The Portland city council has been having quite a time of it in deciding whether or not the power to regulate prices shall be included in the franchise to be given the Portland Railway, Light and Power Co. Portland seems to be behind the times. A number of St. Johns folks have concluded that it doesn't matter whether or not this power is included in a franchise; that any city has the power to regulate the prices despite the wording of franchises. Portland should

It seems to us if the socialists would discuss a few details connected with their doctrine it might give one an idea of what to expectsomething that little light is shed on by socialist advocates. Under socialism the average man would like to know how he himself would be benefited, if at all. How a government millions of dollars in debt could pay higher wages and yet operate at cost, unless it plunders the rich to pay its indebtedness. They say ''all must work or starve''-the same as slaves in the South. Yet competition is killed. That would mean practically manual labor for all. It would mean the elimination of women from their various employments, and compel them to rely upon the generosity of male relatives for any money they might want. It would mean one store, and only one of any other business in St. Johns. Several would be climinated entirely. It would mean the throwing out of employment of possibly millions of persons not now doing manual labor. Unfitted, as most of these are, for hard labor, what shall they do? For instance, one or two physicians could look after the wants of St. Johns. Almost a thousand printers in Portland would be thrown out of employment at their trade, since one newspaper would do, and job printing be unnecessary. By reason of long years of indoor work they are unfitted for manual work. What will they do to keep from starving? Who side line of Buchanan street to the westery shall do the work in the ditch, in of St. Johns, Ore., as shown by the resoluthe mines, and the undesirable work in general? One man would have no more right to be compelled to do this than another. One man would have as much right to become a professional man as anothes—that is, he must be afforded the same opportunity to do so. Anothe opportunity to do so. Another thing the people in general would corder; and legal posting of notices of like to know is, what objection the such improvement, as shown by the affilike to know is, what objection the socialists have to religion and the churches, since so very few so-cialists belong to any church. If the details cannot be satisfactorily explained, why should any man be persuaded to make a 'lear in the persuaded to make a "leap in the dark?" The usual reply that details will adjust themselves doesn't go very well in this enlightened age.

Hall and proceeded to the parsonage. It was a real surprise to the Rev. Plowman and wife, as they had intended to spend the evening out themselves. All seemed to enjoy the occasion and went away at a late hour, wishing the parson and family all kinds of good luck and God speed in their work among the people of St. Johns.
