Judge Williams Now

It is Judge Williams now, the county court having appointed J. E. Williams to serve out the unexpired term of the late O. R. Downs as Justice of the Peace. There were several applicants for the position. The appointment of Mr. Williams is eminently satisfactory. He is a man in whom all can have full confidence, and it is safe to say that all his decisions will be rendered in a just manner; that no influence could swerve him one way or the other. Judge Williams is a pioneer citizen of St. Johns, coming here when the city was just beginning to abandon its swaddling clothes. He made a splendid record as a member and president of the school board, and has proven himself to be one of our very best citizens with the welfare of St. Johns ever at heart. His office will be in room 4, Holbrook building.

You will pay the grocer 50 or 60 cents for eggs similarly kept, or perhaps cold storage eggs which are far worse; eggs kept for six months in this solution can not be told from absolutely fresh eggs; this manner of preserving eggs is endorsed by the government and all agricultural colleges.
