Clams and clam juice, 1256 dozen cans, valued at $1618, were condemned last week by City Market Inspector Melton at Portland and ordered sent to the incinerator. The clams and clam juice were sent to W. B. Glatke and Co., commission merchants, in 1906, and have been in storage since. This is said to be the largest lot of canned goods ever condemned in Portland.

Frederic Thompson, producer of the Toyland Grown Up concession at the Panama Pacific International Exposition, tried scores of engineers of world wide fame in an effort to find one who could work out a design for a mechanical man sixty feet high. All failed. Thompson, in a whimsical mood, told his idea to his twelve year old office boy and ordered the lad, in jest, to go home and make a working model. The boy, believing Thompson was in earnest, got busy and his model was so successful that the sixty foot man will be made from the lad's original drawing.

As the result of a conference recently held between the city health officials and the wholesale milk dealers of Portland, it was decided to wage a campaign against the watering of milk. Whenever watered milk is sent to that city it immediately will be condemned and dumped into the Willamette. The dealers promised to cooperate with the health officials by refusing to accept milk from farmers who persist in watering their products. A committee was appointed to confer with the railway companies relative to securing the installation of refrigerator cars on all railway lines for handling milk and refrigerator rooms in river boats on the Columbia and Willamette rivers.

To Our St. Johns Friends

Because of other business interests and owing to Mrs. Blackburn's continued ill health, we have sold our undertaking business stock, fixtures and good will to the St. Johns Undertaking Co., Thos. Grice, manager, who has already taken possession and will continue the business. We take this occasion to publicly thank the people of St. Johns for their many kindnesses to us. We feel that we have established in St. Johns a place of business that is very much needed, and we are sure that our successors will carry on the work here in every way satisfactory to the people, as they are men of many years experience in the undertaking business. We will be pleased to see them succeed, and to that end will consider any favor our friends extend to them as a personal favor to us.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Blackburn.

Mr. Grice, manager of the St. Johns Undertaking Co., has had twenty-five years experience in the undertaking business, is a graduate of the Cincinnati College of Embalming, also of the Chicago College of Embalming. He has moved to St. Johns with the intention of making this his permanent home, and becoming a St. Johns booster.

"Best and Oldest Friend"

Father! No language is perfect without the word; no home complete without the relation; no nation safe without its defense. In war and in conflict the father has ever been most daring and courageous. In times of peace, when problems are to be solved fathers are chosen for the task.

"Fathers' Day" services will be held in the Evangelical church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Special music has been prepared for the occasion, and a special invitation is extended to the business men of the city to attend.

Notice.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the firm of Blackburn, Chambers and Lowry, or to the Blackburn Undertaking Co. will confer a special favor by calling at my residence, 516 Central avenue, and arranging for balances due said firms. Liberal discount on all accounts paid in full by February 1st. A. H. Blackburn.

Notice to Lyceum Ticket Holders

A change in the dates for the Lyceum attractions has been made and the next number will be given Thursday evening, January 15th. D. Ernest Randall will entertain with cartoons, art lectures and chalk talks. Don't forget the date, January 15th.

The New Tax Law

The following review of the old and new tax laws, given by City Attorney LaRoche of Portland, should be carefully read by every taxpayer, and the obnoxious features of the new law carefully noted. It may save expenses by becoming familiar with its provisions.

The laws of 1907 provided that the taxes shall be paid on or before the first Monday in April. If paid on or before March 15, a rebate of 3 per cent was allowed. Taxpayers were given the option of paying one-half of their taxes on or before the first Monday in April, and upon such payment the payment of the second half was postponed until the first Monday in October, and if paid at that time no penalty or interest was attached. If the first half was not paid by the first Monday in April, the whole tax became delinquent and was subject to a 10 per cent penalty and interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum. If the first half was paid on or before the first Monday in April, but the second half was not paid on or before the first Monday in October, such second half thereupon became delinquent, a ten per cent penalty was imposed and interest computed at twelve per cent per annum from the date of the payment of the first installment.

The law of 1913 materially changed this provision of the law of 1907. Under the latter law, taxes are payable before April 1 of each year. No rebate is allowed at all. On April 1 the taxes become delinquent. A penalty of 1 per cent a month is charged on that portion of taxes paid after April 1 and paid before September 1. The law, however, permits of one-half of the taxes being paid before April 1 and the remaining one-half to be paid prior to September 1. However, if advantage is taken of this provision the penalties heretofore set forth are computed on the second half of the taxes until it is paid. The act further provides that all taxes remaining unpaid on the first day of September shall become delinquent and subject to a penalty of ten per cent and interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date on which they became delinquent until their payment.

Under the old law, taxes were payable on the first Monday in April. Under the new law they are payable on the first day of April.

Under the old law the second installment became due and payable on the first Monday in October. Under the new law the second installment must be paid prior to the first day of September.

Under the old law certificates of delinquency bearing interest at the rate of fifteen per cent per annum were issued at the expiration of six months after the date of delinquency. Under the new law such certificates of delinquency bearing the same rate of interest shall be issued at the expiration of one month after the date of delinquency.

The provisions of the old law with reference to the foreclosure and sale of land for delinquent taxes by the holder of the certificate of delinquency have not been altered. Under the new law the County Treasurer is made Tax Collector and the Sheriff is constituted the collector of delinquent taxes.
