

ST. JOHNS REVIEW

Lumber Conditions Bright

There has been no letting up in the demands for lumber products from the mills of the Northwest during the past week. The boom in buying that started in earnest more than a month ago has continued and the last report of the West Coast Lumbermen's association showed that production was one per cent above normal. Demands have exceeded production and the mills now have orders booked that will keep their wheels turning for a protracted period. Many mills are refusing to accept orders now on the grounds that they have all that they can possibly take care of for a long time. So insistent have been the buyers for immediate deliveries to meet building and construction requirements that the lumber mills find it impossible to replenish yard stocks. As soon as the lumber comes from the saws it finds demands that take it aboard cars for shipment to ports for exportation or to normal centers of trade. The Atlantic coast is now a great purchasing district. A building campaign seems to be in full swing. Southern mills find it impossible to supply the urgent demands and the mills of the Northwest are profiting as a result. With the revival of manufacturing there has been an increased demand for factory materials. Also there has been some demand for the common grades of lumber that go into crates and box materials. Some time ago there was very little demand for common grades of lumber. The agricultural districts and the manufacturing centers were not buying. Now there has come a better feeling among the farmers, prospects for good wheat prices are seemingly certain and building programs are being resumed. California still keeps up with its great lumber demands and each week large cargoes go by rail and boat to the markets of San Francisco and Los Angeles for distribution to other important points in the state.—Oregonian.

The St. Johns Chautauqua

The Chautauqua season of 1922 is an important one in the history of the Ellison-White Lyceum and Chautauqua Association, as it is the tenth anniversary of the establishing of their Chautauqua business in the west. To build a program which would fittingly celebrate this happy event was evidently in the mind of the Ellison-White management when the program for the coming season was arranged. The dates for the St. Johns Chautauqua have been definitely set for June 30th to July 6th.

Heading the lecture list is Opie Read, a prominent platformist whom the Ellison-White people have been trying for the past five years to secure for a tour of their Western Chautauqs. Opie Read is like no one else in the world. Perhaps you have enjoyed his books, been stirred by his plays, but unless you have sat within the sound of his voice and heard from his own lips the quaint tales that originate in his brain, you do not fully appreciate the splendid genius of the man.

The sixth night of the Chautauqua will be one of the most important of the entire series. On that night comes Dr. Elmer Lynn Williams, "fighting parson" of Chicago, in his famous lecture, "The Big Game." Boozlers, gamblers and dive keepers on Chicago's famous "north side" know and hate Dr. Elmer Lynn Williams. They hate him because he is one of the bitterest foes graft and corruption ever had. In his fight in clearing up vice and crime in Chicago's loop district, he was given the name of "fighting parson." Dr. Williams was formerly pastor of one of the largest churches in Chicago and comes to Chautauqua at the height of his oratorical power with a message that is vigorous and vital.

Other prominent names found in the list of lectures are: Norman Allan Imrie, who is described as a "perfect tornado of eloquence," using as his lecture subject, "Working Together for Billions," a masterly exposition of the Anglo Saxon problems of the age; Edna Eugenia Lowe, telling in an interesting way of some "Danger Signals on the Road to Health," and J. C. Herbsman, a brilliant, rapid fire lecturer, will discuss "Life's Balance Sheet."

Two entertainment features of the week will be the well known play, "Cappy Ricks," a dramatization of the "Cappy Ricks" stories which ran in the Saturday Evening Post and were read by millions, and an evening of magic with the Paul Fleming company, master magicians.

That the musical end of the program has not been slighted is evident with such musical organizations as the following on the list: Stearns-Hellekson Trio, Paton Brothers Trio, The Oceanic Quintet, Watteau Duo, Stone-Platt Company and the Gilvan Opera Company.

J. N. Edleson, president of the Peninsula National Bank, was speaker of the day before the Kiwanis Club at their Tuesday noon luncheon held in the Arcadia Garden of the Multnomah Hotel. His subject, "The Relationship of Foreign Conditions to Business," proved a very interesting topic and was the occasion for most favorable comment.

Death of Mr. Hunkins

Funeral services for John Dayton Hunkins, late of 729 South Jersey street, were held Saturday, May 20th, at Miller & Tracey's. Mr. Hunkins was born July 4th, 1857, in Belmont, New Hampshire, and came to this community, where he has since resided, in April, 1907. He was respected and esteemed by a large circle of friends, and greatly loved by those who knew him best and who appreciated most highly his uprightness of character and kindness of spirit. It is said of him by many: He never gave to any one an unkind word. Rev. H. H. Griffin, of the First Christian church of Portland, officiated at the funeral services. Professor G. R. Thomas sang "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Abide With Me." The floral tributes were of unusual beauty and abundance. Interment was made at Rose City Park cemetery. Mr. Hunkins leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, a daughter, Celia, who is a teacher at James John High School, a sister, Mrs. J. J. Story of Portland, and a brother, Charles E. Hunkins, of Lenoir, New Hampshire.

On May 29th the Knights and Ladies of Security will give a basket social in Moose Hall. Men will be requested to bring the baskets and the ladies their pocketbooks and their sporting spirit for they will bid upon the baskets. No limit set. All ye brothers come and prove that we can turn the tables around and all have an enjoyable time. adv

Trade at Home

When you buy merchandise there is great satisfaction in knowing that you have received good value for your money. But the satisfaction is greater when you know in advance that the value is going to be good. That is what happens when you trade at local stores, where the dealers have good reputations to maintain and where they do maintain them by selling only good goods at fair prices. When you buy from strangers you are very apt to receive mediocre value at the price of better. For your own protection buy where reputation counts—at home. There is an old saying that "Those who dance must pay the fiddler." The same thought applies to other things as well. For example, we have a homelike community which we all appreciate and enjoy. But what would happen to our pleasant community if we all stopped replenishing the fund out of which the expense of upkeep is taken? Our community would soon go to rack and ruin so that we should be ashamed to call it our own. When you want a thing in a hurry you rush to a local store and get it. But do you realize that the existence of our stores depends upon continued business? If every person in this community were to use the stores only for emergencies there would soon be no more places to satisfy those urgent needs. You should do your part toward keeping local business alive and in a constant state of betterment by doing all your trading at home. It will be profitable to you as well as to the entire community.
