Some people were made to be soldiers
 But the Irish were made to be cops;
 Sauerkraut was made for the Germans,
 And spaghetti was made for wops.
 Fish were made to drink water,
 And bums were made to drink booze;
 Banks were made for money
 And money was made for the Jews,
 Everything was made for something—
 Most everything but a miser—
 God made Wilson for President,
 But who in thunder made the Kaiser?

 The "Wall Street" of Charlotte

CHARLOTTE

HOME OF CAMP GREENE

Historic Town in Piedmont Section of North Carolina is One of Most Favored Cities of the South—Climate, Water and Surroundings Unequaled—Ideal Location for Cantonment.

Charlotte, the city which is to be the transient home of the Western troops, is a historic community, celebrated for the most part by reason of the fact that it was here that the First Declaration of Independence was executed. Patriots of Mecklenburg, the county of which Charlotte is the seat, gathered on a spot now the central site of the city, marked by the intersection of its two principal streets, and without awaiting the later action in Philadelphia, signed a document in behalf of British independence, which has become historic, on May 20th, 1776. This date is annually celebrated by the State, with Charlotte staging its most monumental pageant, Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, Vice-President Marshall and President Wilson have all been the distinguished guests of honor on the occasions of these celebrations. President Wilson having made the principal address and being the central figure in the celebration on May 20th, 1916.

Charlotte is, moreover, the metropolis of North Carolina. Its population is 50,000 and it is the most favored of all Carolina cities in many activities, notably that of cotton manufacturing. Within a radius of 50 miles of Charlotte are 400 cotton mills with a payroll of $10,000,000 a year and having over 400,000 employees. Its own principal industry is cotton manufacture and the manufacture of by-products of cotton. It is the main distributing center of the Carolinas being State headquarters for more automobile distributing agencies than any other city in the two States. Its skyscrapers are office buildings tenanted by representatives of Northern and Eastern firms and corporations whose range of activities is over North and South Carolina, the Southern branches of these institutions being centered here.

The aggregate cost of the cantonment when it shall have been made ready for the troops will be between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000. There will be an aggregate of nearly 2,000 buildings of wooden construction, in addition to thousands of tents. The wooden structures are barracks, mess halls, hospitals, officers' headquarters and every other essential of a city for an army numbering 50,000 men.

In addition to this central camp or cantonment center, there will be other locations for specific divisions of this vast array of guardsmen. There will be an aviation field of hundreds of acres; a remount station of equal area; a rifle range, artillery range, this latter having as its objective King's Mountain of revolutionary fame. It is approximately 15 miles distant from the main cantonment.

The aviation squad will number 2,500 airmen with half that number of machines. This will be stationed east of the city.

The improved section of Myers Park, the handsome and fashionable residential suburb of Charlotte, will be utilized for some division of the guardsmen, perhaps for the aviation corps.

There will be 12,000 horses in the artillery division and another site will be requisitioned for the accommodation of these.

And, then, there will be several hundred acres used for maneuver grounds, located six miles east of the city on a stretch of sandy loam that can be easily used during any period of excessive precipitation.

To get the camp for Charlotte there has been no stinting on the part of the progressive people of Charlotte. Whatever charges had to be met for the use of any and all of the nearly 10,000 acres available, have been borne by the business men of Charlotte who have an appreciation of what it means to have a city of equal size to the present proportions of Charlotte in point of population spring up almost overnight just on the outskirts.

The construction work will have been completed at the present rate of progress by the time the last contingent of the 50,000 or more soldiers who are coming here will arrive. A veritable army of laborers are engaged now clearing up underbrush, burning the green trees that have been felled from historic forests, laying beds for the concrete military roads, building barracks and mess houses, leveling and filling up ditches and otherwise converting the landscape of cotton fields and wooded lands into a city for the habitation of man.
