Far Better as It Is.
Visitor (in Washington)—Why is it that the capital of the United States can't support a better baseball club?
Resident—My dear sir, it's providential that we haven't a first-class ball team here. If we had, by George, there wouldn't be any business transacted either in Congress or the White House during the entire league season!

Years of Suffering

Ostarr and Blood Disease—Doctors Failed to Cure.
Miss Mabel F. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette St., Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarrh and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person and recommend Hood's to any one suffering from catarrh."

Poise.
When you lose your temper, when you procrastinate, when you get nervous, excited, when you are blue and disappointed, when you worry, you lose much of your energy, your efficiency; you cannot bring the whole, complete, positive man to your task. A discordant, troubled, unbalanced mind is in no condition to create, produce. It is negative, and a negative mind cannot produce.

Never mind what others do; run your machine, think your own thought, live your own life. Let others fret and worry, if they will; keep your poise, your serenity. Do not imitate, follow, pretend or pose. Be fearless, self-reliant, independent. Be yourself.—Success Magazine.

Bad BLOOD

Before I began using Cascarets I had a bad complexion, pimples on my face, and my food was not digested as it should have been. Now I am entirely well, and the pimples have all disappeared from my face. I can truthfully say that Cascarets are just as advertised; I have taken only two boxes of them.

Just a Chance.
"Yes, you offer the property low enough, Mr. Yipsley," said the real estate agent, "but it will be best for you to give some satisfactory reason for wanting to sell."
"The reason why I want to sell is that the property is all run down. It doesn't bring me 2 per cent on the money invested in it. I'm not offering it at a sacrifice. I don't need the money. I want to get rid of it, but I am asking all its worth."
"Um—well, I'll list it for you, Mr. Yipsley," said the real estate agent. "It's barely possible that the novelty of the thing may attract some equally cranky purchaser."

The Dishonest Marriage Service.
Sir Charles McLaren is championing in the English Commons a series of bills to reorganize the marriage service with a view to making it honest. The High Church service enjoins: "Wives, submit yourselves unto your husbands as unto the Lord," which, Sir Charles says, ladies never have any intention of doing, and which, Sir Charles' wife says, involves an arrogation to the men of Godlike quality which she regards as a characteristic bit of masculine buncombe. Further on the service contains the man's vow: "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," which Sir Charles and Mrs. Sir Charles declare is just a plain lie. He never means it for fifteen minutes after the knot is tied.—Success Magazine.

How the Trapper Cures Snow Blindness and Tropic Grip.

"Outside of battling with weather conditions the serious troubles encountered by Maine fur traders are snow blindness and influenza," said Benjamin G. Flood, who is engaged in the fur business and is an expert trapper. He was talking with a Washington Herald writer.

"When one becomes snow blind from long tramping above scaled and glaring drifts and the outside world is made up of alternating bars of flame and darkness the sufferer whittles two broad disks of tough spruce wood until they are thin, cuts a transverse slit in it to fit directly over the line of vision and goes wandering about in the semidarkness until he recovers, perhaps assisting nature to some extent by bathing his inflamed eyes in a decoction of witch hazel bark secured from bushes which grow beside the camp."

"For influenza or grip the trapper employs the old Indian remedy. It consists of digging a circular hole in the snow, fencing it about with stout sticks stuck on end, filling the sides of the hole with heated stones, throwing the camp blanket over the sticks, wetting down the hot stones in cold water and finally getting inside and remaining until almost parboiled. The patient also drinks quarts of strong and hot hemlock tea, and if that fails tries arbor vitae or cedar tea, that is even stronger."

"In case all cures fail," added Mr. Flood, "as is not infrequently the case, the victim dies in his blankets and often remains there for a year or longer for the wild squirrels to snicker at and for some prowling wolverine wanderer to find and bury with homely tenderness, taking the store of furs in payment for the obsequies. It is estimated that 15 per cent of the solitary trappers perish in the woods every winter."

CRUDE OLD MONARCH.

Lord Alexis, Who Died in Exile Recently, a Barbic Type.

Nord Alexis, former president of Haiti, who died at Kingston, Jamaica, while in exile, lived in barbaric splendor surrounded by officers who had all they could do to walk about, so laden were they with gold lace. His guards are reported to have been constantly sleeping in the rooms of the comic opera palace, the furnishings of which were imported from abroad at unheard-of expense. Alexis himself wore a uniform of glaring green and gold. He had polished manners and spoke excellent French, the New York Sun says. Here is a description of the personal appearance during the last days of his rule:

"His face was black as black could be. It was far more Ethiopian than the average negro in the north. The profile was almost triangular and the chin dropped straight off. Behind his gold spectacles his eyes were sunken and the whites were discolored to a dirty brown."

There were incessant plots and uprisings against his rule, but it was not until December, 1908, that any kind of effectual resistance was made. Then the people arose in a body and thrust him out. A revolutionary army had possession of about half the republic. At last the people of Port au Prince suddenly rose one morning, the administration buildings were seized and mobs surged around the rocco palace calling upon the old man inside to come out and be killed. He watched them from an upper window for a day. He was game and would have fought to the death, but the foreign consuls urged surrender. So with a few attendants he drove in the carriage of the French consul through the streets to a waiting French schoolship while the people spat at him and cursed him. He seemed more overcome by their "ingratitude" than by the loss of his power. Leaving the carriage, he left a bag of gold in it said to amount to $20,000. This the mob looted. In the course of his exile the deposed president came to this country and remained a few months. There was a very persistent belief among those who knew Alexis best that he was a believer in voodooism and that the cruelty in the man's nature was a religion with him. It is hardly doubtful that he was an adherent of the savage African rites.

Nothing New to Him.
His Host—I have some curioesities upstairs I should like to show you. Did you ever see a real genuine, old time Toledo blade?
Mr. Pneuritch—Gosh, yes; many a time! I've seen the Memphis Scimitar, too. In the days when I was a cub printer I worked a while for both of 'em.—Chicago Tribune.

An Expert.
Prim Aunt—My dear nephew, were you wise in the choice of a wife? Can she cook? Can she make a good stew?
Nephew—She can make a stew all right. The only trouble is that she always puts me in it.—Baltimore American.

One of Its Misses.
"Tommy," asked the teacher, "mention some of the uses of pepper."
"Pepper," said Tommy, after a period of profound reflection, "is a good thing not to put on a red hot stove."

THE MATTER EXPLAINED.

"Why do they say as smart as a steel trap?" asked the talkative boarder. "I never could see anything particularly intellectual about a steel trap."
"A steel trap is called smart," explained the elderly person in his sweetest voice, "because it knows exactly the right time to shut up."
More might have been said, but in the circumstances it would have seemed unfeeling.—London Tit-Bits.

NOT HER FAULT.

Mrs. Lapping was expressing her regret that she had been unable, on account of illness, to be present at the funeral of a neighbor.
"I always feel," she said, "that I ought to attend the obsequies of a friend, but I just couldn't go."—Chicago Tribune.
