The speaker said that psychology was never to the forefront as it is today, and every man and woman should have a knowledge of it. So many are afraid of the word "psychology," especially people who claim to be Christians, but she declared it was "common sense," and surely we all need a baptism of it. It makes us more efficient in any walk of life, and the twentieth century is calling for specialists.—Reporter.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Benson died last Saturday evening. Bowel trouble developed several days previous, and although every effort was exerted to save the life of the little one, it was without avail, and death came as above stated. He was a bright, happy little child and his death came as a terrible shock to his parents. He was only a little more than a year old. His four year old sister was stricken with a like trouble at about the same time, and for a time it was feared that her life also would not be spared, but she is now out of danger. The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon. The sympathy of the entire community go out to the parents in their hour of deepest sorrow.

There has been so much misunderstanding concerning the proposition of purchasing a site on the Gattion tract for cemetery purposes that we have been requested to publish the following facts: That about five acres have been offered at $1600 per acre, which if sold at the minimum price asked for cemetery lots, would return $4200 net per acre, or a net profit of $2600 per acre; that Mr. Gattion has agreed to take his pay for the land as the lots are sold, which stops interest as each payment is made. It is also said that a saving of $15 would result in each funeral by burial in St. Johns over burial in Portland.
