A subscriber wants to know if it is any worse to hold up a legislature for a whole session than to pay those who did hold it up. He further states that Jonathan Bourne held up the legislature and Ben Selling advocated and voted for paying the legislators. It seems there was nothing else that Ben could do. Legislators are paid for the time they serve, not for the work they do.

Harry Sutton wishes to announce that the invitations issued by him for Saturday evening dances in Bickner hall are good for the season, and not for one night only, as a few have imagined. Also that parties not having invitations are not expected to attend the dances. Intoxicating liquor is strictly prohibited, and persons under its influence will be promptly ejected.

Generally Fail

There is a great deal of talk now about co-operative stores and all that, but the history of co-operative stores and such like is largely one of failure. Of course there have been some exceptions, but not many. Many a man who has thought there were excessive profits in certain lines of business, has found to his sorrow when he put his money into a venture that profits are not nearly so large as he imagined. It is very easy to think that it is the other fellow all the time who is making the big profits. It is but human nature to think we ought to be able to sell our wares and products at a liberal price, but that the fellow from whom we buy should be content with a narrow margin.—Ex.

Sorry to Lose Him

According to the conference appointments, Rev. Guy R. Stover has been appointed to the Dallas charge, and will fill the pulpit at that place Sunday, moving his family to his new field next week. We are very sorry that Mr. Stover was not permitted by the conference to dwell longer in our midst. He is an earnest, active worker, faithful and courageous, and has made many friends in St. Johns. Rev. W. S. Plowman of Adna, Wash., will succeed Rev. Stover in the charge here. Rev. H. L. Pratt of Portland will occupy the pulpit of the Evangelical church both morning and evening next Sunday.

For State Senator

Mr. E. E. Coovert is candidate for the republican nomination for state senator of Multnomah county. The primaries will be held on April 19th, and being personally acquainted with E. E. Coovert we wish to endorse his candidacy for this nomination. Mr. Coovert has been actively engaged in the practice of law for the past 17 years in Portland, and his standing as a lawyer, as a business man and as a man of affairs is surpassed by no one. His honesty and integrity and fairness is unquestioned.

The state having adopted the initiative and referendum system of legislation, and it having become necessary to adopt new laws and to re-model the code of procedure and judiciary system of this state, so that our courts may progress equally with the legislature, it will be incumbent upon the next legislature to adopt laws to carry the new laws into effect. We know of no man better qualified to act on behalf of the people in these most important matters than E. E. Coovert.

Mr. Coovert stands for good roads, for the full development of the state's resources, for relief from the congested court dockets in both the circuit court and the supreme court. Mr. Coovert favors the interstate bridge across the Columbia from Vancouver. The voters should remember that should such a bridge be built it would be of inestimable value to the city of St. Johns and it would add greatly to the development of the peninsula, and to the resources of our city.

We can heartily endorse Mr. Coovert as a man of high integrity and honor, with a high sense of both private and public duty, and also as a lawyer whose most excellent reputation and long experience best qualifies him for the position he seeks. We suggest that you include E. E. Coovert amongst your choice of five candidates for state senators.

Lewis For Legislature

The primary election will be held on April 19th. This is a most important day, not only to the state of Oregon and to Multnomah county, but also to St. Johns. By reason of the decision of the supreme court in the annexation case St. Johns has taken a new lease of life. Every citizen of this city should endeavor to promote the interests and welfare of St. Johns.

It would seem that St. Johns ought to have and must have a representative who will not only work night and day in the interests of this community, but who can be depended upon to fight for what this city justly deserves.

D. C. Lewis of this city is a candidate for the legislature. His interest lies with St. Johns. His home is in this city. He is an experienced attorney and a student of political science, and well qualified to act as representative of this district. In Mr. Lewis the voters could feel that they had their representative a man upon whom they could rely with absolute assurance that the interests of the city of St. Johns would be protected, and with the assurance that they had a man who would force the legislature and the state at large to acknowledge St. Johns' claims for recognition as one of the first cities of the state.

Let the voters not forget that now is the time to forward their interests by the selection of a citizen of this city to represent them in the legislature. Perry C. Stroud.

Interesting Meeting

An interesting meeting was held in the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday evening. It was the regular meeting night of the club, and a goodly number was in attendance. After the business of the club had been disposed of, C. C. Chapman, president of the Portland Commercial club, made a few pleasing and interesting remarks. He congratulated the club upon securing the services of Mr. Crawshaw, whom he lauded most highly. He roundly scored the program advertising fakirs and advised business men to patronize the local paper instead. The Portland Commercial club, he said, would be only too glad to co-operate with the local club at any and all times. His address was heartily applauded. He was followed by Capt. Geo. Pope, president of the Oregon Sweet Pea association, who extended an invitation to the people of St. Johns to exhibit their flowers at the state show in Portland July 9 and 10, and also stated that the association would be glad to send the flowers to St. Johns after the show, if wanted. H. C. McAllister, secretary of the Elks' convention committee, suggested that the club make an effort to have the motor boat races of Elks' week pulled off at St. Johns. He promised his help toward this end, and stated that St. Johns was far better adapted for this exciting event than Portland. He believed fully 30,000 Elks would come down for the occasion besides innumerable other visitors. The matter will be taken up by the board of governors, and no effort left undone to secure this great attraction in connection with the sweet pea exhibition.

The club is growing right along, six new members being added.

Mrs. Coralyn M. Smith died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George W. Wheeler, 853 North Kellogg street, St. Johns, Sunday 5:30 p. m., after a brief illness. Mrs. Smith was a native of New York, was aged 63 years, and had lived in St. Johns but a few months. Three children survive her: Mrs. George W. Wheeler, St. Johns, Ore., E. A. Smith and Mrs. Lura O'Brien of Stockton, Kansas; the husband and father having passed away two years ago at Stockton. The remains were shipped East Tuesday evening. Mrs. Wheeler accompanying them. Funeral will be held at Stockton, Sunday evening, when she will be laid to rest beside her late husband.

The very best argument you can use on your neighbor to clean up his premises, is to show him a good example by cleaning up your own. A spirit of that kind is "catching." Try it on and see how it works. In this case, "Do as I do," is worth a thousand of the "Do as I say." In other words, "example is better than precept." It will pay to set a good example. Try it and see if it don't.

A committee has been appointed from the Commercial club to induce the county commissioners to install fire apparatus in the new ferry boat that is now being constructed. This is a good act, and the request should be acceded to by the commissioners. It would afford fire protection to the water front. Later—The committee of one, P. H. Edleson, yesterday afternoon interviewed the commissioners in regard to the matter, and they agreed to install the apparatus for fire fighting.

When a store cuts down its advertising the effect is not unlike that of a train that started on a thousand miles run, "backs up," goes on to sidings frequently, slows down and in every way disregards its running schedule and the service it owes to passengers. A train with such habits may eventually complete the trip—but on its next trip there will be fewer passengers. A store that advertises as a part of its Service Obligation to its patrons cannot afford to disregard that obligation, or to slight it.

The board of governors of the Commercial club favors the purchase of a team of horses and equipment by the city for the purpose of hauling the chemical engine for the fire department when occasion arises, and for the purposes of taking care of city garbage and to haul the sprinkling wagon in the good old summer time. The idea is a good one, but until the next levy is made funds available for the purpose are hardly in sight.
