George Ingledue, who has been spending the past nine months with his son, Roy Ingledue, and family, departed Tuesday morning for his home at Ithica, Mich. He enjoyed his visit here immensely and was much pleased with St. Johns.

Contractors should not overlook the fact that their contracts for sewer and street work cannot be sublet without the written consent of the city of St. Johns. All the contracts have this clause printed on its face, but it is seldom lived up to.

H. S. Hewitt and E. S. Wright have returned from a month's tour of Central Oregon. They state that nowhere in their travels did they find a place that compared favorably with St. Johns from any point of view. It takes an excursion of this kind to realize fully the manifold blessings of St. Johns.

Miss Bessie Sellard, of this city took part in a public recital by the pupils of the Columbia Conservatory of Music at the White Temple Tuesday evening, rendering the "Cypress Waltz" like a finished pianist. A number of St. Johns folks were in attendance.

At a meeting of the directors of the Peninsula Bank Monday, John N. Idleson was elected cashier, secretary and director of the institution, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of C. A. Wood. John is eminently fitted in every way to assume the grave responsibility of this position, and a selection more satisfying and gratifying to the patrons of the bank could not possibly be made.

SHOP TALK

The question is frequently asked: Why does the physician write a prescription? The best answer to this, of course, can be given by the physician who writes the prescription, but it is principally done for two reasons:

First, it enables the physician to concentrate his entire thought on the best medicine needed for your particular ailment. As there are some seven thousand excellent drugs and preparations, this effort on the part of the physician is worth everything to you as a patient.

Second, it enables him to fix exact doses, of greatest importance to him, to you and also to the druggist who puts up the medicine, that there be no possible mistake.

Cost of Medicine

It not infrequently happens that druggists are criticised for the prices charged on prescriptions, but a little thought will demonstrate that this criticism is not deserved. Usually some of the chief items of expense, as labor, time, skill and responsibility, are not considered at all, but they should be, here, as well as in other things.

It is the same as building a house when you put up (or build) a prescription. You not only, in the former case, pay for the stone, lumber, nails, paper, plaster, paint, etc., of which the finished house consists, but you must also pay for the time and skill of the carpenter, the mason, the painter, the plumber, etc., to do the work.

And so it is in the making of medicines—the laborer is worthy of his hire, and the more skilled and qualified your druggist is, the better your medicine.

An interesting contest closed in Portland during the past week when the Y. M. C. A. distributed prizes to schoolboys who grew vegetables on back lots. An exhibit of the prize vegetable was made and the competition created a great deal of interest. About 250 school children entered and the showing was a creditable one.

Clyde O. Rogers and Miss Susie Davis were united in marriage by Rev. F. N. Sandifer at the bride's home 418 Willis boulevard, Wednesday, June 28, 1911, at high noon. Mr. Rogers is employed as sorter at the Portland Manufacturing Co., and is a young man of good business prospects. The bride is an accomplished young lady and has many friends here. Their friends all wish them the happiest future.

One of the natives of the upper desert country interviewed by Messrs. Hewitt & Wright, speaking of the rigorous climate of the section, used the following language, which is rather more forceful than elegant: "The climate's too darned cold to raise anything; you can't even raise hell, it freezes as soon as it sprouts." Our lads thought that quite a frost and hit the grit for home early, before the cold wave season set in.
