The Analysis.

"Did you have the soil of your back yard analyzed by the agricultural department?"

"Yes. They said it consisted largely of glass, tin and putty, with traces of builder's lime, and suggested that it might do to raise a mortgage on."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Doctor Explains.

Deacon Giles—Doctor, there's a question I have been wanting to ask you. In what language did the ass speak to Balaam?

The Rev. Dr. Fourthly—In its own language. Balaam had been making an ass of himself and he had no trouble in understanding.

Its Distinguishing Feature.

Sprockett—You've talked a good deal about your new automobile. What is there so specially attractive about it?

Sparker—When I come along with it this afternoon in front of your place of business just you take a good look at that girl on the front seat.

Sometimes we interpret too literally. "I want to learn to make jelly," said the newly installed housewife. "Is it hard?"

"Oh, Lord, no, mum!" replied the cook, with supreme pity. "It's soft."—Judge.

Worms

"Cascarets are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape-worm 45 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Preck, of Millersburg, Dauphin Co., Pa. I am quite a worker for Cascarets. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood." Chas. H. Condon, Lewiston, Pa., (Mifflin Co.)

Youthful Taste.

"Well," interrupted the small son of the guest, setting down his cup, "somebody's stung you with a sour cow."—Toledo Blade.

Not Particularly Impressed.

Mr. Upsome—You had a good time seeing the Riviera while you were abroad, I presume.

Mr. Struckett-Ritch—Er—yes, but one performance was enough for me. I've seen it played lots better right here in Cincinnati.—Chicago Tribune.

Thought Quickly.

"What is a totem pole?" his wife asked.

"A totem pole," he said, thinking fast, "is the rail—or pole—on which an objectionable citizen is ridden—or toted—out of the community."—Buffalo Express.

WHEN FACING DEATH

ST. LOUIS ARCHITECT'S HELPER TELLS HOW IT FEELS.

Odd Things Came to His Mind as He Thought He Would Surely Fall From Tall Building.

St. Louis, Mo.—Have you ever faced death?

Do you know what it means to be confronted by the grim destroyer, what great peril will do to your nervous system? Probably you have had some close calls in your day and know something of the emotions of a person who thinks his time has come. If not, the following incident related by George Bush of this city may give you an idea of the thrill of facing death:

"Being an architect's assistant, it was my duty to measure buildings which were to be altered or enlarged, and one windy day I went to see one of these, which was a three-story and basement brick house with the usual area and railings in front of it. Adjoining this was a little higher building and it was necessary for me to get the exact dimensions of the brick wall and chimney that projected above the roof of the house I was measuring.

"I found a very large and heavy skylight in the attic, which required all my strength to push up and out to open. It was held open by a pivoted stick of wood and by climbing through the opening I saw that I could stretch myself out on the roof and by holding fast to the edge of the skylight opening with my right hand I could reach out with my left and measure the gable wall with my six-foot folding rule.

"I was sprawled out in this manner, face down on the slate roof, with my left arm and the rule extended at full length, when I suddenly became conscious that the wind had shaken the skylight loose from the stick that held it open and that it was falling shut. If I did not withdraw my hand instantly it would catch and crush it. If I pulled my hand out I would fall.

"It occurred to me that it might be possible to pull out my right hand and insert my left, as it would be better to lose my left hand than my right. I also discussed with myself the possibility of being able to hold my place if I withdrew two or three fingers and sacrificed the others; but I concluded that they would probably be cut clean off by the edge of such a heavy skylight and that I should slide down to the street anyway.

"This idea of the insufficiency of mangled fingers to support my weight on such a sloping roof suggested that it might be better to stick my arm into the opening and that perhaps the injury to it might not be so severe as to require amputation.

"As well as I can remember, the outcome of my deliberations was a determination to change hands and to sacrifice the left instead of the right. I had no sooner come to this conclusion than it struck me that there would not be time to make the change and that I might lose my hold altogether. It seemed to me that I had already changed my opinion as to the respective merits of the two hands at least a dozen times.

"All this time, remember, the skylight was falling shut. As I look back at it it seems incredible that I did not spend at least half an hour thinking over the pros and cons of the situation, but it must have been less than a fifth of a second. My final resolve was a determination to hold on, as there was no time to change hands, and to trust to the shreds of my mangled fingers to hold me on the roof.

"But when the crash came and the skylight actually fell shut my hand was not in the opening. I was sliding down the roof on my way to the street below.

"The edge was at least ten feet below me and I was gaining speed at every foot.

"I distinctly remember the railing around the area and also the absence of any cornice on the eave of the roof—nothing but a rusty old drip gutter. The thing I could not remember, although I made desperate efforts to do so, was whether or not that area railing had spikes in it.

"I knew I should fall directly upon those railings and the spikes bothered me. The minuteness with which I recalled everything about the house—its number, the alterations that were made in it, the sketches we had prepared, the new ideas we had talked over—all these things were reviewed in the effort to recall in connection with one or other of them something that would answer the question, Were there spikes on that railing or not?

"I suddenly became conscious that I was no longer sliding down the roof. It was exactly like waking out of a dream. I then realized that my toes, in dropping over the edge of the slates, had caught on the little half-round iron gutter.

"In another minute the skylight was pushed up by people who had heard the crash and come up to see what was the matter. They soon hauled me to a place of safety."

WOMAN FIGHTS BIG SNAKE

Uses Buggy Whip in Battle to Save a Squab From the Reptile.

Petersburg, Ind.—Mrs. Wes Brenton, living three miles east of here, fought with a big snake measuring over four feet long, and finally killed it. She went to the barn with Miss Edith Vance to look at some squabs and found the big snake in a pigeon's nest. The reptile had swallowed one squab whole and another partly.

Mrs. Brenton grabbed a buggy whip and struck at the snake, which showed fight. She continued to ply the whip and sent Miss Vance to the house for a gun, with which she shot the snake twice. On cutting open the snake the last pigeon swallowed was found to be alive and it is being kept as a relic.

Margie's Pills.

One day small Margie was standing at the window when it began to hail. "Oh, look, mamma!" she exclaimed, "it's raining pills!"

NOT IN THE LEAST ALIKE.

Different Ways Taft and Roosevelt Have of Looking at Life.

Externally Taft is everything that Roosevelt is not, writes William Allen White. Taft begins each day by a weary, painful, perfunctory half-hour of gymnastic gyrations—a kind of canned exercise—which, having been opened and devoured, finishes his physical duty for the day. Roosevelt takes his exercise in the open, with the joy of a satyr in it. Roosevelt's mental processes are quick, intuitive and sure. Until he has made up his mind he is a most open-minded person. Taft works it out. He is never too sure to receive new evidence. Taft grapples a proposition, wrestles with it without resting and without fatigue until it is settled or solved. His joy is found at the end of the road. Roosevelt's joy is found in many roads. He wearies of monotony, and keeps divers interests in his mind, many things to employ him under the head of unfinished business. If Providence is slow in sending wars and rumors of wars—what ho, for the nature fakirs! Let us be up and doing.

Roosevelt has a marvelous moral sense; he has a detective's nose for finding iniquity in measures. Taft has a prodigious capacity for hard, consecutive work and an instinct for evidence founded on a broad, charitable affection for men, whom he knows as a hunter knows his dogs; and Taft finds the right of things, as Roosevelt finds it, but by a different path. Taft enjoys his meals. Roosevelt, absorbed in work or play, would eat hay and not know it. With Roosevelt culture is like bear hunting, trust fighting, muck raking or fence jumping, a rampant, gorgeous reaction upon his insatiable soul. With Taft culture is a sweet, indefinable mental and moral digestant tincture that colors his soul's eyes so that he may see a delightful world; or, to change the figure, it is an easy garment, a sort of drapery of his spiritual couch, which he wraps about him and lies down to "pleasant dreams."

Rivalry.

Squire Durnitt—I notice they's lots more funerals in your town than we have in Lonelyville.

Uncle Welby Gosh (of Drearyhurst)—Yes; people seem to kind o' hate the idea of bein' found dead in your village.

Not Guilty.

His Wife—You make it a business to pick me up whenever I forget myself and say something ungrammatical or mispronounce a word!

Prof. McGoozle—Make it a business, my dear Alvira? On the contrary, it is one of my recreations.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Caution.

"Why do you insist on my going with you when you ask father for my hand again?" asked Ethelinda.

"Because," answered Claude, "I don't want to give him any more opportunities to presume because there are no ladies present."

Better Than Usual.

Snodgrass—Did you have good luck on your last hunting trip?

Nymrodd—Better than usual; I was shot at only four times and hit only twice.

Hint at the Reason.

"The patient is much better today, nurse."

"Yes, doctor. You remember you didn't call yesterday."

THE KEYSTONE TO HEALTH IS HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

The process of digestion and assimilation depends entirely upon the condition of the stomach. If yours is weak take a short course of the Bitters. It prevents Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Cramps and Diarrhoea.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

The trouble with luck is it is mostly of the wrong kind.

Some homes always look as if the family has just moved in.

About the only vacation some people get is in interruptions in their work.

A woman is immensely flattered if her husband tells her she is "broad minded."

As soon as we get rid of one difficulty, we usually find another waiting to take its place.

The only people who really have a good time are those who enjoy being imposed upon.

Occasionally you meet a man who dislikes to attract attention. But such men are extremely rare.

There are a good many devils in the world, according to the man who always wants to give the devil his due.

The older people get, the less regard they have for looks in their "nighties," and the more for comfort.

Women use the same expressions of sorrow in telling of a disappointment in a dressmaker as of a disappointment in love.

A man was trying to speak of a pacifier to-day, and referred to him as "peaceifier." Why isn't "peaceifier" a good word?

HALL CAINE ON KING EDWARD.

Author Tells Story of Dead Monarch's Visit to Isle of Man.

During a visit to the Isle of Man, where I first had the honor to come to close quarters with him, he took obvious pleasure in the freedom with which the people who surrounded his person spoke to him, Hall Caine says in the New York Herald.

I remembered that one of our company said, pointing to the little gray town of Rumsey, which in a few hours had become transfigured into an oriental city, under the blaze of every available scrap of bunting.

"This beats coronation day in London, your majesty."

The King smiled and gracefully allowed himself to agree.

There were no police with him that day, no detectives and hardly any escort—only a gentleman in light bowler, two ladies in sailor hats, with a few carriages full of friends behind them and a number of bicycle journalists scudding at their side. It was a charming picture—a picture probably without parallel in any foreign country. It was the picture of a sovereign who felt absolutely safe in the love and protection of the people over whom he ruled.

"I trust we have not tired you to death, sir," I said.

He answered:

"It has been simply delightful. I've enjoyed it all immensely."

The King's memory was an extraordinary gift. Pointing to a monument on top of a hill, one of our party said:

"That is Albert Hill, sir. The tower is Albert Tower, so called after a picture of the prince consort's visit to Rumsey in 1847."

"I remember perfectly," said the King. "I was on the yacht with the Queen, but I was only 7 years of age and the Queen was ill, so I did not come ashore."

"Perhaps you remember, sir, what happened when the prince consort landed."

"I do. He had come unexpectedly. There was nobody to receive him and a local barber took him to the top of the hill." A memory that retains an incident of such little moment can never have failed Edward VII. in relation to greater events of his life.

FASHION HINT.

The wardrobe of the summer girl who hasn't one or more little dresses on the order of the one sketched here, is decidedly incomplete.

This is of light blue handkerchief linen, plentifully trimmed with Irish lace, but carried out very simply. The style is one that is not extreme but always dainty and becoming.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A plain salt gargle is very good for sore throat.

Gasoline is good to clean soft white leather shoes.

All frozen puddings are improved by being served with whipped cream.

Use ammonia and water rather than soap and water for washing marble.

Milk is good to wash white paint; cold tea equally good to wash colored paint.

In buying potatoes pick those that are firm and hard and have the fewest "eyes."

Left-over biscuit are much better cut in two and toasted than if merely warmed over.

When cooking mackerel or other salt fish, see that the skin side is placed uppermost.

To lengthen the life of a tin wash basin, paint is inside with any good quality of paint.

Clean zinc with kerosene, rubbed on with a soft cloth, and follow with boiling water.

A whisk broom that has outlived its usefulness can be shortened and made into a sink brush.

A few chopped almonds added to a custard or bread pudding will greatly improve its flavor.

A sprig of mint in the water in which potatoes or peas are boiled will add a piquant flavor.

His Master's Voice.

"I will not stand it, Doyle, and I give you to know quite plainly that if it wasn't for the years and years that you have been in my employ you'd have gone long ago!"—London Opinion.

More Interesting.

Fair Girl—My father made his fortune when he was a young man. Would you like to know how he did it?

Gallant Youth—Not particularly, but I would like to know if he has it still.—Catholic News.

Sounded Like Smoke.

"Isn't it disgraceful the way women smoke nowadays?"

"Why?"

"I just saw an advertisement offering to any woman six puffs for a dollar."—Purple Cow.

Speaking as a reporter, when we are looking for news, we do not care much for the latest joke.

We have become used to having people refuse to laugh at our jokes.

Drives away Flies, Mosquitoes and Gnats. It protects horses and cattle from attacks of insects, enabling them to feed and sleep in peace. It prevents loss of weight and strength from worry caused by attacks of insects, and from the irritation of their bites and stings. There is a satisfaction in the relief it affords domestic animals from the scourge of maddening parasites and flies, besides the profit in returns. Horses do more work on less feed and cows yield more and better milk when relieved from the frenzy incited by constantly fighting a swarm of voracious, insatiable insects.
