 dacy for the nomination of Mayor of St. Johns at the primary election to be held in March. S. G. Wright.
 adv.

I herewith take the privilege of announcing that I will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of City Attorney of St. Johns, Oregon.
 THAD. T. PARKER.

I herewith announce myself as a Democratic candidate for the office of Councilman at Large at primary election to be held Mar.
 7th. H. M. WALDREF.

I herewith announce that I will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of City Treasurer of St. Johns, Oregon.

H. D. BEAM.
 811 Lynn Avenue.

To the Citizens of St. Johns: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Recorder of the city of St. Johns at the primaries March 7th.
 E. W. ANGELL.

S. C. COOK

 candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of City Treasurer of St. Johns, Oregon, subject to the pleasure of the voters at the primaries March 7th, 1914. S. C. COOK.

Representative Gillett of Massachusetts is the latest pinhead to hit the floor of the House with a little school boy list of complaints concerning his intellectual superior one W. Jennings Bryan. For the past 18 years the opponents of Mr. Bryan have been dissecting every word uttered and every deed performed by him in the earnest hope of finding therein something that would put him "in bad" with the people, and although Bryan has been neither silent or inactive, all these years, yet his would-be critics have been but slightly rewarded for their pains.
 In fact it is remarkable how few have been able to pick from the life of a man so prominent and active. Since his appointment to the office of Secretary of State, however, his enemies have become more desperate and troublesome. They have resorted to exaggeration and ridicule, to petty tactics and unfair criticism in their desire to run him out of office. Wall street, the trusts and corrupt monopolies do not want an honest, courageous man as chief advisor to the President, and, therefore, have no use for Mr. Bryan. They want an individual similar to his predecessor, Philander Knox, who never found anything to "knock" about in their rotten methods.

Now comes this man Gillette in a veritable frenzy of indignation over what he considers additional faults in the conduct and character of the Secretary.
 His itemized list of charges are as follows:
 Inexperience.
 Devotion to politics instead of Old style banking. Why not try the new?

In the olden times our fathers used to hide their savings in the old tea-pot in the closet, or under the mattress in the spare room. Methods have changed since then. We of to-day deposit our earnings in the modern Savings Bank, out of harm's way, and where they are increased each year by interest. How much better is the new way than the old. If you haven't a Savings Bank account, get in line with the march of progress, and open one with us immediately.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK, ST. JOHNS, OREGON

Chasing of dollars instead of pursuit of knowledge.
 Emotionalism instead of long-sighted judgment.
 The enormity of these offences are, indeed, appalling, but now let us put them to the acid test of reason, and find how just and true they are.
 Taking the first count, "Inexperience," is it then necessary for an applicant for the office of Secretary of State to take a course in diplomacy in some correspondence school before becoming eligible. If not, how are we to secure experienced Secretaries. Can any one consistent deny the existence of diplomatic genius in a man who, for 18 years, has stood at the head of his party, admired, honored and respected, a man who can be interviewed every hour of the day by keen reporters of antagonistic newspapers, give them plenty of good, sensible "copy" and yet never utter a word that might prove detrimental to either himself or his party.
 Has there ever been more "long-sighted" diplomacy shown than in the manner that Mr.
 Bryan turned down the Tammany tiger and nominated his preferred candidate at the Baltimore Convention. Was there not a slight smattering of diplomacy displayed in the speech that secured for him the nomination at the Democratic National Convention of 1896? Are there not instances on record too numerous to mention wherein the Nebraskan has proven himself equal to the most delicate emergency in the science of diplomacy?
 Strange as it may seem, there has never, until Mr. Bryan assumed the office of Secretary, been any especial "tab" kept upon the actual working time of high government officials. Other members of the Cabinet have been absent for weeks on pleasure trips or personal business and never a protest has been offered. Members of both Houses are never all present when even the most important bills are being voted on. President Taft kept the rails pretty warm through his administration, and when at home spent his mornings at the golf links, his afternoons at the baseball grounds or in motoring, and his evenings at banquets, except at such times when he found it necessary to add his signature to a bill increasing the tariff upon the necessities of life. The moment, however, that Mr. Bryan decided to spend his vacation at the Chautauquas among the class of people he likes to commune with and inadvertently pick up a few honest dollars at the same time, a terrible howl went up from all the "big business" newspapers throughout the land. Washington correspondents, encouraged no doubt, by generous tips from those interested in the downfall of Bryan, kept the wires hot with all sorts of slush concerning his movements. Corrupt politicians danced with joy in the belief that they had at last been fortunate enough to get the brainy Nebraskan on the hip.
 They emphasized the statement that the Secretary left his post at a time when the affairs between the United States and Japan had assumed a most critical aspect, and that the Japanese consul was unable to secure an audience with him. Perhaps, but those who are familiar with Bryan's past record know full well that there was a reason.
 Hot agitation more quickly cools by being kept from the fire, and by merely ignoring the excitable little Jap's frantic efforts to run a bluff on him seemed the best way out, and so, indeed, it proved to be.
 The money received by Mr.
 Bryan was not acquired by corrupt methods—it was fairly and honestly earned by imparting to his audiences some of the very goods that Mr. Gillette says he should be in pursuit of. He is not a miser, but merely a good provider, who intends that his family shall, after his demise, maintain the same position in life that he has made for them.
 Mr. Gillette, and others of his calibre, who believe that Mr.
 Bryan should be "in pursuit of knowledge" could, on the contrary, benefit greatly in that direction themselves by simply following the future movements of the Secretary with a view of learning something in the way of statesmanship and true diplomacy.
 Many reports have been circulated to the effect that President Wilson is very much disgusted with Mr. Bryan and his style of conducting the affairs of his office. In a letter to a friend, Mr. William L. Marbury, of Baltimore, February 7th of this year, Mr. Wilson says:
 "Your reference to the Secretary of State shows how comprehensively we have been looked on during the last few months.
 Not only have Mr. Bryan's character, his justice, his sincerity, his transparent integrity and his Christian principle made a deep impression upon all with whom he has dealt; but his tact in dealing with men of many sorts, his capacity for business, his mastery of the principles of each matter he has been called upon to deal with, have cleared away many a difficulty and have given to the policy of the State Department a definiteness and dignity that are very admirable. I need not say what pleasure and profit I myself have taken from close association with Mr. Bryan or how thoroughly he has seemed to all of us who are associated with him to deserve not only our confidence, but our affectionate admiration"

J. N. Edlefsen, in a commucation elsewhere in this paper, hits the keynote in a situation that more than one citizen has felt, even if he has not given expression to his thoughts. It is a fact that considerable money goes from St. Johns to aid some charitable institution in Portland, and scarcely a week passes but that some one from that city is soliciting aid from the business men here. The thought that Mr. Edlefsen brings out is that this money might better be used in our own city in caring for our own people who are in need of help. There can be no doubt that some plan should be devised to bring this about.
 Some local body should take the matter up and have this money diverted to St. Johns, and placed in a fund to be dispensed where it will do the most good. Any suggestions along this line in the way of communications will be welcomed and gladly published.
