The REVIEW is entered at post office in Portland, Oregon, as mail matter of the second class under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Every day is a fresh beginning,
Every morn is the world made new;
You who are weary of sorrow and sinning,
Here is beautiful hope for you,
A hope for me, and a hope for you.

The Community church is trying to show the community spirit in letting all their members help. You never know your talents until you try it out. Last Sunday was another splendid day. Mr. Stadelman is giving us some fine talks in the morning and Mr. Gordon gave a very fine address to the young people in the evening. A goodly number of young people and children were there to enjoy it. The choir of young people gave two special selections, and the congregational singing was an inspiration to all. Next Sunday morning Mr. Stadelman will have charge of the service and the C. E. Society will have full charge of the evening service. They are planning some special music, and George Gordon and Hugh Whisler will deliver the addresses of the evening. Mr. Whisler is a St. Johns boy and also a student at Stanford University at Berkeley, Cal. All the young people of the town not attending elsewhere are invited to come.—Reported.

The Farmer sells a load of wheat, And the bells ring far and sweet, He hums a couple cheerful tunes, And pays the Grocer for his prunes.

The Grocer who has had the blues Now buys his wife a pair of shoes That ten the Shoeman thinks God-sent, And runs and pays it on the rent. Next day the Rent Man hands the bill To Doctor Carver for a pill. And Doctor Carver tells his Frau That business is improving now, And cheers her up and says: "My dear, You've been quite feeble for a year, I'm thinking you should have a rest, You'd better take a trip out West."

And in a couple of days the Frau Is on the farm of Joshua Howe, She pays her board to Farmer Howe, Who takes the bill and says, "I vow, Here's something that just can't be beat, This bill's the one I got for wheat." He hums a couple of cheerful tunes, And goes and buys a lot more prunes. Sunnyside Gazette.

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world. I have destroyed more forest wealth than all the wars of the world. I spare few trees, and I find my victims among young forests and old, the tall and the lowly; deer, birds, and the timid wild creatures of the Forest fear me. I loom up to such proportions that I cast my pall across the sun, hiding the glorious mountain peaks for days and days. I send up in billowing smoke thousands upon thousands of future homes in one brief hot summer. I lurk in unseen places in the Forest, avoiding the watchful eye of the forest patrol and fire lookout. I laugh at the forest rangers in red glee as the little flames, children of mine, race through the tall tree tops. You are warned against me, but you heed not. I am relentless, I am everywhere, in the forest, in the camp fire, at the saw mill, with the fisherman and tourist; the incendiary is my friend. I bring waste and blackness to the green mountain side, floods to the cool, clear streams; I dry up the little bubbling springs; I clear out the fish and drive away all wild life; I turn a cool forest camp into a desert waste. I bring ruin, disaster and death to prosperous towns, to counties and states. I rob children of schools and pile up taxes on the shoulders of their parents. I destroy, consume, shrivel up and wipe utterly away the forest wealth, leaving nothing but white ashes and the skeletons of trees. I am the worst enemy of present and future prosperity in the Northwest. I am FIRE IN THE FOREST!
