The ladies of the Debonair club picnicked in Columbia Park yesterday. It is needless to add that a most delightful time was enjoyed on the occasion, for that is the uniform result of a meeting of the good ladies of this progressive social organization.

Appropriations for Oregon River and Harbor improvements, that seem to be forthcoming, amount to $2,300,000. Bill has passed both houses of congress and has been approved by the committee awaiting only the president's signature. The biggest single item is $1,000,000 for the mouth of the Columbia work, while the Lower Willamette is scheduled for $180,000. Tillamook Harbor and the Nehalem river and harbor improvement each get $100,000. The Dalles-Celilo canal is listed for $700,000.

Gilbert Goodhue returned Sunday from an extended visit at his old home at Battle Creek, Mich. He says that the heat in summer and cold in winter is a little too much for him, and the storms which make the natives skurry to their storm caves like a prairie dog to its burrow are just a little too strenuous. He thinks he has come back to Oregon to live and die, and we think he is wise.

Mrs. D. C. Lewis and daughter, Dixie, left last Monday over the Oregon Electric for Newport, where they will remain for a month or six weeks. Now we may expect to hear our illustrious friend, D. C., punishing the piano and incidentally the neighbors, as he practices up on that classical baritone solo: "Oh! Joy! My Wife, She Has Gone to the Country."

Dairymen look forward to the Pacific International Dairy Show, which will be held at the Union Stockyards Nov. 18-23. It will be the biggest exhibit of dairy stock, products and machinery ever held in the Northwest and it is believed it will do much to stimulate interest in the dairy industry. At a meeting during the past week to complete plans, it was stated that with proper encouragement, the dairy output of this state should amount to $20,000,000 annually.

S. W. Rogers put out a Satsuma plum on his lot three years ago this spring. Last year he harvested two small jars of fruit from it. This season he gathered over 40 pounds from the tree. He brought the editor (pro tem.) a sample which he turned over to the "chef" at home. The little lady is prejudiced against plums, but reluctantly manufactured a dish of sauce for the family lunch that simply captured all beholders. The plum has the smallest seed of any variety we know, is less tart than the average and there is an entire absence of that pungent flavor common to the plum that is objectionable to many; in its place, however, there is a most delicious, delicate flavor that is sure to make it the favorite of all. It is a new Japanese variety.

Fire-bug and East Wind

"No I'll not burn my slash this spring,"
The moss-back logger said,
"I'll trust to God and luck again;
Expense is what I dread."

"It's time to hit the trail again"
The careless camper said,
And left his little fire ablaze
Within its leafy bed.

"I'll light another cigarette"
The idle loafer said,
And chucked his old snipe in the brush,
One end still glowing red.

"Let's punch the screen out of the stack,"
The donkey fireman said—
And so he did and all the sparks
Sailed blithely overhead.

"Come on, we'll dump our ashes now,"
The railroad trainmen said.
The train soon fanned them far and wide
As on its way it sped

"Good time to fire my slashing now,"
The thrifty rancher said,
And touched it off without a thought
Of how far it might spread.

"I think I'll blow an hour or two,"
The restless east wind said,
Then liked it so he changed his mind
And blew a week instead.

"Millions in lives and timber lost"
The newspapers next said.
What made those fires all start at once,
We wondered as we read.

"It wasn't us, it was the wind"
The fools in chorus said.
So they're alive and loose this year
—We hope the wind is DEAD.
E. T. Allen.
