

Oregon Is Well Represented At United States Land Show

CHICAGO, ILL.—Oregon stood out prominently at the United States Land Show during the three weeks it was held at the Coliseum, Nov. 20 to Dec. 8. Aside from the bountiful displays of the state's products in the Oregon booth and the unimpaired exhibit of the Great Northern Railway on the main floor, the Great Northern Railway's exclusive lecture hall proved a telling medium of acquainting land show visitors with the state's wonderful resources, both agricultural and horticultural. This lecture hall, consisting of one-half of the Coliseum annex, had a seating capacity equal to that of a good sized theater. Motion pictures and stereopticon views were used to illustrate the lectures of the Great Northern Railway's experts, and besides C. C. Chapman of the Portland Commercial club other Oregon men were given the use of this lecture hall daily through the courtesy of Louis W. Hill.

Never before has there been such effective missionary work done among homeseekers for the state of Oregon. Scores of jars of fruits, large sections of transparencies showing scenes in the fruit growing districts of Oregon and great varieties of fruits in their natural state were exhibited in the huge booth of the Great Northern Railway. The dry farming sections of Oregon were not overlooked either, many astonishing varieties of grasses and other land products being exhibited. They attracted much attention. Colonel Hill Hanley visited the show and occupied the platform of the Great Northern Railway's lecture hall on Oregon day. Colonel Hanley always is a big drawing card in Chicago, and standing room was at a premium when he gave a characteristic talk on the great possibilities his home state holds out to the homeseeker. Louis W. Hill accompanied Mr. Hanley from St. Paul to Chicago to attend the land show.

TRY OUR SHOES AND HOSE

The People of Means in our community are apt to feel that because their local stores are small as compared to city stores that the stocks are old, of less style and snap than the large organizations. But this is not the fact. We take our cues from the largest stores when selecting our goods for both The Men's Toggery and Dry Goods Department.

Buying Conditions Enable Us to Get Small Lots of the Newest creations in our lines and that is what comprises our stock very largely. But for Hosiery and Shoes we carry stocks that are a credit to larger concerns than we are. The best of stores carry Regal and Florsheim Shoes, Buster Brown and Wunderhose. There are none better.

At our Dry Goods Store the assortment of Ladies' and Misses' Hose varies in price from 10c to $1.25 per pair.
