As a result of several complaints from various quarters, Chief Johnson issued a memorandum Friday to the captains of police calling attention to the city ordinance which prohibits the calling of papers by news boys earlier than 8 o'clock Sunday morning and for the early night editions later than 11 o'clock every night. Annoyed by the cries, people have complained, it is said, that they cannot sleep for the noise created by newsies.

Hereafter in addition to apportioning the Thanksgiving turkey and the pennies given in change by conductors, father will have to keep a roster for passengers on the family motorcycle, according to Captain Harms of the police force. Beginning with the arrest at 7:30 Saturday morning of H. Laison, 351 East Third street, at Schuyler street and Union avenue, charged with carrying more than two persons on his motorcycle, the ordinance prohibiting such practices will be strictly enforced. Captain Harms desires to issue this warning, says the Telegram.

Forty-seven years without closing his eyes, then a period of total blindness and final restoration of full vision is the record of a Bangor, Maine, photographer. An explosion of chemical burned away the lids on both eyes. Forty-seven years later, both eyes went blind from cataract. In a Philadelphia hospital the cataracts were removed, sight restored, and with a graft from his leg, a new set of eyelids was made. Surgery has many a triumph.

In a public sale on the steps of the Multnomah county court house yesterday afternoon, William W. Crawford purchased the Monarch lumber mill, located in the industrial center of the Peninsula. His bid for the mill and site was $530,000 and for the lumber yard, $12,000 making a total of $542,000. Crawford, who was the only bidder, is the mortgagee of the property, the amount of the mortgage being $600,000. There is over $5000 in taxes delinquent against the property and this sum will be paid when the mortgage is finally satisfied in the court records. Deputy District Attorney Arthur Murphy represented the county at the sale. The Monarch mill, which is one of the largest in the Northwest, has been tied up in litigation for the past six years. During this time it has remained idle most of the time, but was put into use during the emergency period of the war last year. It is said that the sale yesterday cleared up the final bit of litigation and it will soon be put into operation.
