Dante's Inferno

Dante must have had a glorious "jag" on when he conceived his visions of Inferno as depicted on the screens at the Multnomah last night. In his plan of hell we noticed that he made a most serious omission: No place was provided for delinquent subscribers. Another cocktail might have conjured a scene appalling enough for such in his vivid imagination. We did not expect any place had been provided in Satan's domain for newspaper feasting or any other way, any such men, and was gratified to know day as Christmas day shall pay for evthat even Dante, in his disordered ery such offense 5 shillings." This law state, made no provision for them. A strange part of this hell of Dante's was that there were few women there-which would be hell in itself for some of those there. However, there were a few longhaired males supposed to represent certain Willie-About five feet, and when it females. The theatre was crowded to its doors, and all seemed to enjoy the trip to the lower regions immensely

Tee Precious. "Makers' to his majesty" and "Im ported" are words that carry much weight to many minds. It is strange what a glory a foreign label can cast upon a commonplace article. The fact of a commodity having crossed the wa-

Once she imported a quantity of exquisite French caps. The strings were somewhat crushed in the transit across the ocean. The caps were quickly disposed of. An aunt bought one, and Miss Rust Innocently discreed that a "warm from would make the creases all right."

"What?" indignantly exclaimed the aunt. "Smooth a crease made in Paris? No. Indeed; never!"

A Famous English Clock.

Wells cathedral contains one of the most interesting clocks in the whole world. It was constructed by Peter Lightfoot, a monk, in 1320 and embraces many devices which testify to the ancient horologist's ingenuity Several celestial and terrestrial bodies are incorporated in the interesting movement and relationship. They indicate the hours of the day, the age of the moon and the position of the planets and the tides. When the clock strikes the hour two companies of horsemen fully armed dash out of gateways in opposite directions and charge vigorously. They strike with their lances as they pass as many times as correspond with the number of the hour. A little distance away, seated on a high perch, is a quaint figure, which kicks the quarters on two bells placed beneath his feet and strikes the hours on a bell. The dial of the clock is divided into twentyfour hours and shows the phases of the moon and a map of the universe .-Harper's.

He Made Them Listen. "X" Beidler, the old vigilante leader of Montana, was elected sheriff of Lewis and Clark county, in which Helena is situated. During Beidler's ncumbency the Jall was rebuilt and one of the new fashioned steel cages for the prisoners installed. Beidler invited all the notables down to see the cage when it was completed. The governor and the state and city officials and many prominent citizens accepted the invitation. "X" took them into a cage and excused himself for a minute. He went out and locked the door. Then he took a chair and sat down outside. "Now, dern ye," he said to the imprisoned notables, "ve've bin edgin" off lately when I was tellin' my stories of the old days an' not listenin' to 'em. Now I reckon ye'll listen."

A Good Shot. A sportsman of great imaginative gifts and fond of telling his exploits related that at one shot he had brought down two partridges and a hare. His explanation was that, although he had only hit one partridge, the bird in falling had clutched at another partridge and brought that to earth entangled in its claws.

"But how about the hare?" he was asked.

"Oh," was the calm reply, "my gun kicked and knocked me backward, and I fell on the bare as it ran past!"

HOTELS IN PORTUGAL

Paying One's Bill There Becomes

Duel In Politeness. When traveling for the first time in Portugal one is apt to become exas perated when he desires to settle up with his landlord at the hotel. When sixty years ago. M. C. D. Slisbee the traveler asks how much his bill is the landlord bows graciously, smiles suavely, rubs his hands together and replies that the bill is as much as the of politeness, for the hardened traveler at once thanks the landlord for his confidence in him and again very courteously asks for a detailed statement of his account. Still the bill is not forth coming, for the landlord declares that he does not wish to insult his guest in any such manner. Finally the land ford does reckon up the charges on his fingers. When he has finished he asks the traveler how much the sum total is. If the traveler hasn't kept track of it the landlord very laboriously goes over the account again. If the guest has footed up the bill the landford b sure that it cannot be so much and in sists on a re-reckoning. The result is the same, and the landlord invariable needs to bring two or three more fin gers into use for items that had been accidentally omitted.

Needless to state, the traveler no bardened to this process breathes a deep sigh of relief when he "escapes" -Boys' World.

DIET AND AGE.

Proper Eating Would Insure Better Health and Longer Life.

Medical experts, insurance men. edu cators and teachers of the science of health and happiness generally are in favor of simpler living and a return to nature. The mortality of adult ageof the period between forty and sixtyis increasing, but it is not due to the stress of modern life, to worry and overwork, as some have supposed. It is due, we are assured, to overeating and bad diets. There is every reason why we should live longer and be healthler, for comforts are increasing and inventions are lessening toll and anxiety. But our very prosperity has led to richer and ampler diets, and there is where the mischlef lies-there, and in our indoor life. We shun nature: we shut out light and sir; we walk little and seldom eat or rest in the open air, in gardens, fields or on

This is all wrong, and the wages of this wrong are ill health, depression gloom, the shortening of the natural span of life. Habits of outdoor life should be formed early-at school. As much teaching as possible should be done in the open air-and as much playing likewise. After graduation boys and girls should continue to cul tivate the outdoor life and families should continue the practice.-Chicago Record-Herald.

Telephone Lies.

At One Hundred and First street and Broadway a man was talking into a telephone. Presently he was heard to say: "All right, I'll come. I am now at Twenty-third street and Broadway I'll be up in about half as hour."

"That chap seems to have lost his arings," said a man who had over heard the error in locality.

"He knows where he is all right." said a drug clerk. "He's just putting up a bluff. It is quite a common bluff. Men who have a mighty high regard for truth at all other times do not hesitate to tell a whopper about where they are when talking over the telephone. I have heard persons swear over that wire that they were teleshoning from points all the way from Hoboken to Amityville. They were not seasoned liars, either; just wanted t few minutes' grace apparently and thought the easiest way to get it was to make out they were a mile or two farther away than they really were."-New York Presa.

Custom In Spain.

One thing specially is vital in Spain: Costumbre," they say ("It is the cus-It explains commercial honor tersely for the Spanish business man to keep his word and pay his bills; exactly as it is equally customary for him to lack what we call "honor" in some other departments of life. It is ustomary to do or not to do, to like or not to like, a thousand things. Why? 'Custombre" is the only reply. It is ustomary, moreover, not to yield readily to an improvement or a luxury. even as it is again equally customary, once the Spanlard has yielded to a given thing, to hold to it like adamant. -Arthur Stauley Riggs in Century.

His Preference.

"You can get an armful of daisles for a dime." pointed out the optimist, and just look at their bright, merry Ittle faces!"

"What do I want with an armful of daisies?" growled the pessimist. "I'd rather have a cheese sandwich."-New York Journal.

A Snake Tale.

A man took his small son to the park. They fed bread to the swans and then stood for a long time in front of a cage of serpents. The boy looked at them with fuscinated eyes. At last he exclaimed, "I like these tails all right, but where are the animals?"-Lippincott's.

How to make a Deposit

The blank deposit slips furnished by the bank should always be filled out by the depositor and proved by the teller; this serves as a double check on the transaction, and if at any future time a question should arise as to the total amount deposited, or any separate item, the slip in your own handwriting can be produced by the bank as unquestionable proof.

The cash to be entered according to specifications in proper amounts and the checks, drafts, or other paper must be listed separately below. In depositing checks on local banks, write the name of the bank on which they are drawn opposite the amount, and if out of town paper, write name of city or town.

Write the figures in a column, add up and write the total

Present your pass book, deposit slip, and items of deposit to the receiving teller, and see that the proper amount is entered to your credit on your book.
