Here's hoping that the best men will win at the election next Monday.

An exchange remarks that confidence men are the most wicked of men. How about those who are taken in by the confidence men? Was it not on account of a desire on their part to get something for nothing, or in other words, to beat the other fellow, that they were caught? It is generally a case of confidence men on both sides of the proposition.

It seems that some of the new voters do not quite understand why a candidate for city office may be both Republican and Democratic nominee. This is because they were chosen by both parties at the recent primaries for the office to which they aspired. Politics, however, should have little to do with city government. It is the man that counts every time, whatever his politics or religion may be.

He who stands on the street corners and on the byways and highways and cries graft, graft, and who casts odium and suspicion on public officials and public acts is a dangerous man, and if given the opportunity would be the greatest rascal of them all. Beware of such a man, and give no heed to his cant and ravings, for he invariably makes the howl because the opportunity of grafting has been denied him.—Exchange.

In justice to Councilman J. W. Davis, we desire to state that we do not believe that he intended to thwart the will of the people in the improvement of Smith avenue, and that if he was instrumental in holding it up temporarily he must have had what appeared to him good reasons for so doing. Mr. Davis has proven himself to be a valuable man in connection with street improvement, and we are loath to believe that he had other than the welfare of the city in mind when the matter was held over.

F. W. Valentine, who has been tried and not found wanting, should be re-elected as Councilman of the First Ward. He has taken a solid stand on all questions affecting the city's welfare and could not be swayed one way or another after he had made up his mind. Mr. Valentine's record is an open and an honorable one. He has served the city well in every respect and by all rights should be re-elected. pd adv.

Voters of the Second Ward, it is up to you to see that the best available men represent you in the city council. There is one in particular who is now representing you and who has fulfilled his duty in a manner that must secure the admiration of all, who has made good on every question of any importance that has arisen, and who ever has the courage of his convictions. That man is P. Hill. He is a man who not only advocates a square deal to all, but practices it. All his public acts are open and aboveboard. He is one of the heaviest property owners in the Second Ward, and it is but natural that he should be vitally interested in seeing that this ward receive all that it is fairly and justly entitled to. Be sure and return Mr. Hill to the city council for another year. pd adv.

"My little son had a very severe cold. I was recommended to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and before a small bottle was finished he was as well as ever," writes Mrs. H. Silks, 29 Downing Street, Sydney, Australia. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.

Banking your money regularly not only means that you get interest at the end of the year on each dollar you deposit; but it also means that you are prepared for sickness or calamity; that you can buy a home; that you can educate your children; that you can have a business of your own—it means INDEPENDENCE.

S. Benson, in attempting to have a law passed by Congress prohibiting the manufacture of whisky, is taking a practical method of abolishing the liquor evil. Whisky is the cause of more drunkenness than all other liquors combined, and more than half of the woes caused by the liquor habit will have been eliminated when the manufacture of whisky is abolished.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the greatest financier this continent has ever known, has passed from earth. Inheriting from his father what at that time was a colossal fortune of ten millions of dollars, he steadily added to it by various devious methods until he became the wealthiest man possibly in the world. Gold was his god, and he spent his entire life in its pursuit. The world was his prey and he exacted from it the uttermost farthing. Such a man with such a power is a menace to any country, and the world is fully as well off without men of his calibre and his means of gobbling up the wealth of the land.

The discovery that Jack pine of Central Oregon is suitable for making paper pulp is an important one to a large section of the state. It is expected the very large tracts of this timber will prove of considerable value when manufactured into paper.

You will look a good while before you find a better medicine for coughs and colds than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only gives relief—it cures. Try it when you have a cough or cold, and you are certain to be pleased with the prompt cure which it will effect. For sale by all dealers.

The fire department is getting arrangements for holding monster Fourth of July celebration in St. Johns well in hand. The financial end of it is most promising, and the department has full assurance that sufficient funds will be available to make it an event on a more elaborate scale than has ever before been attempted here. Negotiations are being made for a number of attractions of special merit, and others are being sought. The firemen have not yet fully decided whether to make the event longer than one day's duration, but the probabilities are that at least two days will be devoted to the jollification. The program will be one of the most attractive ever offered on the Coast, and will have a tendency to draw visitors from far and near. The celebration of July Fourth in St. Johns this year promises to mark an epoch in its history. Tell your friends about it.

Peppermint growing is to be tried near Albany, it being believed that this plant can be made a profitable crop. In the Wenatchee, Washington, country peanuts are being planted between the fruit trees, the tops to be used for hog feed and the nuts sold to peanut butter factories.

Thomas M. Thacabery, chief engineer of the St. Johns ferry, died Monday afternoon at the Good Samaritan hospital, Portland, after an illness of several weeks' duration. He had held the position of chief engineer at the ferry for several years, and has spent most of his life as a river man. He was born in Schoolcraft, Mich., in 1861, and is survived by two sons, one residing in Portland and the other in California. The funeral took place from the Finley undertaking parlors Wednesday. As a token of respect, the flag on the ferry was placed at half mast.

MINNEAPOLIS LADY BADLY SCALDED WHILE COOKING

While preparing dinner a young Minneapolis wife had the misfortune to scald her hand so badly that over half the skin came off. She was alone at the time and rushed over to her neighbor's for help. This neighbor promptly applied Allen's Ulcerine Salve and in ten days the hand was completely healed without a scar.

This salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 it has been known as the only salve powerful enough to cure chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful, it will heal burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by the St. Johns Pharmacy, and other leading druggists.
