VOL. 8

ST. JOHNS, OREGON, FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1912.

NO. 18

A $3,000,000 Plant

Plans have been completed by the Portland Gas and Coke company to begin work in building a gigantic gas manufacturing plant on a strip of land directly south of the Government moorings on the west side of the Willamette River. The plant will cost $3,000,000 and be one of the most modern and largest establishments in the United States. As it is gradually built up it will take the place by degrees of the present plant of the company near the Union Depot, the plans being to have the new plant generate all the gas used in the city.

During this year the company will spend $700,000 in building the first unit of the plant—a generating station capable of manufacturing 3,000,000 feet of gas per day and in constructing a system of mains along the Linton road to Portland and the first part of an extensive parking system which is to extend over the 40 acres of ground owned by the company and comprising the gas site. Within three years the plant will be complete and the expenditure will total $3,000,000.

The company has owned the North Portland site for a number of years and has been working a long time on the plans of the proposed plant, completing the details only a few days ago. It is proposed, besides making the plant large enough to meet the needs of Portland for many years, to install facilities for handling large steamship shipments of oil from California oil fields, the plans calling for large modern docks on the water front. The present system of hauling the oil on barges from the large storage tanks at Portsmouth will be discontinued and the steamers will be unloaded at the gas works instead of at Portsmouth.

The present plant near the depot has a capacity of 5,000,000 feet of gas a day. The new plant when completed will have a capacity of 10,000,000 feet daily. The plant now used in manufacturing briquettes from the lampblack of the oil will be moved to the new site and increased in capacity from 50 tons to 100 a day.

The machinery at the new plant will be modern in every particular, including the most up to date pumps and generators. The present storage tanks in various parts of the city will be maintained as at present and will be connected with the new plant as rapidly as possible. The large mains will extend down the Linton road to connect with the present high pressure arteries which in turn supply the consumers. The franchise to use the Linton road already has been secured and the company has arranged with the Harriman people for the use of the new steel bridge to carry the supply mains to the East Side. The high pressure mains will pass over the lift span by means of a piping arrangement which works much the same as the slides of a slide trombone, the arrangement making possible the lifting of the bridge at any time without interference with the gas mains.

In October next it is planned to have the first unit completed and ready for the manufacture of 3,000,000 feet of gas daily. At that time the old plant will be closed down gradually. Construction work will be continued after the first unit is completed until the entire plant is installed.

The site of the new plant is to be landscaped to conform with the Bennett plans. An extensive system of parks has been arranged, including walks and driveways, so that the site will have an attractive appearance. The Port of Portland has arranged to make an extensive fill on the water front over which the gas company will place modern docks for the handling of the oils. This land-filling work, or a section of it at least, will comprise a part of the first unit and will be completed along with subsequent units.

The object of the company in making the vast expenditure is twofold. The growing demand for gas has made the present plans too small to cope with the situation, and the company it is said, has been brought face to face with the need of greatly enlarging the generation system. With four blocks of property near the depot well covered with the present plant, it was considered necessary to secure a new location. Another reason is the complaint about the gas plant occupying a site near the center of the city. The two propositions have caused the company to decide on the modern system in a district remote from the residence and business sections and still within easy reach of the city. The property near the depot will be kept by the company for the present.

The Primaries

Very little interest was taken in the primary election held last Saturday, only 120 voters participating. Many had forgotten all about the matter, while others were too indifferent to go to the polls. The list of candidates on the republican ticket was small, while the democratic ballot was altogether a blank, necessitating the writing in of all the names the voter desired to nominate. Had all the voters in the city cast a ballot Saturday, scarcely a man in the municipality would have escaped without a vote for one office or another. Below we give the vote in full:

Death of Elmo Waldref

Elmo Waldref was instantly killed February 15th at Cromwell, Minn., by being crushed between two box cars, one of which he was trying to stake into clear on a side track, by holding a short piece of timber against the corners of the two cars when a sudden lurch of the cars caused the timber to slip, forcing Elmo between the cars and crushing his body above the hips in a terrible manner. The body was removed to Duluth and held there until his relatives were notified, who ordered its immediate shipment to St. Johns, Oregon. Elmo was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Waldref of this city, and was born at Moose Lake, Minn., nearly 27 years ago. His brother Fred resides at Glendive, Mont., and Miss Ethel, the only daughter, resides with her parents in St. Johns.

Elmo Waldref had been employed by the Northern Pacific railroad during the summer on a steam shovel as cranesman and in the winter months had been braking on freight trains of the same company. The division superintendent stated that Elmo was one of the most promising young men the company had in its employ. The floral offerings from the trainmen's orders were magnificent and numerous, mute testimonials of the esteem in which the young man was held.

The above facts were gleaned from the Banam Herald, Barnum, Minn., which devoted almost a column to this sad death.

Oregon to be First

Response to the call of the Oregon Development League for a large representation from Oregon, on the occasion of choosing the site for its building at the Panama Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco in 1915, has been so great that it will probably be necessary for more than one special train to carry the delegation. The day set apart is March 14, and trains will leave Portland on the afternoon of March 12. Word has been received from such extreme points as Lakeview, Prineville, Burns, Klamath Falls, Baker and Astoria, that they will be represented by delegations. St. Johns will also. Eugene is planning to send a banner delegation of fifty or more; this will be the largest outside of Portland. Two hundred members of the Portland Commercial Club will make the trip. As the most of the delegates will be accompanied by their ladies, the occasion will be of considerable social significance. The fare from Portland will be $25 for the round trip. Oregon has been conceded the unusual honor, even over California itself, of the first choice of site. The invitation that has been extended by the fair officials and the commercial bodies of San Francisco indicates that the entertainment they will provide will be of a most elaborate nature.

Nickel "Wedded" Social

The V. P. S. C. E. of the Christian church will give a social and general good time to the married people of the city at the home of Mrs. M. G. Overstreet, 109 W. Burr street, Tuesday evening, March 12. It is the intention of the members of the society for only the married people to enjoy the evening's entertainment, while the young people furnish everything and do all the work. The proceeds will be applied on some property of the C. E. Society. Many attractions have been prepared, some having been imported from foreign continents, music and refreshments.

Every married person in the city is invited to attend. Come—and bring your nickels!

More Than Skin Deep

More than a skin salve is needed to cure piles permanently. Don't be disappointed if you fail to get a lasting cure of piles with salves. The cause of piles is more than skin deep. It is sluggish, flabby veins—pockets filled with thick blood.

HEM-ROID, a tablet tonic remedy, is taken inwardly, acts on the circulation and cures all kinds of piles thoroughly.

High School Notes

Mrs. Bessie Lathe Scovell, National College secretary of the Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U., who spoke at the M. E. church Wednesday evening of last week, gave an interesting talk on Thursday morning at the High school on scientific temperance. She described the effect of alcohol and tobacco on the brain; how alcohol deadens and finally destroys the brain cells which governs first the self control, second, of knowledge, third, locomotion, and at last the lungs and heart; how tobacco affects the heart first then the lungs and so on in reverse order. She told that during the Spanish-American war, 30 per cent. of the young men from high school and college who volunteered were sent home because of "tobacco heart," and in the opinion of the government, weren't "fit to be shot at." The hearty applause with which she was received showed that the students appreciated her address. It is not often that we have the opportunity of hearing a speaker who addresses schools over the whole nation.

We hear that the seniors are to display their histrionic ability before they leave us.

The rhetorical program Friday afternoon was the best that has yet been given. The decorations were both pretty and appropriate and the program itself, entertaining and instructive. The chief features: "The Boston Tea Party of 1912," which was written by one of the students, and "The Mock Trial," were especially instructive to those interested in suffragettes or in law. But it is not surprising that they did so well this time, for with their new name, Erodolphian, a great deal more was expected than from the old Rhetorical Division No. 2.

The school librarians have noticed a change since only 85 per cent. pupils are permitted to use the library freely. We hope that the grades of the new quarter will give more the privileges of library pupils.

A great number were out to see the game with Park Place High, Friday night. The teams were well matched, but from the first the James John boys showed better training and team work. Every member of the team did credit to himself and to the school. None were surprised when the game closed with the score of 34 to 17 in favor of James Johns.

The James Johns High team played Astoria High Saturday evening at Astoria. Only the team, coach and manager took the trip and tell very little about the game except the score 24 to 18 in favor of Astoria. But the generally fagged out condition of the whole team speaks louder than words.

Both the boys' and the girls' teams will play those of Woodburn High next Saturday at Woodburn—if the boys recover in time. xx x

Found Dead in Bed

Mabel Newell, who for the past three years had been assisting with the housework at the home of Ed. S. Currier, was found dead in bed Monday morning. For several days previous she had complained of not feeling well, and of a pain in her side, but it was not thought that she was seriously ill. Sunday she visited her mother, Mrs. C. L. Newell, on Tyler street, and returned to Mr. Currier's residence apparently feeling in fair health. Not arising for long after her usual time Monday morning, Mrs. Currier made a visit to her room and found that she had passed to the other world. It is believed that her neuralgia in her side reached her heart while she slept and stopped its beating. Mabel Newell was aged about 35 years, of a pleasant and cheerful disposition, industrious, faithful and obliging, and her death was a distinct shock to the Currier family, to whom she had endeared herself by her gentle ways. Funeral took place from Blackburn's undertaking parlors Wednesday.

Lafferty Busy

Declaring that the Borah-Jones three-year homestead bill, which also gives a six months' leave of absence each year, must be passed this congress, if settlement of the Northwest is to be encouraged, Representative Lafferty last week sounded the keynote of the fight that is being waged for a favorable report on the bill before the House Public Lands Committee. The hearing before the committee was attended by all Western congressmen, and at the conclusion of the hearing, the members present voted unanimously to carry the fight on to the floor of the house for the passage of the bill. In his speech Representative Lafferty pointed out that the Canadian homestead law only requires three years residence, and permits an absence of six months each year.

The Library

Open Hours: 1:00 to 5:30 and 7:00 to 9:30 p. m. Sundays: 1:30 to 5:30

A few of the new books: Northern Spain—Edgar Wigram. The illustrations is the notable feature of this work. There are 75 of them, full page engravings in color from paintings by the author, and they are a delight to the eye. Mr. Wigram caught these charming bits of quaint, old Spain for us during four bicycle tours through that picturesque country. This mode of travel he lauds above others because in it one may frankly lay aside his ordinary habits—"A mild manner of going Fanti"—he calls it, "which rejoices one's primitive instincts." His account of his expenses is as pleasantly unconventional as his chosen means of travel.

The Bronze Bell—Vance. Those who read the Brass Bowl will know what to expect in the author's later book. It is for those who like thrills. The unexpected happens on every page.

Some Chemical Problems of Today—Robert Kennedy Duncan. A book of absorbing interest to those who like to know what science is doing and what it is about to do. It is not heavy reading in spite of the title. Some of the chapter headings are: "The Whitherward of Matter," "On the Chemical Interpretation of Life," "The Beginning of Things."

The Great Diamond Pipe—John Buchanan. A tale of travel and battle and gems and gold in Africa. It will be welcomed by those in whom there is enough of the boy left to enjoy adventure and daring.

The Ladies' Battle—Molly Elliott Seawell. The author declares woman's suffrage to be an unmixt evil and this book is made up of her reasons for the faith that is in her. Useful for debate and interesting reading.

Business—Charles Edward Russell. However dull-sounding a subject Mr. Russell may choose, he soon makes it clear that it is not to be dull under his hand. He shows us how business is the heart of the nation and how its dominant influence reaches every phase of life. The best way to give an idea of Mr. Russell's illuminating style is by a few random quotations:

"Political parties are not made. They come into being of themselves, evolved from the stress of tremendous conditions. They are born out of the people, and always from the bottom of the pile. Thence they ascend toward the top and there they are corrupted and finally stifled by the force they were born to fight."

"Whatever business wants it will have, not through the superior manly wit of any man or any set of men, but because, in the present condition of society, the very first necessity overtopping all else is that business shall go on. It will trample over whatever is in its way as a great herd of buffaloes on the plains used to trample over a wayfarer without the least ill will, and merely because it must go on. Under present conditions it is the nation's heart."

For Sweet Pea Growers—The library can furnish books and magazine articles on the best methods of cultivating the sweet pea. There is also special material on the rose and dahlia.

Descriptive material and views of various sections of Oregon has been received from the Portland Commercial club.

Pupils, Attention

To the first student bringing in the correct arithmetical solution of the following problem will be given ten worth of school supplies—your own selection. Answer to problem and name of winner published next week. These problems will continue for some time.—J. M. Shaw, groceries, school supplies, bakery goods, fruits, nuts, etc., 802 North Ivanhoe.

Special prize of one dozen oranges on this problem.

Mr. Skeebink, having taken a flock of geese to market, reported sales as follows: "To Smith I sold 1/2 my flock and 1/2 a goose over. To Jones I sold 1/4 the remainder of the flock and 1/2 of a goose over. To Skimmerhorn I sold 5-6 of the remainder of the flock and 1/2 of a goose over, and I brought back four geese which I could not sell." How many geese did he take to market?

Answer to last week's problem to rods. Winner, Clarke Mossman. Look for problem under new heading next week.

"Bachelor Doings"

On the evening of Feb. 29, the Bachelor club entertained a number of friends at a house-warming party in their new home corner of Jersey and Leavitt streets.

Twelve hands of Progressive Whist were played. Miss Merta Gatten and Mr. B. Lee won the first prizes and Mr. J. B. Collamore and Miss Williams won the "booby" prizes.

Progressive Whist was followed by an excellent musical program which was rendered by Miss Ida Fassett, Mrs. Viola Campbell, Miss Hazel Pheberge and Messrs. Fassett, Vincent, Wanabo, Oxley and Lee.

The jolly company was served to light refreshments about 11 o'clock, the party consisting of the Bachelors and their lady friends, there being about 50 present.

This is the first party given by the Bachelors since they moved into their new home, and it was voted a most enjoyable affair by all present.

Baraca Items

The Baraca Pie social which was held last Friday evening proved a decided success. A large number was present, and everyone appeared to enjoy himself to the limit. Mirth-provoking games were indulged in until all the guests had arrived. Then the company passed to an other room and the pies were displayed for inspection, and the name of the prize winner, Mrs. H. F. Cheney, was announced by the judges. The real mirth provokers of the evening were the pie eating contests for the girls and boys, which were won by Mrs. Russel Dickie and Ryder Cormany. The latter established the world's record when he swallowed a whole pie in 2.33-2.5 minutes. He still lives. The others could not hold their breath so long. Every person who failed to come missed the heartiest laugh of his life.
