At the present time a farmer in the Molalla District, about 20 miles from Oregon City, is harvesting a crop probably not grown by any other rancher in the Willamette Valley—teasels. His present crop consists of about 70 acres, and during the harvest season he will employ about 40 hands at $2.50 to $3.00 per day. The teasel is a bur for which the manufacturers of cloth find a use in raising the nap of the goods, a process for which no inventor has ever been able to invent a mechanical substitute.

A Communication

Editor Review: Will you tell an anxious inquirer why it is that our city dads are so willing to have cement sidewalks laid out in the country where no one has any use for them, and then overlook the rotten wooden walks right in the heart of the city where hundreds of our citizens travel daily? Is there any graft in this? Let us know.—An Indignant Taxpayer.

Very probably because the "country" property owners are more enterprising and progressive than some of those in the heart of the city, and petition for cement sidewalks while others do not. Believe the city dads show no preference in this regard. St. Johns city councils have been quite loath to take the initiative in matters of public improvements, preferring petitions instead. However the present city council is more broad in this respect than any former one we have cognizance of. It has taken the initiative in several instances, notably East Burlington, Crawford and St. Johns avenue, all of which proceedings have been started on for improvement. Possibly others will be taken up in the same manner later. There can be no graft in the proposition, because the opportunity does not exist. It is highly improbable that property owners are paying tribute to the city council to keep their streets from being improved with cement sidewalks. Nor at the low price received by contractors for cement sidewalks could they afford to pay tribute. So long as people in the "country" want cement sidewalks and those in the heart of the city do not and remonstrate such propositions down, the situation must remain unchanged until the city charter be amended. There is not the slightest doubt in the world, however, that a number of the sidewalks "close in" should be replaced by cement walks before a few legs are broken.—Ed.

During the past two weeks Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miller, 708 Allegheny street, has entertained Mrs. G. H. Rush of LaGrande and Jerome Hart of Clinton, Iowa. Mr. Hart is eighty years of age and says he likes Oregon better than any place he has ever visited and is well pleased with St. Johns, especially. He says that he is afraid to tell his Eastern friends the beauties of the wonderful Rose Show for fear they will think he is exaggerating.

Proposals for Street Work

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the recorder of the city of St. Johns, until August 26, 1913, at 8 o'clock p. m. for the improvement of Fox street from the north line of Charleston street, to the south line of Oswego street in the manner provided by Ordinance Number 554, subject to the provisions of the charter and ordinances of the city of St. Johns and the estimate of the city engineer on file. Engineer's estimate is $1,237.84.

Bids must be strictly in accordance with the printed blanks, which will be furnished on application at the office of the recorder of the city of St. Johns. And said improvement must be completed on or before 60 days from the date of the last publication of this notice. No proposals or bids will be considered unless accompanied by a certified check payable to the order of the mayor of the city of St. Johns, certified by a responsible bank for an amount equal to ten per cent. of the aggregate proposal.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.
By order of the city council.

Recorder of the city of St. Johns.

Creditors of the Pitchless Lumber Company, formerly doing business at St. Johns, will receive about 20 cents on the dollar by a settlement made in Vancouver recently. Her health broken by many years of school teaching in the Middle West, Miss M. E. Wheeler came to the Willamette Valley a little more than a year ago, bought about 25 acres of wild land a few miles south of Milwaukie and commenced clearing it with her own hands. By this Spring she had grubbed out the brush and trees and dynamited the stumps on seven acres. A part of this land was planted to oats, which at the present time are more than seven feet tall, and on another tract she is raising every kind of vegetable that can be grown in Oregon. As a result of the strenuous outdoor life, Miss Wheeler has completely regained her health and says she cannot understand why every one in Oregon does not take up farming.
