. The clock is so arranged that there are 60,000 distinct periods of time on its face, which reduces the chance of two or more having exactly the same time to a minimum.

The work of opening up the new tract between St. Johns and Maegley Junction is going on rapidly. Charles Foas has been clearing a large tract of land there and N. A. Gee has been opening up a number of streets, and things look like the beginning of a new city in that neighborhood. Three or four houses have already been built and occupied. The region in and about Maegley will grow rapidly from now on.

The citizens of St. Johns retired in Oregon Monday night and awoke in Nebraska next morning. It appears counted for anything. The beautiful snow, over which so many poets rave, dropped down in copious quantities Tuesday and Wednesday, and gave our people a taste of winter life in the far East. Many old relics of a colder climate were in evidence on our streets in the shape of ear lugs, bear skin coats and fur caps. A little bit of the whiteness is all right occasionally.

Miss Alma Mae is seriously ill at her home on Richmond street with pneumonia.

Mrs. Florence Rucker now presides behind the counter at Bonham & Currier's dry goods department.

Mrs. W. L. Mills departed Sunday evening for a six weeks' sojourn with her parents and friends in Michigan.

Otis E. Learned, wife and young son are on a visit with the parents of Mrs. Learned at Skamakawan this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepard entertained a jolly party of thirteen at a New Year's dinner. Nothing superstitious about Richard.

The union services announced to take place at the Evangelical church Sunday afternoon have been postponed indefinitely.

Norman Scales has left for Los Angeles, Cal., for the benefit of his health. It is hoped that he will return vastly improved by the change of climate.

A bear is reported to have frightened some of the children on the hills across the river recently, an item that some of our nimrods should make a note of.

Mrs. H. S. Magone entertained the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon in her usual pleasing manner. Light refreshments were served and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

J. Noco, formerly merchant tailor in this city, circulated among his old friends and acquaintances here the first of the week. Mr. Noco was born in the vicinity of the great earthquake in Italy and is familiar with the scenes and surroundings where the awful disaster took place. The calamity, therefore, has more significance to him than to most people on the coast.

Last week Mrs. Mae Perkins Wright of Dallas came home to visit parents and brother. She reports enjoyable and busy times. She teaches vocal, dramatic art and physical culture in the college there, drills and sings with quartet choir in church and contemplates organizing a male chorus for evening service. She strongly advises any one with small means but desiring an education to go to Dallas College.

F. E. Phillips, of Buffalo, N. Y., brother of our genial F. M. Phillips, arrived in St. Johns the day before the blizzard. He came with his family to make their home in this land of sunshine and winter roses. He says he has corresponded with his brother for four years about this land of promise and unsurpassed climate. He is here, sitting by the fire, looks out of the window occasionally, shakes his head as if wondering if all Oregonians are prevaricators.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

Beginning Sunday night, January 10, there will be a series of special services at the Baptist church. Rev. C. L. Owen of Astoria, Oregon, will be the preacher.

While Rev. John Bentzien, superintendent of Missions from Portland, is at present the acting pastor it is the plan as soon as possible to get a pastor who can give his whole time to the interests of the church. Mr. Owen is quite a favorite with the congregation having preached for them recently on two occasions. They have extended a hearty and unanimous call to him to become their pastor. He has not accepted the call but the members hope that he may do so later. In any case they are glad to secure his services for a series of special meetings.

GAVE A BANQUET.

The Glory class of the St. Johns Baptist church gave a banquet on New Year's eve, having secured over 50 members. A musical program was given, consisting of a violin solo by Earl Crouchley, a cornet solo by Archie Maher, a recitation by Mrs. Keeler, and two vocal solos, one by Miss Gertrude Baldwin, the other by Leslie Wood. From the applause that followed each number it was evident that the program was enjoyed by all present.

After the class was seated at the supper table Rev. Bentzien gave an address in which he complimented the class on its success in securing members. After supper toasts were given to the past, present and future of the class, and also to the boys and the girls. Ethel Crosby.

BONHAM & CURRIER

Keep Bright and You WILL KEEP BUSY

Electric Light is the magnet that draws trade. The bright store is the "hypnotic eye" of business. People can no more resist the attraction of a brilliant, electrically lighted store than they can resist the clarion call of a brass band.

Is your competitor with the Electrically illuminated show windows, bright interior and sparkling Electric Sign getting an advantage over you? The moth never flutters around the unlighted candle! Up-to-date stores nowadays consider shop-window lighting a necessity, whether they remain open after dark or not. Competition forces modern methods.

A show window brilliantly illuminated with Electric light will make many a sale "the night before." Electric light compels attention, makes easy the examination of your display, shows goods in detail and fabrics in their true colors.

And don't neglect the Electric Sign. It is soliciting "tomorrow's" business every moment it is lighted—burning your name in the public mind. It is a solicitor that never becomes weary—never stops work—costs little.

Last Sabbath at the Congregational church we heard a No. 1 Gospel sermon from Brother Nelson. It was one that should and did touch every one present. At the close he read a beautiful poem on the necessity of gathering sheaves while it was day—as "the night cometh wherein no man can work". It also spoke of the danger of spending the day in dreaming when the harvest was white for reaping. Is not that good advice for St. Johns? M. E. P.
