Promptly Turned Down. The bohemians were making merry in the dim lit studio discussing the lattrying to write, the brutal editor who ten-a masterplece of the host-bemoaning the nonintelligence of the art critics, execrating the mercenary theatrical manager and utterly repudinting the general public-the vast horde of the Philistines. By way of diversion the painter of pastel portraits said to the buchelor make:

"That's a charming hat you have on. Who else would know enough to combine turquoise and old rose? You have a genius for color. What a pity you

"Glad you like my hat, anyway. I made it myself. I trust it will only enhance its merit in your eyes to know that it cost me but 50 cents."

"Impossible!" screamed all the bobe mians with one breath, ceasing their arguments in order to take notice of the vastly becoming creation which capped the bachelor maid's brown hair.

"Fifty cents, did you say?" asked the man who once wrote a poem-ave, and had it published. Then rising, placing his hand above his heart, bowing low and solemnly, he said: "Fair one, will you be my wife? All my life I have been looking for a woman who could trim her own hats for nothing. Pray be mine."

"Nixie!" scoffed the bachelor maid cruelly. "All my life I have been looking for a man who would be willing and able to pay $50 for my hats."-New York Press.

FIGHTING LIFE'S BATTLE.

Of Things That Must Be Done Tackle the Hardest First.

I know a very successful man who early in life resolved that no matter how hard anything might be or how seemingly impossible for him to do he would do it if the doing would prove of value to him, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine, He made this the test and would never allow his moods or feelings to stand in the way of his judgment, He forced himself in the habit of promptly doing everything, no matter how disagreeable, if it would further his advancement

People who consult their moods, their preferences or their case never make a great success in life. It is the man who gets a firm grip on himself and forces himself to do the thing that will ultimately be best for him who succeeds. The man who goes through life picking out the flowers and avoiding the thorns in his occupation, always doing the easy thing first and delaying or putting off altogether if possible the hard thing, does not develop the strength that would enable him to do hard things when necessity forces them upon him. It is pitiable to see young men and women remaining far below the place where their ability ought to have carried them just because they dislike to do disagrecable things until compelled to. The best way always is to tackle the hardest things first.

Too Public For Him.

He was a mild mannered little man short, with gray hair and spectacles. It was noon on Washington street, and, as usual, the crowds were shov ing and pushing to get somewhere. The little man was trying to worm his way through the crowds. A well dressed woman, accompanied

The New and Old Geology.

In its early history geology present ed two schools one insisting on a doctrine of "catastrophes," the other on a doctrine of "uniformity." The former regarded the changes which have manifestly taken place in our planet as having occurred at epochs abruptly, while the other school, reposing on the great principle of the invariability of the laws of nature, insisted that affairs had always gone on in the same way as they do now. It is hardly necessary to say that the latter theory has driven the old theory of catastrophe completely from the field.-New York American.

The One Meissonier Didn't Paint For French Theater.

The enterprising manager of a theater called upon the famous French artist Jean Louis Ernest Melssonier or one occasion and asked him to paint a drop scene for a certain theater and name his own terms, "You have seen my pictures, then?"

asked Melssonier. "Oh, yes," exclaimed the manager, "but it is your name I want! It will draw crowds to my theater."

"And how large do you wish this curtain to be?" inquired the artist. "Ah, well, we will say 15 by 18 me

Melssonier took up a pencil and pre reeded to make a calculation. At last he looked up and said, with imperturbable gravity:

"I have calculated and find that my pictures are valued at 80,000 france per meter. Your curtain, therefore, will cost you just 21,000,000 francs. But that is not all. It takes me twelve months to paint twenty-five centime ters of canvas. It will therefore take me Just 190 years to finish your cur tain. You should have come to me earlier, monsieur. ### How Machinery Breathes.

An English writer on engineering subjects, Mervyn O'Gorman, calls attention to the fact that a piece of machinery, such as an automobile, laid edde after being used is in danger of internal rusting through a kind of res piration which affects cylinders, gear oxes, clutch chambers, interspaces in ball bearings, and so forth. Every in closed air space "breathes" by drawng in air when a fall of temperature ontracts its walls and expelling it when the walls expand through heat. The moisture introduced with the air is deposited in the cavities and may produce serious damage through rust. The popular belief that oil will protect the inaccessible parts of unused machinery is fallacious, since nearly all oils take up about 3 per cent of water in solution.

RESOLUTION

It is resolved by the city of St. Johns: That it deems it expedient and neces-ary, for the preservation of the public health, to lay and construct a sewer to Maple street, in the city of St. Johns, from the southwesterly side line of Jer-sey street to the Willamette River, in said city, with all the necessary and ap-propriate branches, catch-basins, lamp-holes, man-holes and flush-tanks, said branches to said sewer to be as follows: Commencing on Jersey street at a point 150 feet from the northwesterly side line of Philadelphia street, thence to the main line on Maple street; on Ivanhoe street and Hayes street the brought water and medicine and smoothed the pullets of straw and cheered the unfastration. same as on Jersey; on Fillmore street, same as on Fillmore street.

Said work to be done according to the plans, specifications and estimates of the city engineer on file with the city recorder relative thereto, which said plans, specifications and estimates have been examined by the council and found
