But the most unexpected donation and one of the most highly appreciated, because coming from an outside and unexpected source was from the O. K. Logging Camp at or near Marshland, Oregon...

Marshland, Oregon, Aug. 10, 1910. Mr. A. W. Markle, Editor St. Johns Review: After reading the article, "A Worthy Cause," in your paper of July 29, it appealed to me as a pitiful case, so I took it up with my fellow workmen...

This is characteristic of the warm hearted loggers. They are as a class rough, bluff fellows, injured to the hardening toil of the woods accompanied with the many dangers incident to handling the giants of the forests...

This brings the fund up to 131.20. Of this there has already been paid $60.00 hospital expenses and it cost $1.00 to remove the little girl from the hospital to the home of Mrs. Meyer...

C. L. Curria, manager of the Star Drug Co. of Klamath Falls, is in the city, the guest of his brother "Curria says so."

A Line From Ye Editor

Seaside, Ore., Aug. 8. This popular resort is at the zenith of its glory at the present time. With a normal population of about 1500, at this time fully 10,000 souls are here on pleasure bent...

I have "run across" several St. Johnites so far: A. C. Gesler and wife, J. H. Gammel and wife, M. S. Cobb, mother, wife and children, Mrs. A. S. Douglass, O. P. Wolcott, also R. G. Brand and Richard Shepard...

An Interesting Booklet

We are indebted to the Passenger Department of the O. R. & N. for an elegantly printed, exhaustive treatise on the growing of the so called "English Walnut."

delighted with her prospects of being soon able to walk, and if the benevolent people who assisted her in the way they have given her the happiness they have given her they would think it the best spent money they had used in many a day.

Barbecue a Success

The firemen of the city of St. Johns are without exception unselfish to a fault, for at morning, at noon or at night they respond to the fire bell's call, what for? I answer, not for the gain of a penny, but to help some neighbor who is in distress...

Now, it is the opinion of the writer of this article that the firemen of St. Johns will live to see the time when they can entertain and feed thousands instead of hundreds, and I hope that many a fourth of July may return if upon that occasion I may be permitted to eat and drink at their tables and bask as I did that day in the sunlight of peace and harmony with a body of men who have been found to be tried and true.

Off to the Woods

George M. Hall jumped the town the other day, took his son with him, kidnapped and carried off Ed. Monahan and made for the Nehalem country where the party will engage in piscatorial and Nimrodic pursuits.

TODAY YOU CAN SAVE. You've got it today. Tonight you will spend it. Tomorrow you are sure to spend, and Monday you go back to a profitsless toil because you are Nothing ahead.

Council Proceedings

The council convened Tuesday in regular session with Mayor Hendricks in chair, all members being present except W. W. Windle, Miss Brodahl acting in the capacity of recorder.

Immediately following the franchise matter came up the sewer ordinance covering district No. 3. It will be remembered that at their last meeting the council voted to cut out the cement and use only vitrified pipe.

A Huge Potato

Mrs. F. L. Lloyd exhibited a Burbank potato in the Review office Monday morning that weighed four pounds. It was grown at her residence on corner of Hudson and Dayton streets.

P. J. Peterson left us a sample of 48 apples grown on a three-year-old tree at his home in St. Johns, all of which are uniform in size and coloring.

A Farfetched Conclusion

An article written in a jocular strain concerning a young man with musical aspirations giving vent to same at the expense of his neighbors' peace of mind, and appearing in the Review two weeks ago, seems to be sadly misconstrued by a party professing himself to be a "candidate in training for the asylum."

Preparing to Build. The house wreckers began work early Monday morning removing the wooden building from C. C. Woodhouse' lot on the corner of Ivanhoe and Burlington where Mr. Woodhouse will erect a modern brick structure that will be a credit to St. Johns.

The Dredger Chinook

The work on the big dredger Chinook, lying at the foot of Richmond street, is rapidly nearing completion. The painters are putting on the finishing touches, while the plumbers and pipefitters are finishing their work.

Fire in St. Johns

At 12:05 p. m. Tuesday the fire bell sounded a general alarm and the fire laddies responded on the double quick. The department turned out like regulars, responding to a call from Gresham street south of and near Richmond.

from the oil below decks. On many vessels this escapes through vents at the upper deck. On the Chinook the escape of the gas from both sets of tanks is through the hollow steel masts some 50 feet above the decks, making an explosion through the carelessness of the men on deck impossible.
