

ST. JOHNS REVIEW

VOLUME 18 ST. JOHNS, PORTLAND, OREGON, FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1922. NUMBER 38

Having Quite An Outing

Port Orford, Oregon, July 20, 1922—Mr. A. W. Markle, Editor St. Johns Review—Dear Sir: I will write you a few items of our trip through Coos and Curry counties. As we went through Roseburg, Southern Oregon, we were nearly cooked, ready to serve, but when we got over the Divide we began to find it cooler. The valley through Myrtle Point is very beautiful as well as fertile. The Roseburg-Coos Bay Highway is very rough and narrow, and lots of construction work. When we reached Bandon Beach—oh, boy! we thought we had struck Greenland. My advice to our friends before starting on this journey to Bandon—put on all the wool underwear you have and Mackinaw coats and wool trousers, and tie your hat on with a clothes line if you expect to keep it. And be sure and shave, for if you don't, the wind will remove your whiskers for you. I have caught quite a lot of sea perch fish here, and at Mussell Creek caught quite a few big trout. We drove as far as Gold Beach, did not like it there and will go no further. We find the beaches in this country too cold and windy. There are too many bad detours and construction work in this country at the present time to make a vacation a pleasure. Curry county is wild and woolly. We saw the deer feeding in the meadows on the small ranches, signs up—no hunting or shooting, so I was contented just to watch them feeding, and drove on. The Mrs. has gotten such a beautiful complexion since coming here—all the same as Siwash, ha, ha! We are now at Port Orford, camped in the park, and we will soon beat it out of here and go to Tillamook where it is warmer. I wonder what is the matter with the moonshine hunters. I thought Oregon was a dry state. It is about as much dry here as the Atlantic Ocean, if you take a trip through Curry county. If they keep on with this new highway they are building it will have the world beat for a scenic drive—something different all the time in the way of nature. You go around rocky bluffs, under them through cliffs overlooking the ocean and beautiful mountain streams. It is certainly a rough country, but you don't need to be a speed fiend to drive in this country if you value your life worth anything.—J. B. Campbell.

Not Very Alluring

W. C. Walker has received the following concerning Guam from his son, Hazen G. Walker, who was stationed there for eighteen months:
Guam is a mass of trouble gathered on the western horizon of civilization. It is bounded on the north by rocks of destruction, on the west by typhoons and smugglers, on the south by earthquakes and on the east by fond recollections of the past. The climate is a combination of electrical changes and is especially adapted to the raising of "Bamboo Canes." The soil is very fertile and produces large crops of treachery and corruption. The beast of burden is the faithful caribou. On a three mile hike only ten days' rations need be taken. The principal exports are rice, tobacco, hemp, copra, war bulletins and slant-eyed students. The chief imports are iodine, quinine, beer, whiskey, arms and ammunition. The native towns are an aggregation of palm shacks, filth, dogs, cats, prize chickens, pigs, lizards and natives and all other inhabitants live on terms of equality. Last but not least there is the native drink, "Aguadiente" which is a conglomeration of thunder, lightning, barb wire, fermented brickle points, powder and brimstone. One drink is a stagger, two a tumble, three a fall and four is sure death—enough said. Guam, Guam, beautiful Guam. Land of breadfruit, banana and palm; Home of Fandangoes, typhoons and quakes, And plenty of other things that give you the shakes. Land of centipedes, scorpions and sharks, Cock roaches so big we mistake them for larks, Mosquitos so small that we can't keep them out, Rains most of the time so we can't go out. Nothing to eat and nothing to wear, No place to go, so I stay at home and swear; Hades can't be worse than this Island of Guam; Though I'm boiling inside I try to keep calm.

Will Hold Picnic

Extensive preparations are being made by the Ancient Order of Hibernians and Ladies' Auxiliary for their fifth annual river excursion which this year will be held July 30th on the boat Swan. Leaving the east side approach of Morrison street bridge at ten o'clock Sunday morning the boat will stop at St. Johns for passengers and will then proceed down the river, stopping off at one of the beauty spots along the Columbia river for a program of athletic sports. During the trip a four piece orchestra will dispense music for dancing which will be enjoyed by all. A feature of this year's outing will be an exhibition of old Irish dancing and the contest for the best Gaelic dancer on the boat. Indications are that the championship is eagerly sought as already a number have registered. Among the steppers are Miss Helen Farrell who will dance the Irish jig and horn pipe; the ancient four-hand reel and Walls of Limerick will be given by a large Gaelic class and the Misses Heade will dance a three hand reel. Competent judges will render the decision and prizes will be awarded by the Hibernians for the best stepper. Preparations are being

Having Interesting Trip

Mrs. Myrtle A. Weeks in writing from Montreal, under date of July 13th, says: "This seems a long way from home, but I am starting on my homeward journey tonight, though I shall not arrive in St. Johns before Sept. 5th. I have seen so much of historic interest at Pittsburg, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Boston, Salem, Plymouth and New York that I am wondering if I can retain a small fraction of it. I surely feel it is invaluable to me in teaching history. I have met so many congenial people today on the sight seeing car I met two very interesting women. One sails tomorrow for England. We have had such a pleasant day together; have been up to Mount Royal Park where we had a wonderful view of the city and the St. Lawrence."

Is Being Reconstructed

Complete reconstruction of the Empire office, with which subscribers in the St. Johns district are connected, will be made by late Fall when the new six-digit method of operation is placed in operation by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company. The total cost of the changes to be made in the St. Johns district will be $50,000, according to estimates of telephone engineers. A total of 25 employees are at work in the Empire office and will continue on duty until all of the changes are complete. Operation in the Empire office will be different from that maintained in any other office in the city. All incoming calls will be handled with machine switching equipment. In this way subscribers in other office districts will be able to call St. Johns people direct, either through dialing on machine switching telephones or through the present form of calling from manual telephones. Through the installation of special equipment transmission service has been improved from the St. Johns section to other parts of the city. Still further improvements of transmission will be made during the next few weeks.

THINK IT OVER

Every intending purchaser should realize that a good furnace that is low priced in first cost and economical in fuel consumption is meeting the argument at both ends. We know that if you once try a "Sibleco" furnace you will be a good booster if you will compare our prices, our furnaces and our services with others. Alex. S. Seales Agent, Empire 1225.
