Orin F. Fenderson, 35, of Seattle, was placed on trial before Municipal Judge Rosaman this morning on charges of having attacked two little girls in the St. Johns district yesterday. The hearing will be continued this afternoon. Fenderson, who says he came to Portland about ten days ago, was arrested by Sergeant R. L. Crane and Patrolman Roberts, of the St. Johns police station, at Columbia boulevard and Gilbert street, after an extended chase through the woods. He was stopped, the police state, only after Sergeant Crane had ordered Roberts, who was in the lead, to shoot. According to the police, two sisters, aged 5 and 8 years, were lured to the woods by a story of where canary birds could be caught. The older girl escaped, it was said, and went home, followed a few moments later by the younger sister. Their story put the police on the trail. The children were not injured. A list of some fifty or sixty names of little girls with addresses throughout the state and in Seattle and Tacoma was said to have been found in Fenderson's possession.—Wednesday's Telegram.

The Peninsula National Bank, oldest bank on the Peninsula, is now protected by one of the most modern, up-to-the-minute burglar alarm signal systems ever installed in the city of Portland. The system represents an expenditure of more than a thousand dollars and is so intricate that it has required several months to do the work. The Peninsula Electric company, of which R. B. Wall is manager, installed the system under the direct supervision of Chief Charles A. Savariou, Supt. of Fire Alarm and police telegraph of city of Portland, and Sergeant R. L. Crane. The vault of the bank, including floor and ceiling, is now encased in panels into which have been woven a net work of fine copper wire. So closely are the wires set together that it is impossible to penetrate the walls without coming in contact with the wires. More than 15 miles of wire were used in the panels and 33 batteries placed within the vault furnish juice. The entire system is connected by a direct line with the St. Johns police station where the alarm has been placed. It is so constructed that the opening or closing of the vault, the breaking of one of the wires or cutting of the main line starts the bell at the station which rings continuously until turned off within the vault. If the vault is being opened or closed, they must first signal the police station and receive an answer before proceeding. A daylight alarm is also connected with the station.

The Literary Digest of May 22d contained a most excellent article on the wholly inadequate pay of Uncle Sam's postal employees, and should be read by all. It says in part: "Our postal laws, until we change them, treat all employees, high and low, letter carrier, porter, clerk and superintendent in the most niggardly way. They work night and day, often in unwholesome quarters and under severe strain. Their minds are crowded with endless details of an exacting system. Their bodies are racked and worn by harsh conditions and cruel burdens, and they are the lowest paid free workers in the United States. It is time for us all to know the facts and to see that quick justice is done." In conclusion it advises: "Write to your Congressman and to both of your Senators, every one of you men and women who has a heart and an active sense of human justice. Don't put it off: the time before Congress will adjourn is short. Urge them to give their most ardent support to the bill putting into immediate effect a substantial increase of salaries throughout the entire postal service of the United States. Congress will gladly and quickly pass this bill when the American people rally to its support. If you don't know the names of the Senators and Congressman ask your letter-carrier, or postmaster, or banker. Let all business houses be heard from and all civic societies and fraternal orders. Rescue these postal toilers from penury and narrow lives and set them on their feet as American citizens who need not suffer nor be ashamed in their service of us all."

Rugs! Rugs! Rugs!
Don't you want some?

Dear Mary—
This morning I saw a new rug in the window at H. F. CLARK'S. My heart was instantly so set on it that I went right in and bought it. It was an oriental design. Rugs, I think, are the very BASIS of beautifying your home. Without pretty rugs a woman cannot have a charming home. What a joy it is to tread upon a luxurious rug in your own home!

Your friend—HELEN.
