B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts, Friday evening, October 9th, 1914, High School Auditorium at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

About a year ago J. S. McKenny released three Golden China pheasants, a cock and two hens. He was informed a day or two ago that one of the hens with eleven half grown pheasants were seen near the Catholic church. According to the game laws, Golden China pheasants are immune from slaughter at all times, and the penalty for killing one is quite severe.

A preacher, raising his eyes from his desk in the midst of his sermon, was paralyzed with amazement to see his rude boy in the gallery pelting the hearers in the pews below with horse chestnuts. But while the good man was preparing a frown of reproof, the young hopeful cried out: "You tend to your preaching, daddy; I'll keep 'em awake."—Exchange.

The Oregon Grape Club met at the home of Mrs. Weimer, Friday afternoon, September 24th. The attendance was unusually large, there were twenty-one members and nineteen visitors present. An announcement which will be of great interest to their many friends is that of the engagement of Miss Gladys Garvin to Paul Cochran, both residents of this city. The wedding will probably take place some time during the coming Fall months.

The political situation during the last week has remained unusually quiet. Candidates for governor and U. S. senator are making speeches in the outside counties, apparently leaving their efforts to win votes in Multnomah county to the last two or three weeks of the campaign. It is not yet definitely known whether Senator Chamberlain will leave his post at Washington to take part in the local campaign.

During the past two weeks the Portland office of the Oregon State Immigration Commission has had a half dozen men in the field listing farm lands for the benefit of prospective settlers, securing accurate legal descriptions, noting the physical character of the land and making a note of the prices at which owners are willing to sell. These listings demonstrate that there is available at the present time plenty of good, productive farms and at reasonable prices in nearly all sections of the state.

Six additional Chinese workmen have arrived from China with the Chinese government pavilion and a duplicate of one of the temples of the Forbidden City for the Panama Exposition at San Francisco. The buildings were built in China and "knocked down" to be brought to the Exposition. A gang of Chinese workmen have been building the wall and the main supports of the buildings on the Exposition grounds and the parts completed will be fitted in at once. The Chinese appropriation is $750,000.

Dr. O. P. Burris will deliver one of his famous cartoon lectures entitled, "What has the Saloon done for you?" at the Christian church next Friday evening, October 9th, at 8 p. m., under the auspices of the C. E. Society. This will be a lecture discussing the saloons from all sides, also containing much wit and humor. Dr. Burris is one of those rare individuals who can combine cold facts together with humor that holds the intense interest of his hearers and sends you away with a smile upon your lips and a burden lifted from your heart. This lecture will be free and you are cordially invited to bring a friend.—Chas. L. Graden.

M. E. Church Notes

The Annual Conference adjourned its sessions last Monday about noon, at which time Bishop R. J. Cook read the appointments of the ministers for the ensuing year. There were but few changes in the city. Rev. Ingalls was returned to St. Johns for another year.

The regular order of services will be resumed next Sunday as usual: Sunday school 9:50; morning sermon 11; Junior League 3 p. m.; Senior League 6:30 p. m.; evening sermon 7:30 p. m.

Next Sunday, October 4th, is the day set apart as a special day for prayer for peace by President Wilson, and the morning and evening services will be in harmony with the President's request. Let every person whose soul is burdened because of the terrible war going on in Europe, and desires the great blessing of peace to come to the troubled nations, join earnestly and prayerfully with us in all the services.

We are now beginning a new Conference year. Let every one begin now to work in earnest to make this year better than the last. That's progress.
