The Cash and Carry Grabateria The Changing Times

The era of Chain Stores came about because a group of men with large capital could, by starting stores in different localities increase the outlet of merchandise emanating from one source.

The Chain Store system is nothing more than any other store except the buying part is concentrated at one place. The buyers for these stores have their headquarters at the source of production and they buy direct from the packer or the producer.

It goes without saying that a buyer who can buy the same sort of merchandise for several hundred stores can command a better price than a buyer for just one store.

The secret of advantageous grocery prices in St. Johns is this ability to buy in connection with many other stores. That is why you have had established by this store better prices than prevail almost anywhere in Portland.

Coupled with this buying capacity, the activity of the owners, the acquaintance with the locality because of our long residence here ought to convince anyone that we can do business at less cost than the average grocery.

We always believed that "a word to the wise was sufficient."

The fuel department of the St. Johns Lumber company has added considerable new equipment, including bunkers and trucks that enable the company to handle more loads with greater facility. Good wood, big loads and prompt service are to be obtained there. Manager Stearns is sparing no effort to make the fuel department the best there is.

Anyone having an idea that good corn cannot be grown in this part of the country is woefully mistaken. About the middle of May William C. MacDonald of North St. Johns planted corn at his place. Saturday he brought a couple specimens to this office, one of them corn that measured 9 feet 6 inches in length, and sweet corn that measured 8 feet 4 inches.

Two former well known citizens of St. Johns passed away during the past week: H. E. Pennell, formerly with the St. Johns Lumber company and president of the St. Johns Commercial club, passed away at his home in Portland. Harry C. Hunter, at one time local city councilman, died at Los Angeles last Saturday.

In reply to a number of inquiries as to just where the Ladd and Strong tract, the latest proposed park site, is located, the following will give an idea: It is bounded on the south by St. Johns avenue, on the west by James street, and adjoins the Holbrook Addition on the east; is one block from the North school and three blocks from Fessenden street.

Policeman G. A. Roberts has sold his residence at 210 West Richmond street to S. W. Reimer, formerly of the local fire department. Mr. Roberts and family now reside at 615 North Syracuse street.

As further evidence of what St. Johns soil will produce the garden of Mrs. Frank Lilly at 801 W. Charleston street is an excellent illustration. She has pole beans 14 feet 3 inches in height, beans in pod 13 inches long, sweet corn almost 7 feet high with silk and ear, and cucumbers 7 inches long and 9 inches in circumference. Admission tickets to the grounds at Columbia Beach may be secured from local members of the Knights of Pythias.

Reports from various sections of the state relative to the amount of cherries secured from one tree have appeared in the Portland press from time to time. But so far as noted St. Johns leads them all. An illustration of this is the product of one tree owned by A. J. Freum in North St. Johns. The tree is forty years old and six feet in circumference. This year it produced 1250 pounds of picked cherries for which Mr. Freum received thirteen cents per pound, or a total of $162.50. Besides this there was probably more than fifty pounds left on the tree. Certainly a valuable tree.

Why Are You Saving?

Are you planning to go into business for yourself some day?

Are you figuring on owning a home of your own?

Are you planning to send your boy or girl to college?

Listen: The man who saves aimlessly never saves much. But the one who sets his heart and mind on attaining something that can only be got by saving—that is the man who builds up a good bank account. He is not thinking about money, he is thinking about his heart's desire that only money can bring to him.

And another thing: Every banker knows that the best saver is the one who saves systematically—so much every week or month whatever happens.
