The current year, it is said, will prove one of the best periods in the history of the lumber industry, the demand for forest products of Oregon being the best since the period following the San Francisco fire, when the forests of the Northwest were drawn upon heavily to rebuild that city. Prosperous conditions in the lumber trade will be felt generally throughout Oregon, so widespread is this industry.

Preliminary work for the construction of the north jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river will commence at once, plans having been approved at Washington and forwarded to the local engineers during the past week. The dance given in Bickner hall for the benefit of T. F. B. hall team was not the success it might have been had the members of the team taken more interest in the affair. The manager states that only three of the members put in an appearance, and only one purchased a ticket. His work is adding considerably to the attendance, and as an entertainer Fred has few superiors in his line. It is marvelous the many shapes he can twist himself into. In order that things do not grow monotonous, he has about 23 different acts or specialties, giving a change of program nightly. If you haven't seen him perform yet, it is worth your while to do so.

Hon. Jonathan Bourne sent the Boy Scouts 500 packages of seeds early in the season when the lads were expecting to grow a market garden, but failing to secure the land they were after, and so many of our citizens planting large gardens they deemed it best not to go in the business this year. After taking what seeds they needed for their own home gardens, they distributed the remainder among the citizens of St. Johns, so that they might be utilized and the purpose of the Department of Agriculture consummated.

"Curran says so," and Curran did just as he said he would. He gave St. Johns, Oregon, the most magnificent sweet pea show ever held in that wonder-state. Bro.
