Our Cure for the High Cost

We have reduced delivery to the minimum; we are active and aggressive in the conduct of the business; we are preferred buyers because of our quantity purchases and cash payment. We pay no book-keeper as we sell for cash only and do not need books.

Our rent is not high compared with the sales volume; our location is ideal. We have cut the margin of profit consistent with a large amount of sales. Our Groceries are not "cheap groceries" but are simply quality goods at minimum prices.

Compare the prices we are listing here with those of the "Service Grocer" who carries charge accounts, who carries the goods to you, who loses the bad accounts that you must pay and who buys in small lots.

- Post Toasties Kellogg's Corn Flakes
- Grape Nuts Shredded Wheat Biscuit all, 2 for 25c. pre war prices
- Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour 14c
- Olympic and Golden Rod P. C. Flour 30c
- Cream of Wheat 25c
- Wheat Eats 20c

Flour recently advanced 25¢ per sack wholesale but our prices are, Northern Flour $2.85, Snowdrift $2.95, Crown $3.00. We can sell it this way because we bought heavily before the rise.

We are first in the market in our district with the new crop of Raisins, seedless and with seeds; New Oregon Walnuts, Kraut and Mince Meat.

THE DIAGNOSIS: Competition among the Grocers for Service got so keen that they would pay a man to go to your home for your order, pay the bookkeeper for keeping the account, pay a man for delivering the goods, besides.

Local News

Rain in plenty is with us this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Freum have returned from the Hood River valley, where they were getting some practical experience in harvesting apples.

Mrs. Geo. F. Crow, who underwent a serious operation at a Portland hospital recently, is reported to be getting along in fine style and expects to be home in a couple of weeks.

Owing to the city election which takes place on November 12th, it will be impossible for Mr. Elliot to give his illustrated talk on birds at the St. Johns library on that date. The next talk in the series will be given Nov. 26th.

Miss Leo Currier, of 416 East Chicago street, who underwent an operation on the throat at Good Samaritan hospital two weeks ago, returned home Monday. Miss Currier is book-keeper at the department store of Bonham & Currier.

Timothy Harbin, formerly a well known St. Johns boy, but now operating a ranch near Aberdeen, greeted old time friends here the first of the week. The serious illness of his father in Portland called him here. "Tim" became a benedict the 15th of last month. He is looking fine.

A "Newlyweds" class is being organized at the United Evangelical Church and all the "Newlyweds" are invited and urged to come and join this class. We have prospects of having a very fine and capable teacher, so come on all you Newlyweds, let's make this a boomer class. Let's show them what we can do.—A Booster.

Two deaths resulting from "sleeping sickness," technically known as lethargic encephalitis, have occurred in Portland during the last week and another case now is under surveillance. The prevalence of the disease until Tuesday night was unknown by the city health authorities because the cases were said not to have been reported to the city health bureau. The discovery resulted from the death certificates entered in connection with the two fatal cases, both of which gave the cause of death as lethargic encephalitis. A general opinion prevails that "sleeping sickness" is fatal in all instances, but according to competent medical men such is not the case. It is said that about 20 per cent of the victims of the disease succumb, while the remaining 80 per cent recover without any apparent ill effects.

Interest in local business activities is just now overshadowed by the critical national situation. Strike conditions are, for the moment, much less disturbing in Portland than in the Bay and Sound cities. A strike which would have tied up all construction work at the St. Johns Municipal Terminal has been narrowly averted the past week, as has also a street car strike. The height of optimism prevails and business expansion continues apace, as shown by bank clearings, new corporations formed and an unprecedented volume of retail buying. It is reported, however, that local jobbers and retailers are placing their orders for spring delivery with greater caution. Lumber shipments are being seriously retarded by shortage of cars. Production has not quite reached normal in the coast mills at any time during the past year.—Peninsula National Bank Letter for November.

Ozone Oxygen Vapor, Massage, Violet Ray, High Frequency, Electricity, Vibratory, Spinal Treatments, Faradic, Organic Corrective Methods, Super Heat Cabinet Sweats; free examinations; 24 treatments $20.—Dr. Jenson, Chiropractor, (since 1910), 304 Raleigh building, Washington at 6th; phones Main 1132—C 1216.

Wanted—Lady calendar salesman. Apply at 404 N. Jersey.

Mrs. David, mother of Mrs. Vinson, has gone to Montana for the winter.

Rev. B. C. Dewey, evangelist, will speak at the Free Methodist church next Sunday.

Geo. F. Crow of 907 S. Kellogg has associated himself with Talbot & Casey as salesman for Ford cars and trucks. Note his announcement in next week's issue.

The opening of the new Christian church last Sunday was attended by a large number of people, who were greatly pleased with the convenience and attractiveness of the handsome new edifice.

Death is nothing more or less than slipping back into your own subconsciousness, and so becoming greater and finer and more active—more useful, too—and with grander powers than we ever had in our united imperfect bodies. Life is nothing but an episode in our universal life. Death is just a change of direction then, really; that's all.—From "The Promise of Air," Algernon Blackwood.

"Carry On"—This is the slogan for the Third Annual Red Cross Drive and Portland's quota is $120,000. Come on, folks let's push it thru. All you need is a heart and a dollar, and you surely all have that for such a noble work as the American Red Cross. The War may be over, but the results and effects of the war are all about us, soldiers in hospitals all over our land and "over there" who must be cared for, and who is there to do it? The Red Cross, of course. Can they do it without funds? Can you live without money? No. Neither can the Red Cross. So let's all come across with a dollar. When the solicitors come to you and ask for a subscription, do not turn them away, but gladly and willingly give. For our Master says, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." That is what the Red Cross is doing; and that is what we are doing when we stand behind it.—Contributed.

There is greater need now for more extensive drydock facilities in Portland than ever before in the history of the city. Three ships are on the one drydock owned by the Port of Portland commission, three more are waiting to be docked and applications were received Tuesday by the commission for docking three additional ships. The ships now on the drydock are the steamer schooner Chehalis, the sailing schooner Lucy and a concrete ship built in the Vancouver, Wash., yards. The steel steamer Wapama and two or three concrete boats were dry-docked Wednesday and on Sunday the Nishmaha, hull No. 5, built by the Standifer Shipbuilding company will be placed on the drydock. The Emergency Fleet corporation has applied for drydock space for the Mindora, a ship of the Ballin type, and owner of the steam schooner Lindauer want to drydock this vessel. The steam schooner Cello, which recently was damaged in a collision of the California coast, will be brought to Portland for drydocking because of labor troubles in the drydock in California. The port commission realizes the necessity for greater drydock facilities and is planning the construction of one or more pontoons to the present drydock. The public dock commission is on record for the construction of a drydock of large capacity, but it has not yet been determined when or where this drydock will be located.

Here is a BOOK You should have

It has a most significant title:

What to look for in buying a PHONOGRAPH

Its language is simple, its message instructive. It was written by Henry Purmort Eames, L. L. B., Concert Pianist and Lecturer, Director Pianoforte Dept. Cosmopolitan School of Music. Wouldn't you like a free copy?

THE BRUNSWICK PHONOGRAPH, which plays the records of ALL makes, invites the most rigid application of the tests Mr. Eames says should govern phonograph purchases.
