

THE ST. JOHNS REVIEW
 BY A. W. MARKLE
 Published Every Friday
 At 117 West Burlington Street.

THE REVIEW is entered at post office in Saint Johns, Oregon, as mail matter of the second class under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Official Newspaper of the City of St. Johns.
 Advertising rates, $1.00 per inch per month.
 Subscription price $1.00 per year.

The wet weather is said to be quite disastrous to the crop of hops, but it is not believed that the price of beer will soar as a consequence.

Those people who were so delighted when the sugar trust was heavily fined a short time ago are not so pleased now, since the price of sugar has been soaring skyward. The consumers are now paying the fine and a little over to cover the costs of the suit.

It is announced that Robert Stevens will not again be a candidate for sheriff of Multnomah county. W. C. North, deputy assessor, is prominently named as a fitting successor to Mr. Stevens. From what we know of Mr. North personally, he is good enough for us.

The Telegram jumped at conclusions rather hastily Wednesday evening when it stated that the city now owned the ferry slips and the company owned the boat. It would have been correct except for one thing—it never happened. Newspapers will make mistakes—sometimes.

LaFollette's star is rapidly ascending in the political horizon as the republican nominee for president next year. Taft has not given general satisfaction as an occupant of the presidential chair to the common people at least, and his chances are beginning to glimmer.

After paying their respects to each other's ideas for the past couple of weeks, Mr. Citizen and the editor have wound up their little balls of yarn. Personally both are very good friends, even though their ideas are adverse. As no good can come of further discussion and since the issues being discussed have now become dead ones, the two critics have decided to pool interests and work together for a greater and a better St. Johns. Which was right or which was wrong during the recent controversy "cuts no ice" in dealing with the future.

That the property owners of sewer district No. 2 have decided to make the best of the sewer proposition was clearly evidenced last week when fully 75 per cent took advantage of the Bancroft bonding act and bonded for the sewer assessment. All the warrants issued prematurely have been exchanged for better ones. The city recorder informs us that less dissatisfaction was expressed in settling for the sewer than is usually the case in most street improvements. And it is better so. It is now up to the proper authorities to see that any cave-in occasioned by the tunneling process without due tamping be remedied as soon as it appears on the surface, or any congestion that might arise in the sewer be immediately relieved. This is due the property owners, and the maintenance bond was executed for this purpose, should occasion arise, which we trust will not.

Westminster and rain do not seem to mix very readily, hence enforced delay on the Jersey street improvement on the part of the contractors. However, three weeks of fair weather will complete the street, so the contractors say.

Miss Boss, principal of the St. Johns High School, returned from California last week, where she has been spending her vacation with her brother at Los Angeles. She is more in love with Oregon than ever. She says the heat was most oppressive in the southern city during the summer months.

Not every one is familiar with the magnitude and diversity of the work being done by our local public library. It is carrying on something like 1700 volumes, of which 500 are in circulation. More books are constantly being added to the list carried, which embraces every subject under the sun. There is no topic in which you are interested but you may get here the best thoughts of the world to assist you, and if perchance the book you wish is in the main library, our enterprising librarian promptly makes requisition and it comes forthwith. It is impossible to estimate the value of such an institution to St. Johns and every citizen should avail himself of this splendid opportunity to acquire knowledge along just such lines as most directly appeal to him. Make your wants known to the librarian. She is always glad to render every aid in her power to all patrons of the library.

You get full weight and first quality at the Central market, just try awhile.

Stories of Success

PHILIP D. ARMOUR

All through life, whether at sixteen or sixty, Philip D. Armour was up with the sun, and the habit was never abated. At seven o'clock he was nearly all the way, and when he arrived his money was practically exhausted. He studied the opportunities, and instead of digging for gold he dug ditches for men who had mines, but no water.

He worked hard, lived carefully, and wasted not a penny. When ready to return home he had laid by a snug sum. Once, when asked what was the turning point in his career, he replied: "The time when I began to save what I earned at the gold fields; thrift and economy. I had much to do with my success. The strong point in me saved. Saving is what counts. You can open an account at this bank with a dollar or more, and add to it as much or as little as you can. When you have started an account, you will take pride in seeing it grow."

Miss Sarah Graves went to Cottage Grove this week to take charge of the musical department of the Adventist academy located there. Miss Graves is one of our most popular and charming young ladies and her departure even for a time is sincerely regretted by a very large circle of friends.

The illustrated lectures given in the Multnomah theatre this week are of special interest, being highly instructive and entertaining. The reproduction of the "Declaration of Independence," shown on the screen Wednesday evening was one of the finest seen for a long time, and must prove helpful in instilling a genuine feeling of patriotism in the minds of the young. This picture reel was greeted with vociferous applause. Miss Georgia Bilyeu also delivered a patriotic recitation in her pleasing style on that evening.

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable a man for three or four weeks, but by applying Chamberlain's liniment freely as soon as the injury is received, and observing the directions with each bottle, a cure can be effected in from two to four days. For sale by all dealers.

In order to insure a change of advertisement the copy for such change should reach this office not later than Wednesday, at 3 o'clock p. m. Please remember this and save the printer
