Engineers have been active on the Weyerhaeuser tract the past few days, and it is said that the big ship plant, which was believed would locate near the Monarch mill, may yet locate on the Weyerhaeuser tract just north of the local ship plant. The closer to St. Johns proper, the better.

Two of the men at the Western Cooperage plant who were made to kiss the flag last week, returned to work Monday morning. At the noon hour a bunch of the workmen gathered the unpatriotic ones in and marched to the office, where treasurer was requested to give them their time, which was quickly acceded to, and the two were told to leave the plant instantly and not return if they knew what was good for them, so it is reported. The couple lost no time in taking their departure.

A pretty wedding took place at the Evangelical church last Wednesday, when Mr. Roy Sheedel and Miss Eva F. Edmondson were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. A. P. Layton performing the ceremony. The groom who recently came here from the East, and where he met his bride a number of years ago, is helping Uncle Sam at the local ship plant. The bride is the popular and well liked daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Edmondson, of St. Johns. The many friends of the young couple unite in wishing them a most happy voyage down the stream of life together. They will make their home on South Jersey street.

Miss Georgia Rich will present a number of her pupils in a piano recital, assisted by Miss Joanna James, soprano, of Salem, Oregon, Saturday evening, April 20, 1918, at eight thirty, in the auditorium of the James John high school.
