Music is a lot trickler to can than peaches or pears, remarks Farm and

When you play one of your phonograph records you have no idea how hard it may have been to get that melody "preserved." You are listening to the result of a lot of mighty hard work, which may have included considerable storming by the director and tears on the part of the artist. Some artists simply cannot sing for the records at all, while others are nervous wrecks for days after a session of re-

To sing into a recording horn may ook easy-just as it may look easy for a baseball player to hit a ball over the fence for a home run-but in reality it is one of the most difficult, nerve-racking things anyone can

On the concert stage a singer with good voice may make little mistakes without the audience noticing them. If he has an attractive presence and an engaging manner, he may a hit. But the wax master record is a relentless mirror, with no mercy for the imperfections that the average artist-like other human beings-is guilty of. The slightest waver or strain in the voice, the slightest deviation from the true pitch, comes out badly. And the very fear of making these mistakes and flaws "hoodoo" most singers into making them.

The result is that many a popular stage artist has met defeat in the WAR ON SCREW-WORM FLIES

Trape Have Proved Effective Methods of Getting Rid of Human and Animal Peste

The use of flytraps for catching screw-worm files is a new idea as a means of combating those abominable insects, and has already proved decidedly effective. They are a firstclass post in some parts of this country, and especially to southwest Texas. Oattle and other livestock suffer much from their attacks, their habit being to lay eggs in any sort of wound.

The larvae hatched from the eggs bore into the tissues, feeding upon them and doing most destructive mischief. When ready to transform into pupae, they come out, drop to the ground and bury themselves to await metamorphosis into flies. The screwworm files are typical meat files, and the carons of any dead animal quickly becomes a hatchery for them. Hence, in the region afflicted by them, it is very important that all carcasses shall be promptly destroyed, preferably by burning. Occasionally it happens that human beings are attacked. A fly crawls up the nostrils of a sleeping person and lays its eggs. The larvae hatched from them invade the sinuses, and death is likely to result. -Milwaukee Sentinel.

A flerce lawn battle between forces squirrels and robins has been observed in Mount Vernon, N. Y. The squirreis and robins on Eleventh avenue, Mount Vernon, have declared war upon each other, and each day the battles are wageing bigger and flercer. itesidents on Eleventh avenue have for some time thrown peanuts on their lawns for the squirrels and bread crusts for the birds of the neighborhood. Three weeks ago a few robins after eating the bread helped themselves to peanuts, and the squirrels ran away. The first day a few squirrels attacked the robins and there was a short but furtous fight in which the squirrels saved their suppers. The second day about twenty robins swooped down and the squirrels were routed. The third day the squirrels returned reinforced by an equal number and there was a battle royal for a quarter of an hour. It was a drawn battle, both sides leaving most of their peanuts and crusts on the field.

Light on the Depths. is said that at a depth of only 200 fathoms the light of the unclouded sun penetrating the ocean is reduced to equality with the starlight of a clear night on the surface. At more profound depths the sunlight is entirely extinguished. Yet there are both light and color in the abysses. and at the bottom of the sea. The light is of phosphorescent origin, and it may be remarked that in general the fixed marine forms of life are not behind their free swimming allies in light-emitting powers. There are illuminations produced by the movements of abyssal fishes through the forests of phosphorescent sea-pens, fan corals, red corals, and other Alcyonarts. The colors of deep-sea animals are both brilliant and varied.

Japan's Fight on Hydrophobia. The Japanese are inoculating dogs instead of people to prevent rables. which is now "widespread" in that country, says the New York Evening Post. The bacteriologist Umeno and his coworkers at the Kitasato Institute for infectious diseases have perfected a method of prophylactic inoculation that can be given the dogs in one or two shots. In all, 81,000 dogs have been treated and in not a single instance has any one of them been found suffering from rables. Instead of the usual methods of killing mad and stray dogs, the Japanese medical experts are advocating inoculation of all the dogs of Japan.

GHETTO'S GUNGA DHIN A TURK

Fex and Baggy Trousers Give New Yerk Drink Vender Potential Oriental Atmosphere.

Picturesque on hot days among upper East side peddlers is the Turkish lemonade vender, says New York Sun. He may be merely a native American in disguise, but he adds to the interest of what might otherwise be a commonplace occidental trade by going about garbed like a Turk such as children are familiar with through the pages of their geography books.

Across his back rests a tank as long as his body, and held up by a thick strap slung over his right shoulder and under his left arm. A sort of Sam Browne belt encircles his waist, except that where on the Sam Browne belt would be a place for bullets he has receptacles for glasses. You ask him for a glass of lemonade. He bows to you, and in so doing operates a mechanism which spills from the tank, through a bung hole near the bottom, some ice-cold lemonade, which falls into a glass he holds in his hand. As the liquid nears the top, he straightens up, hands you the glass, and you give him two cents. A more frequent spectacle is that of the individual who is continually crying: "Helser arbus, helser bubbas." He is declaiming, in Yiddish: "Hot peas, hot beans." His heating contrivance is in a four-wheeled cart he pushes by hand. For one cent he gives you a small bag, for two cents a larger bag, and for five cents he sells you enough to give you cramps. The presence of the "Helser arbus" man is a signal for the kids of the neighborhood to run to their mothers for pennies.

LUNG BATH SOMETHING NEW

Physician Recommends It as Highly Exhilarating, Though Admitting It Can Be Overdone.

"We are all taking sea baths now, said a doctor. "Lots of people take mud baths, too. Stomach baths are prescribed frequently for dyspeptics. But few of us take lung baths as we

"You can swab out your lungs as one swabs out a room. Pure air does it. You go out where the air is pure, throw your head well back; inhale through your nostrils as much of this pure air as your lungs will hold, and then expel it swiftly and forcibly. Do this 15 or 20 times-even oftener if you like. Astonishing how it will deanse your lungs! Astonishing how good it will make you feel!

"Air is a great stimulant, and some of these lung bathers overstimulate themselves, so that they get nervous, can't sleep at night and so on. They do this by such tricks as breathing the pure air in through one nostril only, taking too many lung baths and that sort of thing. Such over-indulgence is perhaps pardonable if you have a piece of hard mental work to do, but if it is made a habit of, it will break down the health like over-indulgence in cocaine or hootch or any other stimulant."-Detroit Free Press.

Audacious East Indian Bandit.

The death of a robber king, Zarshah Shinwari, in a private quarrel in his native willinge, has been reported from Simis, India. His most famous exploit was the robbery of the Culcutta mail, near Peshawar, in December, 1913, when, with a gang of thirty men, he killed the guard, driver, and fireman, and ransacked the mall-van, but falled to discover the cash chest. Not daring to return at once to the frontier, he hid in the fills near Attock. A cordon of troops, with police levies of every description, was drawn around him, but he evaded hem, and with consummate impudence kidnaped the Hindu station master of Khairbad only two days after the robbery of the mail. He retired to the Attock hills with his captive, whom he then, as a crowning piece of audacity, set on a donkey and marched at the dagger's point along the Grand Trunk road to Peshawar, across the golf links, under the noses of 3,000 troops, and across the border into the Afridi hills.

Sheep as Lawn Mowers. In Central park, New York, and in the parks of other cities, sheep are used in substitution for lawn mowers. These sheep are permitted to wander over the grass, in charge, of course. of a shepherd, and the nibbling of these creatures serves to keep the grass nicely trimmed. The cost of employing men to tend the sheep is not more than that of hiring men to run the mowers, and the pastoral effect of a flock of sheep grazing on the lawns is certainly more pleasing to city folk.

It has been demonstrated by expertence that sheep will maintain a lawn in first-class condition; and that the grass thus trimmed is as neat in appearance as any lawn over which the mechanical mower has passed.

Ancient Dye Too Costly. Tyrian purple, the most famous dye of antiquity, was so expensive that in Plans and Specifications furnished purple wool cost $240, which would make the dye itself worth about $5,000 a pound. In 1909 Professor Friedlan der gathered 12,000 of the sea snalls from which this ancient dye was made. and prepared a little of the coloring matter. His investigations showed it Cess Pool Brick and to be identical with a dye known to synthetic chemists, but not used on account of its inferiority to other synthetic dyes which are both cheap and common at the present day.

SAY NEW RELIGION SPREADS

Chinese Reported to Take to Mixture of Christianity, Taoism, Con-fucianism, and Buddhism.

It is reported that a new religion termed the "Tai-i-chiao" has been established among the Chinese people of the upper and middle classes and is rapidly gaining ground. Teachers of the new creed state that it is a religion comprised of Buddhism, Confucienism, Taoism and Roman Catholteism and other Christian beliefs. The god, which is the object of worship, is Tal-I-jen, a figure of imagination. St. Mary and the monk, San Tsang, who is said to have brought Buddhist scriptures to China from India in the Tang dynasty, are also wor shiped. The scriptures, which take the place of the Bible in Christianity, are the Book of Lao-tze.

This new religion is now prevalent throughout all provinces in China. It was propagated in Shantung by, it is said, a former premier, Chien Nenghsun, and he now has the following of many high and influential people. The believers hold three regular meetings a week, and go through ceremonles which require more than four hours for completion. In Peking, the religion is said to be gaining ground among the officials connected with the gov ernment. Apart from new religious reports have been coming from different places for some time of a revival of Buddhism, and not a little money is being spent in re-decorating temples and Images,-North China Her-
