Local News.

The best way is to stick together. The Central Bar is undergoing some extensive repairs. Ed. L. Stockton, after another week's siege with the grip, is bobbing around again as usual. A new moving picture concern is opening up for business in the Holbrook block on Jersey street. The J. T. Murphy house on South Jersey has been treated to a handsome new coat of paint. J. Masters has purchased the Ward confectionery store on Jersey street, adjoining the postoffice. Miss Mabel Lee of Kent, Oregon, is a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. H. Massey, in this city. The Holbrook block, for the first time in a long period, is now fully occupied, the last vacant store room being taken this week.

Always something to give away. This time it is a beautiful desk. Come in and see it. Ask us how you may get it. North Bank Pharmacy. The status of the public fountain is still the same. The cost of its installation is not prohibitive, and its need is great. Why not get busy, gentlemen of the council? Dan Williamson has purchased a house and lot at the corner of Portland boulevard and Fessenden street from the Smith-Wagoner Co. The deal was made through the agency of S. L. Dobie. Strangler Smith will be here the first of the week to start training exercises preparatory to his wrestling match with an Eastern man in Portland May 12th. Prof. Ely will have the Strangler in charge. Miss Grace Kent, Mrs. Hood, Miss VanLandingham, Miss Ehrke and Miss Bowen, all Portland teachers, spent Sunday with A. C. Gesler and family and enjoyed a fine dinner on the west side of the river. Several autos were stopped Sunday for exceeding the speed limit through the city limits, and the city exchequer was somewhat swollen as a result. Chaffeurs should remember that we have a few regulations that must be respected in this city.

The street cleaning brigade has been doing valiant work the past week, and as a result the business streets look as bright as a new dollar. A little care about throwing old papers and litter upon the streets would aid greatly in keeping up appearances. Gail Perrine has secured the contract for the brick work on the dry kiln and of setting the boiler and boiler house for the new veneer factory of the Portland Manufacturing Co. Gail is rapidly following in his father's footsteps as a workman of the highest degree of perfection. Construction of the bell tower at the city hall has begun, and the advice and suggestions tendered the contractor by the eyewitnesses watching progress of the work are numerous, varied and amazing, and reminds one of the advice advanced when a crowd is surrounding a sick horse. The small dwelling just north of the school house on Jersey street is being moved a couple of feet north, as it has been extending that much over on a 25-foot lot belonging to H. E. Wagoner. It has been rumored that a new brick block was to go up on this lot, but we have been unable to verify the report. A farewell party was given at the home of Miss Hulda Nordstrom, Portsmouth Ave. Friday evening, April 22d, in honor of the Misses Shanks, who expect to leave early in May. A handsome parlor lamp was presented to Miss Mary, bride to be, who is soon to wed Carl H. Goschie, of Silverton, Oregon. Miss Maggie, who has been in poor health for some time, will spend the summer in Lewiston, Idaho, in the hopes of recovering from her illness. Her mother, Mrs. Sarah Shanks, will accompany her.

Doesn't your suit look shabby? Why have it that way when you can have it Cleaned and Pressed on short notice at the St. Johns Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing Works. Spare your surplus and have it be saving is far better than to spend it all and take it out in craving. The First National Bank will spare you those craving hours. It compounds interest every six months. Baptist church: Morning worship 11 a. m. subject, "What Constitutes a New Testament Church?" At 8 p. m. Rev. J. R. Knodell will speak on "The 1910 Temperance Issue." Sunday school 10 a. m. B. Y. P. U. 7 p. m. It is well worth your while to read the articles that appear from time to time in the Review. The Dr. has a particularly happy and pleasing style, and even the driest subjects become keenly interesting under his breezy manipulation. Read what he says on "flies" On the evening of April 27, Rev. C. L. Owens and wife were greeted by a number of voices singing on their front porch. The members of the Baptist church had learned that this was their wedding anniversary and took this occasion to give them a surprise party. These genial visitors came in heavy laden with flowers, ice cream, cake and other good things. The ladies' aid society also presented to Mr. and Mrs. Owen a handsome hand-made couch robe. The Ladies' Home Journal May Issue

Feminine Beauty counts for nothing if good taste in Dress is lacking, and good taste in simplicity. Read what Mrs. Ralston says in the May issue of THE JOURNAL about "Good Taste in Clothes for Girls." This article and the Ladies' Home Journal Patterns, and the Dress Materials and accessories on sale at our store will solve your biggest summer problem. A page of design "Lingerie Pillow for a Girl's Room," is in the May issue. This article and illustrations make the work easy.

Have You Been reading Lady Morton's "Your Home?" Then by all means read the epilogue to the new novel by Mrs. Humprey Ward, which is just finished: "If a Girl is to be Married" she will find the page under this title well worth her while. The busy mother who makes the clothes for herself and children will find a big help in Mrs. Ralston's answers to questions of general interest about dress. We have the Ladies' Home Journal Patterns and materials necessary to carry out these styles.

Special attention is called to our new line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Pumps and Oxfords.
