"Avoid strange dogs, but if approached by a dog dripping saliva from his jaws stand perfectly still, since rabid dogs do not notice still objects," says Dr. B. T. Simms, veterinarian at the Oregon Agricultural College. "Animals bitten by rabid dogs should either be killed or given the pasteur treatment. If dogs are bitten by other dogs suspected of being rabid, they should be closely confined and watched for sixty days. Sick cats, especially those having fits, should be avoided. Every person bitten by rabid dogs should take the pasteur treatment, which can be had in nearly every hospital. If the dog is suspected of being rabid, shut it up and watch it closely for symptoms, which will develop in six to ten days. The wound made by a suspected dog should be cauterized at once with nitric acid or carbolic acid. The suspected dog should not be killed until its infection is proved or disproved. If rabid, its head should be packed in ice and sent to the State Board of Health at Portland."

The Bachelors Picnic Should Not be Tolerated

The members of the Bachelor Club and their lady friends held a most delightful picnic last Sunday. They chartered the gasboat Eva of Portland, and proceeded up the Columbia river to a point in Washington, about half way between Vancouver and Camas. There they prepared a big picnic dinner and feasted. In the afternoon Harry Fassett and Archie Smock were appointed captains to choose the players for a ball game. Fassett's team was called "Sons of Rest." Smock's team was styled the "Chair Warmers." A silver cup had been previously provided as a prize for the winning team. The "Sons of Rest" were winners by a 2 to 1 score. The rooting was a chief feature of the game. The ladies who accompanied the players lined up on opposite sides and rooted for their own friends. The two best yells were: "Razzle, Dazzle, Zip a Zazzle, Zip, Boom, Bah! Chair Warmers, Chair Warmers, Rah! Rah! Rah!" And, "Gazella, Gazella, Gazay! Get out, Get out, Get out of the way! Are we in it? Well, I guess yes! We are Rooters for the 'Sons of Rest!'"

After the ball game, swimming was in order, but the water was so cold that they soon sought the shore. Then followed a ladies' race, 50 yard dash, which was won by Miss Gladys Garvin; ladies' ball throwing contest, also won by Miss Garvin. W. E. Byerlee and G. Teeling were appointed captains to choose sides for a tug of war, which contest was won by Byerlee's team. Prizes were given to winners of all contests.

In the early evening another big feast was taken care of; then a big fire and singing by individuals and groups until 9 p. m., when they pulled out for home, all voting it one of the very best times they had ever had.

Should Be Watched

As a substitute for the old ten party line service discarded by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, a measured four party line service may be installed. The company, at a meeting of the Council Tuesday afternoon, offered to install a measured four party line service, giving 35 calls a month, for $1.75, and 3 cents additional for each additional call. This did not exactly meet with the approval of the Council, and Commissioner Daly proposed that the company give a measured service on a four party line allowing 30 calls a month for $1.50 and for each call over the maximum to charge at the rate of 3 cents a call. Officials of the company promised to give their answer in a week. This will give a better service than formerly could be had on the ten party line phones.—Portland Daily Abstract.

This simple German remedy first became famous by curing appendicitis and it has now been discovered that A SINGLE DOSE removes sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation INSTANTLY. Adv.

Should Not be Tolerated

We have no penal colony. We have in every state organizations of men who are directly and openly plotting to overthrow our free institutions, murder the rich and plunder the country. They steal the holy name of labor as a false watchword. They claim the holy gift of free speech as a justification for their mouthings. They are a menace to peace, order, law, to the underlying principles upon which our Republic is founded. They care nothing for an arrest, and a short term of imprisonment but adds to their prestige among the scum in their rank.

A country like ours should not tolerate such a menace as this. When they commit a crime and are convicted, or when they openly preach treason and assassination, and are convicted, they should be sentenced to serve a term of years at some military post and there be put under strict military discipline, not as free American patriotic soldiers, but as prisoners to be subject to the discipline which strict military rule imposes. They should have a uniform of their own to distinguish them from honored soldiers—it should be understood from the first that they are prisoners serving out just sentences.

With a knowledge that such a law was in the books and would be enforced, there would be a swift cooling down of the noisy leaders. We think Haywood, himself, would hesitate about doing anything that would subject him to a four hour military drill daily, and put an embargo on his murderous tongue. We can afford to be gentle to the weak brained criminal, to the unfortunate which poverty leads into crime, but to the strong men, who in the name of labor declares in effect that they mean to live upon the labor of others, or to the lusty vagabond who, under the guise of a right to free speech, speaks treason and anarchy; no gentle treatment is due, for a free people have the right of self protection, and society has a right to rest in security against those who threaten their right to overthrow it.—Goodwin's Weekly.
