Wit of the Youngsters

Teacher—What is ignorance, Bobby? Bobby—Ignorance is when you don't know anything and somebody finds it out.

One day small Margie was standing at the window when it began to hail. "Oh, look, mamma!" she exclaimed.

Papa—I hear you were a bad girl to-day, Flosie, and mamma had to spank you. Little Flosie—I wasn't bad, but I got spanked just the same.

Stranger—Are there any fish in this stream, little boy? Little Boy—Yes, sir. Stranger—Will they bite? Little Boy—I dunno. None of 'em ever bit me.

Small Johnny—Mamma, I can't tell a lie. I took a piece of pie from the pantry and gave it to a poor little boy who was nearly starved. Mamma—That's right, dear. And did the poor little fellow eat it? Small Johnny—You bet I did.

"See here, young man," said the stern parent, "why is it that you are always behind in your studies?"

"Because," explained the youngster, "if I wasn't behind I could not pursue them."

Natural Affinity. Tom—I understand Fred is engaged to Miss Gushington. I can't imagine what he can see in that girl to make him want to marry her.

Jack—Well, Fred has a manta for yachting, you know, and she's such a breezy creature that he naturally took a fancy to her.

It's Size. "The theme failed as a book and how it falls as a play. Yet the central idea is good."

"Quite right. I think you could boil it down into an anecdote and get ten dollars for it."

Unfair Competition. Esmeralda—Did you have that kitchen implement shower for Lili Geringhorn last night?

Gwendolen—Goodness, no! It rained pitchforks!

MAN ALWAYS GIVING ADVICE

is Effectually Squeezed by Tattered Hobo in Most Characteristic Manner.

The man who is always giving advice sauntered up the street and found the tattered hobo sitting on the curb.

"My good man," began the former, "why are you idling away your time like this? Don't you know the world owes you a living?"

"That so?" responded the hobo, nonchalantly. "Well, I guess I better call up a collection agency and get dem to collect it for me."

"But this is serious, my man. You deserve something in this world."

"Sure, boss, the last judge I ran up against said I deserved six months."

"Tut! Tut! Don't be facetious. Why, you could rise up in the world and wear broadcloth."

"Thanks, but I am wearing dat now, boss. Dis suit is so broad it is three sizes too big for me."

"Well, what in the dickens are you sitting on the curb for, anyway?"

"To curb my temper, boss. To curb my temper when such smart alecks as you ask foolish questions."

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

OHIO REPUBLICANS HAVE AN EDITOR CANDIDATE

WARREN G. HARDING of Marion, who has been nominated by the Republicans for governor of Ohio, is a politician, lecturer and newspaper publisher. He is a Republican of the "standpat" variety, and is not a progressive. While a standpatter in theory, believing in the general policies and methods of the old-line Republicans, he has progressive views of his own on certain subjects. Hence he styles himself a stalwart.

Harding is what is popularly styled a self-made man. The Marion Star, the paper he has controlled since 1884, has helped him in his career. In 1882 Harding was taken up for sale. The price asked was small and Harding's father scratched up the money and put his son in charge.

"When I came into possession of the Star I also took over a railroad mileage book, in those days the property of every country newspaper," Harding said the other day. "The Blaine-Logan convention was on in Chicago, so I bought one of those high Blaine hats, took the mileage book, a clean shirt, and started for Chicago. I guess I was the worst Blaine fanatic in Chicago. Anyhow, I got back in Marion. In the course of events, almost broke." The Star was, too, for a constable was in charge. Eventually I regained control. It was pretty rough sledding, and constables with executions were thicker than advertisers for a while, but the tide turned and things have been running more smoothly since."

Harding is a big man physically, with iron gray hair. He has a reputation as an orator and has displayed his ability both on the stump and on the Chautauqua lecture platform. Mr. Harding, like Marion and his big home, but pets as well. Dogs are his hobby. He always has one. "If Mr. Harding didn't raise such a kick, I'd have a kennel in the back yard. But she won't let me," he said. He has a horse that for 15 years has been a family pet. There's a big automobile, but the horse and dog make up the Harding family. There are no children. "Politics is like the man who has the automobile fever," Harding says. "He is not satisfied until he has one. Then he begins coasting himself, but he won't let loose for any money."

Harding is forty-four years old, and like "Uncle Joe" Cannon, he smokes cigars incessantly. He served a term as lieutenant governor under Myron T. Herrick, and was also a state senator.

Not least among the results achieved by Dr. Washburn is the stimulus to Oriental education in general. His conspicuous success at Roberts college has encouraged the establishment of hundreds of other schools in the Levant. Led by his example the Turkish government has outdone itself and made the last few years an epoch in its history of college building—and this has doubtless had much to do with the "Young Turk Movement" that deposed Abdul Hamid.

There is more than a national pride in the prophecy that the graduates of American schools, such as Roberts college, will be the chief factors in the real upbuilding of that part of the old world which for the time being is called the Turkish empire.

A Superfluous Word. Without being so vain as to pretend that our own columns are invariably impeccable in this respect, we cannot avoid wondering how much longer that exceedingly useful and versatile little word "out" is to be overworked and when it will be discarded for some new victim of the phrase-smith. It is a long, long time now since anybody ever tried anything, or won or lost. One always tries out, or wins out, or loses out. Of course, somebody is likely to pop up with a reminder that that use of the word was familiar in Shakespeare's time but what of that? If we are such economists of ink that we must drop letters from our words until they look like phonetic pi, why on earth must we stick in a whole and wholly superfluous word? Why not try trying winning without winning out, and see if it doesn't come to exactly the same thing? And why not try that without trying it out, as though it were lard or whale oil?

Some Never Arrive. "When does a young man arrive at the age of discretion?" "He is legally of age when he is twenty-one."

Paralle Cases. "Don't you think it foolish for a country no richer than Brazil to buy a $14,500,000 battleship?" "I'm not in a position to be critical. Fact is, I just bought an automobile myself."

Perversity of Animals Things. "What have you got that hole under your back yard fence for?"

"To let my neighbor's chickens through into my garden."

"Why, you were complaining the other day about their flying over the fence."

"That was because I couldn't catch 'em and wring their necks. I made that hole so I could stand over it and swat the blamed hens as they came through."

"Well, do they come through it?"

"No!"

Beats Chewing the Rag. "What are you chewing?" asked the fair maid in the hammock.

"Gum arabic," answered the young man in the rustic chair.

"Gum arabic?" she echoed in surprise.

"Yes," he rejoined. "I expect to visit western Asia this fall and I'm trying to learn the language."

A Life Position. Annette—Ethel is about to accept a lifetime job of 24 hours a day.

Florence—Indeed!

Annette—Yes. She is going to marry a man to reform him.

Distressing. "Yes," said Miss Overton. "I've suffered a great deal from insomnia during the past few weeks."

"Indeed!" rejoined her friend. "Can't you do anything to relieve it?"

"No," was the reply. "I can't request the girl next door to take her beau in the house instead of keeping him out on the front porch every night."

As He Would Have It. "Life," remarked the clerical-looking passenger, "is made up of trials."

"Yes," rejoined the man with the prosperous air, just across the aisle, "and I'm glad of it."

"Indeed!" exclaimed the c-l p. in surprise. "Why are you glad?"

"Because," explained the other, "I am a lawyer."

Taking the Usual Course. "I see your next door neighbor is sprinkling his lawn during forbidden hours. Are you going to do anything to stop him?"

"Yes; I'm going to write an indignant protest and have it printed in one of the papers."

Headache. "My father has been a sufferer from sick headache for the last twenty-five years and never found any relief until he began taking your Cascarets. Since he has begun taking Cascarets he has never had the headache. They have entirely cured him. Cascarets do what you recommend them to do. I will give you the privilege of using his name."—E. M.
