An Invitation

Dear Friend: Sunday is a long day for a stranger in any place. We desire to do all in our power to make the day enjoyable and helpful for such. To that end we extend you a hearty invitation to be present at our services and especially to come to our Christian Endeavor service at 6:30 p. m. It would be particularly gratifying to us should you choose to present this invitation to the usher, when a special endeavor will be made to make your stay among us pleasant.

Miss Lillie Sizemore, president K. L. C. E. Evangelical Church. To the above I wish to add an equally hearty invitation to attend the young people's Philo Christo class held at 10 a. m. in the basement of the church. I assure you of a hearty welcome and a profitable time. T. J. Mouhan, teacher. Rev. Guy R. Stover, pastor.

Be Sure to Go

A special invitation has been extended by the management of the Food Industrial Exposition now being held in the auditorium at Chapman and Taylor streets, Portland, to attend the exposition in a body Thursday evening of next week, to the St. Johns Business Men's association and Commercial club to attend the exposition in a body Thursday evening of next week. The business men met last night and decided to accept, and it is believed the Commercial club will do the same at its meeting Wednesday evening. Hat band badges, suitably inscribed, will be furnished to all who attend. It will furnish a fine opportunity to do a little book-keeping for St. Johns by a large representation turning out. The only expense to each one will be the car fare. The exposition is proving a grand success, and is being largely attended. Free concerts, vaudeville and food samples. About 150 food exhibits, and 500 demonstrators—no need to go hungry while there, as samples will be given at every booth. Take the ladies and go via the 7 p. m. car. The larger the crowd the better. Everybody invited.
