Editor Review: Many women are driven to their graves ahead of time by a husband who neglects his family in financial ways, but can afford to belong to three or four different lodges, and all he looks for at his home is to be waited upon and see that things are ready in time. His own children he does not have time to get acquainted with. In sickness and in need of sympathy he has no time, but it is all left to that "nagging wife."—One With Experience.
